

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

A number of brilliant events have enlivened the week—the usual quota of smaller affairs such as dinners, luncheons, etc., being noticeably lacking. Wednesday, the dancing party given by Messrs. and Mesdames Perry, the functions given by Mrs. F. B. Stephens and Mrs. E. L. Carpenter having been notable events of the season.

There will probably be no event of the season more elaborate than the dancing party given at Christensen's by Mr. and Mrs. Montague Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perry on Tuesday night. An almost magical transformation was wrought in the hall by the artistic use of rugs, draperies, palms and flowers, the south end in front of the platform being converted into a drawing room carpeted with rugs and filled with sofas, easy chairs and floral decorations, and the body of the hall reserved for dancing was decorated with prettily draped flags and groups of palms, while the platform also embowered with palms and plants and hung with Oriental draperies, formed a huge cozy corner in which various artistic effects were formed with charmingly arranged sofas, chairs, etc., the home appearance being increased by the groups of pictures which adorned the walls. The reception room in which refreshments were served was decorated in shades of cream and rose, the large table in the center spread with Battenberg and Mexican drawn work, having a centerpiece of carnations and ferns and candelabra shaded in cream. Smaller tables draped with crepe and lit with candelabra shaded in the same color were placed about the room, and the chandelier had shades of rose color. Carnations and smilax entwined the mirror and a basket of roses and ferns sat at the base.

The arrangement throughout was distinctly artistic and the social part of the affair was in strict keeping with the charming surroundings. The music was a most delightful feature of the affair, the refreshments dainty and most delectable, all details combining to make the occasion a notable one. Nearly 250 guests enjoyed the hospitality of the hosts and hostesses.

Mrs. Frank B. Stephens and Mrs. E. L. Carpenter were hostesses at three delightful afternoon functions during the week. The events took place at the home of Mrs. Stephens on Thirteenth East street, the first two being in the form of card parties, and the third a Kensington.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with palms, carnations and a profusion of chrysanthemums, jardinières and vases of flowers brightening mantels, niches and window-sills, and the mantels having a network of smilax entwining the woodwork.

The star-case leading from the reception hall was studded with palms and flowers in each available niche, the whole making a charming picture.

The card parties were on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, the tables and score cards which were similar at each entertainment, being amongst the most artistic and beautiful of the season. They were reproductions of famous paintings in black and white, beautifully gotten up with mounting of circular design, the pictures including heads of the Madonnas and cherubs of the old masters with other classic reproductions—altogether with well known poets and authors. The prizes were larger pictures of like choice subjects, the winners being—first prize, Mrs. R. H. Officer, second, Mrs. F. B. Stephens, third, Mrs. E. L. Carpenter. At Thursday's party the prize winners in the same order were Mrs. L. L. Archer, Mrs. Ida Tuttle and Mrs. Markland.

This afternoon Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Carpenter gave a Kensington, a feature of which was an unique guessing contest. Refreshments were served in the pretty billiard room in the basement, the room being beautifully decorated with flowers and palms, and small daintily spread tables from which tea was served.

Among the prettiest weddings of the week was that of Miss Helen Patricia Ireland, daughter of Miss Agnes Ireland and Henry G. Godwin of the Oregon Short Line office, on Wednesday evening.

The event took place at the Vev hotel, the ceremony being performed at 7:30 p. m., by Rev. Ellis Bishop. The reception room in which the bride and groom stood was beautifully decorated with palms, plants and cut flowers, the bride couple standing under a canopy of green, from which was suspended an array of roses and carnations. The entire parlor floor was thrown open and made brilliant with oleanders and other flowering plants, the guitar and mandolin orchestra being stationed behind a screen of palms and flowers. The dining room was bright with palms and flowers, the two tables being prettily adorned with La France roses and carnations. The bride wore a beautiful gown of cream duchesse satin, with trimmings of lace and carried a large bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Florence Dow, wore a white organdie. Mr. Fred Kneckerbecker acted as best man. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Zane and Mrs. Dow. In the dining room were Messrs. McMillan, Leta McMillan, Miller, Schoppe, Trent, Colbath, Miss Zane served punch and Miss Mary Sherman and Miss Elizabeth Niles distributed the tiny boxes of wedding cake. Many valuable presents were received by the couple, amongst them a check for $100 from the bride's mother and a complete set of silver from the Bachelor's club. About 150 guests enjoyed the delightful affair.

