LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

NEW YORK, April 24. Frest. John Taylor:

The Nevada company, in charge of Elder John Donaldson, arrived to-day, and will leave to morrow. All well. Jas. H. Hart.

Theft.-We understand that on Sunday night a resident of the 21st Ward was robbed of a purse and nine dollars by a person who entered his premises in his absence. The party who look the money was discovered, tut we understand that no complaint has been entered at police quarters against him.

standing the apparent predilection in this section for articles of foreign production, there is one branch of importation that has not yet been inaugurated. In some parts of America, notably Canada, houses are built in sections and shipped on flat cars to other parts. The parts are substantially built, and arriving upon their destination a few hours' work puts them together, and the oak pins with which the sections are joined are easily driven. In one and a half days a dwelling 18 x 20, with kitched 12 x 15 attached, can be put in readiness for occupation.

Obsequies.—The services over the remains of Elder Joseph L. Barfoot were held in the 21st Ward meeting house to-day, conducted by Bishop's Counselor H. J. Folger. The house was filled with the relatives and other animals. It now turns out friends of the deceased. The open-ing prayer was offered by Elder John Tuddenham, and addre eulogistic of the respected dead and comforting to the relatives of Brother Barfoot, were delivered by Elder George Raynolds, Bishop Thomas Taylor, Elders J. Tuddens ham, H. J. Foulger, Junius F. Wells, John Nichotson, H. W. Naisbitt, G orge Bywater, and Preeldent A. M. Canuon, The benediction was pronounced by Counselor Joseph E. Taylor.

The singing exercises were conducted by the ward cheir.

The circle formed around the moon due west, but as the moon descend-ed to the horizon the circle appeared to remain stationary, so that the remarkable line running horizontal-ly from north to south of the circle, and which was formed by the luminous substance of the circle west of the moon, at 9 p.m., was seen east of the orb at 10, when the circle appeared as a bow in the heavens, and so continued for a brief period, entirely distinct from the moon.

When first observed at 8.30, the circle formed a very large ring around the moon, and five large stars. These had sunk below the circle, after it had formed the bow at 10 o'clock, when the bow shortly before 11, disappeared. The bow was bent due east.
