EXCURSION TO ELY.

Weber Club Arranging Outing for Ogden Business Men.

Ogden, Aug. 29.-There was a wel attended meeting last evening of the memzers of the Weber club at their parlors, for the purposes of discussing the advisability of the club and its friends arranging a "get acquainted" trip to Ely, Nev., and the proposition met with unanimous approval from those present, and it was decided to have such an excursion sometime next month. A committee of the club had already consulted the Southern Pacific company as to rates, who offered the unusually low rate of $10.50 fo. the round trip, providing 100 or more pas-sengers buy tickets. This will be an exclusive Ogden excursion, and will no doubt be taken advantage of by a large crowd who are interested in visit-ing the little town that is growing very fast and offers great opportunities for all kinds of buyiness, especially in mining, Several Ogdenites have already gone to Ely and opened up business, and are doing well, and it is believed that these "get acquainted" outings do much good to the city. The exact date of the outing will be announced later when it is determined by the railroad company just when its branch line to Ely will be completed. It is the intention to leave Ogden one evening, arriving at Ely the next morning, spend one day there and arrive home by the fellowing morning. It was also reported at the meeting that the committee appointed by the club to solicit aid from the merchants in raising $1,000 to defray the expenses of arranging the Weber county fruit exhibit, to be sent tomorrow to the National Irrigation congress at Boise, Ida. had been successful in raising more than the amount necessary in less than two days

Sometimes they roll down in great masses, filling the gorge with gloom; sometimes they hang above, from wall to wall, and cover the canyon with a roof of impending storm; and w can peer long distances up and down this canyon corridor, with its cloud roof overhead, its walls of black gran-ite, and its river bright with the sheen of broken waters. Then a gust of wind sweeps down a side gulch, and, making rift in the clouds, reveals the blu heavens, and a stream of sunlight pours Then the clouds drift away the distance, and hang around crags and peaks, and pinnacles, and towers and walls, and cover them with a man-tle, that lifts from time to time and sets them all in sharp relief. J. M. Feiherolf of the forest nursery at Wasatch station, and Paul G. Red-ington, expert timberman, arrived in Provo yesterday to attend the forest supervisors' convention. S. N. Spring, inspector of co-operative work in forest extension, is here to confer with the supervisors in regard to waterworks and establishing small nurseries at the headquarters of the ranges to be cared for by them. Half dozen such nurseries have been ca-ablished. The largest is at Halsey, tablished. Neb., with 3.3 acres in seed beds and one acre in transplants. California has two, New Mexico and Utah each one the latter being located on the Salt Lake reserve. This station has a ca-Lake reserve. This station has a ca-pacity of 1,500,000 plants a year on .7 of ap acre. J. W. Fetherolf is in charge this station.

The water sheds are bing carefully studied, with a view to establishing nurseries and planting trees, for the purpose of restoring the forests and improving the water-conserving con-ditions, and for this reason special attention is being first given to water sheds which furnish waters to town and cities.

Mr. Fetherolf reports that the water sheds at the headwaters of the Bear. Provo and Weber rivers have been denuded of timber by forest fires of twenty years ago, and nurseries to re-store the forests there will be estab-lished as soon as possible. The points considered most favorable for this purpose are: The south fork of Prove river, in Provo canyon, between Boulder creek and Shingle creek; Beaver creek, about seven miles east of Ka-mas, and Hayden's fork of the Bear river.