The marriage of Miss Jane L. Blewett, daughter of Mrs. Louise Hawden, and P. M. Samuelson, superintendent of the De Lamar syndicate department, took place on Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's mother, Miss Nellie Blewett, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and C. D. Samuelson acted as best man. The bride party stood in the bay window which was transformed into a lower with evergreens and flowers. Rev. Benjamin J. Daniell of De La Mar, Nev., performed the ceremony, which was followed by a delicious wedding supper. Amongst the many presents received by the bride and groom was a set of silver from the De La Mar employees. Mr. and Mrs. Samuelson will make their home at De La Mar.

On Tuesday evening Miss Mary Bryson and Arthur E. Graham of this city were married, the ceremony being performed

MRS. MARILLA DANIELS.

Mrs. Marilla J. M. Daniels was born Oct. 12th, 1830, in Haddam, Middlesex Co., Conn. Her parents, Aaron Johnson and Zerviah Kelsey, were among the early settlers of New England. The Kelseys came from England in 1629, and many of her ancestors fought for their liberty in the Revolutionary War. Mrs. Daniels has been a pioneer since early childhood, and has suffered many hardships incident to a frontier life. In the spring of 1856 her parents joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The following year, she, with her parents, left their home to gather with the Church at Kirtland, Ohio, and in 1858, moved to Far West, Missouri, and remained there until March, 1859, when the whole Church were compelled to leave the State. They stopped at Quincy, Ill., some six weeks, while the authorities purchased land, fifty miles above Quincy, on the banks of the Mississippi, at a place called Commerce, but afterwards changed to Nauvoo. Here she was married to William Miller, and remained there until the spring of 1846, when the first great exodus of the Church commenced. She, in company with her husband, crossed the plains and arrived in the valley of the Great Salt Lake in September, 1849, driving their ox team herself, as Mr. Miller was captain of the company. The following September, they continued their journey to Utah county, and founded the present city of Springville, where they resided until 1860, when her husband was called to reside over Utah Stake, and they moved to Provo, where her husband died on Aug. 7th, 1874. Several years after, she married James E. Daniels. Mrs. Daniels has always been a public worker. Before suffrage was granted to women, she acted as vice president of the association of Utah county, and was elected delegate to the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association, held at Atlanta, Ga., from Jan. 31st to Feb. 5th, 1895. From there she attended the second triennial session of the National Council of Women of the United States, held in Washington, D. C., where she read a paper, entitled "The Sixth Sense" written by Sarah M. Kimball. In 1884 she was chosen first vice president of the Utah County Relief Society, which position she now holds. In 1892 she was appointed president of the Utah County World's Fair commission, and worked assiduously for six months to make a success of the exhibits at the Fair. She acted as president of the Primary Association of Provo First ward for ten years, has been a teacher in the Sunday school for twenty years, and in 1897 was duly licensed as instructor in the religion classes of Provo.

at the home of the bride's parents, 457 east, Second South street. The rooms were prettily decorated and the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present to present good wishes for their future welfare.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Steedman, a mandolin and guitar orchestra playing the Leichenchor march during the entrance of the bride and groom, and the marriage service. The bride was prettily gowned in white and carried a large bouquet. She had no attendants. Both bride and groom are popularly known here and have the congratulations of many friends.

Another pretty wedding of Tuesday was that of Miss Anna Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller of Mount Nebo, and Frank Snedden of Silver City. The event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rivers, the latter being the sister of the groom. Rev. Alfred H. Henry performed the ceremony, which was followed by an elaborate wedding supper, the family and intimate friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Snedden left on Wednesday for Silver City, where they will reside.

