SOCIAL CHAT

The event of yesterday was the annual breakfast of the Ladies' Literary club at the Manitou, the dining hall being beautifully decorated in the club colors and a program of toasts being given as follows: "First Aid to the Topic Givers," Mrs. Howard S. Stowe; "Club Reminiscences," Miss Rove; "Our Friend the Critic," Mrs. W. H. Bantz; "The Goal of the Club Work," Mrs. Clesson S. Kinney; "Honorable Points of Ignorance," Mrs. C. E. Allen; "Club Friendship," Mrs. A. H. Rosrud; "How to be a Happy Thousa Club Member," Miss Jessup. Mrs. W. F. Adams acted as toast mistress.

Many affairs suggestive of valentine's day have been given during the week, several of the being specially dedicated to the lover's saint, and the rest having details done in the prevailing idea.

One of the largest valentine events was the dancing party given by the members of the younger set at the Ladies' Literary club last night. The reception room, hall and dining room were festooned with red hearts, and everywhere the valentine idea was lavishly and artistically carried out. The festoons of hearts hung from the chandelier to the four corners, the wall of them screening the orchestra and the profusion elsewhere used made the scene like fairyland. The programs also were adorned with hearts. About 100 were present and the chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Van Cott, Mr. and Mrs. H. Horlick, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sands, Mrs. R. H. Cassidy and Mrs. J. H. Hoyt. The hosts of the evening were Mrs. Cassidy, Harold Horlick, Terrell Hoyt, Marre Van Cott and Russell Sands.

The third year students of the U. of U. gave a large dancing party in Museum hall last night. The decorations being beautifully carried out in red and white and the affair altogether delightful, the patrons were President and Mrs. Joseph T. Kingsbury, Dean and Mrs. Byron Cummings, Prof. and Mrs. George Marshall, Coach and Mrs. J. H. Maddock and Prof. L. E. Young.

Smith, Maj. Bishop, Capt. and Mrs. John E. Woodward, Maj. Haam, Miss Katherine Judge, Capt. and Mrs. A. S. Brookes, Capt. Howland and Capt. Pritchard.

Mrs. William Iseheart and Mrs. Joel Priest gave two delightful teas this week the first on Tuesday and the second on Thursday. The rooms were bright with spring flowers, jonquils and daffodils being used in parlors and pink carnations with pink

QUEEN WILHELMINA and her CONSORT.

QUEEN OF HOLLAND MAY SURRENDER CROWN.

To the pathetic story of the beautiful young queen of Holland has been recently added a new chapter. Fate seems to have conspired to work her unhappiness and it is believed now that she may abdicate her throne in order to save her country from falling into the clutches of the German kaiser. Holland has looked forward ever since the marriage of its young sovereign with a German prince to the birth of an heir to the throne but more than one disappointment has brought Wilhelmina's ministers to a realization of the crisis which the country faces and her abdication and the promulgation of an amended constitution are now seriously considered. Holland greatly fears absorption by Germany and in the event of no heir being born to Queen Wilhelmina the crown, by the present constitution, would descend to the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar or, in the event of his declination, to Princess Marie of Reuss. Both of these are objectionable and the states general will probably revise the constitution to exclude all German heirs in the event of the abdication of the present sovereign. If an heir should be born to Wilhelmina following her surrender of the crown and the naming of a successor by the Dutch parliament, the matter would be still more complicated, therefore it is probable that with the abdication such an heir would be also excluded by a constitutional revision. Only by the adoption of such heroic measures does Holland hope to continue her national autonomy.

tulle in the dining room, the centerpiece being suggestive of valentine day with its cupid and hearts. A number of friends assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Utter were guests of honor at a delightful evening party on Tuesday given by the members of the O. E. S. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pence.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher entertained informally at dinner yesterday in honor of Capt. Hunter.

Miss Mildred Ott will be guest of honor at a theater party on Saturday to be given by Mrs. Campbell.

One of the largest affairs of the week was the colonial ball given on Monday night by Mrs. L. H. Lewis, Mrs. L. M. Bailey and Mrs. R. C. Woodruff at the Ladies' Literary club, the hostesses and a number of others being in colonial costume. The hall being decorated in the national colors, bunting and flags being everywhere, while the platform was banked with palms the dining room done in blue and gold, the table having a centerpiece of daffodils with cut crystals strewn over the board, while candles in yellow shades were at the corners. The programs were suggestive of valentine being in heart shape and in the red white and blue. About 75 guests were present.

Mrs. Grant Hampton was hostess at a charming luncheon on Monday at the University club, the decorations being in daffodils with maidenhair fern. The centerpiece was a large cut glass filled with the daffodils, while large hearts of the same flower were at each side and tied with yellow ribbon. Yellow candles lighted the board, and the place cards were valentines. The guests who enjoyed the affair were Mrs. J. B. Walker, Mrs. James L. Franken, Mrs. George L. Nye of Denver, Mrs. Sam Park, Miss Margaret Park, Mrs. G. B. Pratt, Miss Harriet, Mrs. Charles Post, Miss Genevieve McGonigle, Mrs. O. W. Powers, Mrs. J. M. LINCOLN'S GRANDCHILD SUED FOR DIVORCE.

Warren Beckwith has filed suit for divorce in Chicago against his wife, who was Jessie Lincoln, a daughter of Robert T. Lincoln and a granddaughter of the great war president. This is the last act in a drama which began when Jessie Lincoln, who had captivated Washington and London society, met, in the fall of 1896, Warren Beckwith, who was then a star football player on the Iowa Wesleyan team at Mount Pleasant, whither she had gone on a visit to her maternal grandfather, Justice Harlan. Parental consent to their marriage was denied but in the spring of 1897 the couple met by appointment in Chicago and eloped to Mount Pleasant, where they were married. For a long time Mr. Lincoln refused to see or hear from his daughter. For the past seven years the couple have been separated and Mr. Beckwith charges desertion. Mrs. Beckwith is at present sojourning in Atlanta, Ga.

RIBBON-TRIMMED FROCK OF COLEEN POPLIN.

This dainty frock of rose-colored coleen poplin is one of the prettiest of mid-winter costumes to be developed at moderate expense. The skirt is a plain, well-cut circular model of touch length, trimmed above the hem with three rows of deep rose-colored velvet ribbons of varying widths. The bodice is of cream lace made over a lining of rose-colored orkeda silk, draped with the same color tulle. The short sleeves have their cuffs prettily finished with a band of velvet. The most attractive feature of the costume, however, is the new shaped belt of the poplin edged with velvet and equipped with sleeve caps and coat tails back and front, which, with the broadened shoulder line, tend greatly to diminish the size of the waist.