Mrs. Julia Taylor entertained at a card party on Monday evening, about thirty guests being present. The prizes in the contest were won by Miss Lennie Savage and Dr. Stanley Clawson. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dinwoodie, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clawson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. James Moyle, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Pryor, Mr. and Mrs. W. Young, Miss Lennie Savage, Miss Mary Teasdale.

The ball to be given Tuesday evening, Nov. 27, by the Jewish Ladies' Benevolent society promises to be a most elaborate event. The ball will take place in the Salt Lake Theater, and plans are being made to have the affair a distinct success. Walker Bros. will have charge of the decorations, and Christensen's will furnish the orchestra, which will be enlarged for the occasion.

Miss Rachel M. Pringle and Mr. Arley F. Savage were married last Tuesday afternoon. Judge Hatch performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pringle of the Twentieth ward. Mr. Savage is a son of Mr. C. R. Savage, and is a prominent young business man of this city. He is connected with the National Bank of the Republic.

OGDEN SOCIAL NEWS.

Ogden, Nov. 24.—An event which will rank amongst the leading and most elaborate social affairs of the year took place Wednesday, November 21st, when Miss Sara A. Scowcroft and George W. McCune were united in marriage at the Salt Lake Temple, Apostle George Teasdale officiating. After the ceremony the contracting parties, accompanied by their parents, were escorted to the Gardo House, the home of Hon. A. W. McCune, uncle of the groom, where a very sumptuous menu had been prepared, and the afternoon was delightfully spent. In the evening the wedding party came to Ogden, where 7:30 train and were driven to the Lancheater House, the beautiful home of the bride's parents on Twenty-sixth street, where all was splendor and joy.

The wedding party was welcomed by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and was escorted to the parlors, where a short time was spent in congratulations and chat, after which all repaired to the dining room, where an elaborate wedding repast was served. The house was beautifully decorated—the parlors with potted tropical plants, palms, banana trees and delicate ferns, all arranged in a very artistic style. The dining room was festooned with a cut glass bowl, filled with the choicest white and yellow chrysanthemums, and roses, and the mantel was banked in sweet scented flowers. Around the room were burlap, and potted plants, the hall was prettily decorated with palms, all making a most exquisite effect.

The bride is one of Ogden's beautiful and talented young ladies. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scowcroft. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. McCune, of Nephi, Utah. He has been in the employ of Scowcroft & Son's Co. for several years, and was recently made assistant business manager.

The gown worn by the bride was beautiful and becoming. It was of white silk organdie over white tulle, trimmed with duchesse lace and silk bouffants. The skirt was made after the Randolph style, the train, and the waist was handsomely gotten up in Bolero style to be worn with satin belt, and the bride carried La France roses. The traveling dress was a blue velvet cloth, trimmed with stitched satin bands, and the Russian blouse was trimmed with cream satin and ecru lace bands finished off with gold braid, with tulle to match dress.

Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. McCune left for New York and a tour of the East on a wedding trip, to be absent about a month, expecting to return home just before Christmas. They will make their home in Ogden. They received many very beautiful and costly presents.

Mrs. L. I. Reynolds gave two delightful card parties at her home, No. 462, 24th street, on Saturday, and Wednesday afternoon. Over one hundred many of her lady friends. The prizes at the first party was won by Mrs. L. Mattson, and by Miss Stone at the second. After cards, a delicious luncheon was served, and a most enjoyable time was had by all who participated.

Mrs. W. H. Chevers entertained Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Houss of San Francisco.

The home of Mrs. Fred J. Kiesel was the scene of a very enjoyable party, given Wednesday afternoon. Cards were indulged in, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. J. S. Lewis gave a very pretty afternoon tea to a number of her lady friends Friday.

Miss Stone of Chicago is visiting with Mrs. Dr. Perkins.

Mrs. McLaughlin of Park City is visiting in Ogden, the guest of Mrs. E. M. Allison Jr.

THE MILITARY WAIST.

The model is one of the most successful of the season, and more becoming perhaps than any other. It is made up in any fashionable color of the new high finished flannels, and trimmed with wide white Hercules braid, gold buttons and narrow gold braid. Note the smart effect of the military epaulettes.

Bathbone Sisters Friday afternoon at her home on Thirty-first street.

Thomas W. Trott, who has been visiting with his sister, Mrs. G. W. Larkin, Jr., has returned to his home at Dillon, Montana.

Joseph Scowcroft left for New York, Thursday morning, to be absent about a month purchasing goods for Scowcroft & Sons Co.

Mrs. John Pawlas, entertained at cards Thursday afternoon.

Monday evening the public library directors will receive their friends at the Columbia club rooms, there will be cards, music and light refreshments served, everybody invited and a good time assured.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve dinner on Thanksgiving day.

The Columbia club gave its inaugural ball Thursday evening at Christensen's, and the event fairly eclipsed even the former successes of that greatly celebrated social organization. No detail was overlooked to make the affair as nearly perfect as could be. The ball was tastefully decorated, the club colors, red, white and blue, forming the groundwork. Over the center of the west archway was hung a magnificent large silk flag, while a bronze eagle occupied a prominent place and about the walls were numerous silk flags. The center poles were twined with red, white and blue ribbons. Over 100 couples were in attendance, Wyoming, Nevada and Idaho being represented among the guests.

Owing to a change of time on the Oregon Short Line, Gov. Wells missed the train, and telephoned his regrets. Christensen's orchestra of nine pieces rendered music, including the famous Columbia Club Two-step.

While not an ultra fashionable affair, still some of the costumes were the handsomest ever seen in the city, and the throng of moving dancers precluded any long to be remembered in the annals of Ogden society.

PROVO SOCIAL NEWS.

Mrs. Susa Y. Gates visited the capital Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The class of 1903, Brigham Young academy, is preparing to give a grand Thanksgiving ball, Wednesday evening, November 28th.

Rev. and Mrs. G. A. W. Cagle gave a social on Monday evening, at the residence of Mrs. R. S. Hines which was attended by a large number of their friends. The evening was passed in a very pleasant manner, with music, song and games. Delicious refreshments were served.

The Utah Sorosis met in regular session Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of the president Miss Beulah Bachman, vice president, presided. The first paper on the program, presented by Mrs. Cardella Beck, was "The Highest Aim of Woman." The position taken and ably sustained in the treatment of the question was that it is first in the home, the reformatory processes begin, and from there are carried into life's wide arena. After reading of the minutes Miss Allee Reynolds gave a scholarly review of Shakespeare's King John. The magazine review, by Mrs. Nettie B. King, was given from the "Club Woman," briefly showing the progressive work of eastern clubs. The club adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Florence Speckart at the Hotel Roberts on December 5th.

The Card club was most charmingly entertained by Mrs. Sam Schwab, Wednesday evening. Song, music and readings caused the evening to pass in a delightful manner. In the "63" game Mrs. Leon Bachman was the winner of then ladies' prize, and Mr. Grant C. Bagley secured the gentlemen's prize. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames W. D. Roberts, Jr., D. H. Lund delighted the audience with a vocal selection and as an encore sang (by special request) "Ben Holt." Hon. W. H. King was the speaker of the evening, his subject being "Possibilities of Youth." Industrial activity was named as one of the greatest ideals that could be placed before the youth, and the encouragement of the ideal labor of any kind is dishonorable was strongly condemned. Neither should the young be trained to think that obtaining wealth is the chief aim of their efforts, but should be encouraged to help one another and work for the uplifting of the masses of the people and for the abolishing of sin and crime. The lecture was delivered in the usual eloquent manner characteristic of Judge King and was interesting throughout and highly appreciated. The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, November 28th. Dr. Brimhall will speak, taking for his subject, "The Christian Child."

The Nineteenth Century club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Sam Schwab. An interesting and able paper on "The Catherine," by Mrs. Rose Searle, was served by Mrs. Stewart.
