

ATTY. BAILEY PANEGYRIST

Creates a Sensation in Sullivan
Trial by His Address To Jury.

UNUSUAL FLIGHT INCOURT.

Paints the Accused Murderer in Pure
Colors With a Monster Brush of Peculiar Oration.

If Joe Sullivan goes to the gallows, it will at least be with the recollection of a fulsome panegyrist of himself, uttered by his attorney, J. H. Bailey, Jr., as was ever pronounced upon any man, accused or not. For an hour and three quarters yesterday afternoon, Mr. Bailey poured out an impassioned, disconnected appeal to the jury, many times to individuals in the jury box, to release Joe Sullivan from a fate for a crime which, declared the attorney, Sullivan was no more guilty than he was. With a great deal more earnestness than judgment, Bailey picked out William N. Davis, one of the jurors, and addressed him personally, reminding him of the times when they preached the gospel together in England, and declaring with his face aflame, that he knew Davis would have let for two years before he would send Sullivan to the gallows for the killing of Ford.

Bailey also read portions of the Declaration of Independence, and declared that he would mortgage his ranch, his home to carry the case to the United States supreme court should the jury find defendant guilty. Bailey declared that Sullivan was a good fellow, a man, even better looking, said he, than the lawyers of the prosecution, Mr. Hanson and Mr. Looftrow. He said that Sullivan was worth 100 acres of such men as John Owen, whom he designated as "all yellow." He further said Sullivan had brains. "He has more brains than both the lawyers of the prosecution and all the witnesses for the prosecution put together," said the attorney for the defense.

Mr. Bailey described the death of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and of Jesus Christ, and dramatically declared, "As the rabble clamored for the death of these men, so does the rabble today clamor for the death of that innocent man, Joe Sullivan."

STORY OF A GIRL.

He told of an incident, in his address, to the jury, which occurred in this city several years ago, in which the story of a young lady and a young man was concerned. The young people had been engaged for some time, both living in a village not far from Salt Lake. One day the mother of the girl took the girl to a dentist's parlor in the city, then one day she let her alone. The dentist persuaded the girl to take a drink of intoxicating liquor, and that dentist ruined that girl. You know that girl," said the attorney, "the new addressing you," said he, "to myself. And yet I am innocent of that crime as a new born babe, and Joe Sullivan is just as innocent of the crime of Officer Ford."

Attorney Bailey placed his little 6-year-old son Russell, on the chair next to Sullivan, and placing a hand on each, told of the expectations he had for the future of the boy, and the expectations Sullivan's parents had for him 29 years ago in New York.

BROKEN CHAIN.

Bailey placed before the jury a broken chain, supplied with shreds of God's missing links, which he likened to the chain of evidence produced by the prosecution. There were many missing links in that chain, said the attorney, and the tattered cloth represented the links as attempted to be supplied by the prosecution.

The attorney referred to the political situation in Salt Lake City, which he declared was much more rotten than that of New York or Chicago, and said that this town needs a house-cleaning, and needs it badly. He told the jury that when Sullivan should be released from custody by the jury, he was going to work on Bailey's law. "He will cut my hay and milk my cows," said the attorney, "and I will trust him with my hay, and with my chickens, and with my ducks."

At 5 o'clock Mr. Bailey's address had not been concluded, and an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock this morning.

ATTORNEY HANSON'S ADDRESS.

When court resumed its session at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, County Attorney Willard Hanson opened the argument on behalf of the state. In a calm resume of the case, Mr. Hanson brought before the jury their duty in regard to the defendant and the state, saying that although the task of trying a man for his life was an unpleasant one, yet it was a duty each man owed the state to perform faithfully and to the best of his judgment according to the evidence. He explained the law which says that if two men conspire to commit a crime, and that while in the act of committing the crime or escaping a man is committed, both men are guilty of murder, even though only one strikes the fatal blow. For the slaying of Officer Ford, declared the attorney, both of the men who burglarized the saloon deserved capital punishment.

OWEN OUTSIDE.

The reason John Owen did not enter the bar was apparent, he said. His maimed hand would have attracted attention, and that was why he had been left outside. He explained how the man went behind the bar and robbed the cash register, had the blue steel revolver, while the man before the bar with the white gun, was Sullivan.

Garcia, declared, the state's attorney, had no desire to use such a man as Owen for his pal; he wanted Sullivan, who had just emerged from the penitentiary branded as a reckless, desperate man. Garcia did not search all day on Dec. 13 for John Owen, he was hunting for Sullivan, a fit companion for the halfbreed. Referring to Sullivan's flight from Salt Lake, Mr. Hanson asked if it were probable an innocent man would go without food for days and nights in order to place as much space as possible between himself and Salt Lake. The bullet was not fired, declared the man, said Attorney Hanson, in conclusion, but at the uniform he wore and what it represented. He called on the jury to do its duty and bring in a verdict of guilty.

HERE is a Reason—Why the Good People of America Buy Cascarets as Fast as the Clock Ticks.

Over Five Millions of Dollars have been Spent to make the merits of Cascarets known, and every cent of it would be lost, did not sound merit claim and hold the constant, continued friendship, Patronage and Endorsement of well-placed people year after year.

There is also a Reason—Why there are Parasites who attach themselves to the Healthy Body of Cascarets success—Imitators, Counterfeiters, Substitutes.

They are Trade Thieves who would rob Cascarets of the "Good Will" of the people, and sneak unearned profits, earned and paid for by Cascarets.

SEWER DELAY BRINGS PROTEST

Residents of Southwest Part of City Emphatically Voice Their Disapproval.

WORK DONE BUT NO OUTLET.

B. G. Raybould Points Out That People Are Paying for Something They Are Not Getting.

Residents of the southwest part of the city, with B. G. Raybould as their spokesman, made a strong protest to the members of the board of public works last night against the delay in providing for that section sewer facilities. Mr. Raybould was very emphatic in his statements, saying among other things that, for 15 years the people down his way had been promised relief in the direction indicated, were assessed for the proposed work more than a year ago and are paying interest on said assessments.

The sewer referred to is known as extension No. 182, and was contracted for a year ago by Contractor Kennedy, to be completed for the sum of $100,000. Inasmuch as the sewer is to be connected with the intercepting sewer, the work cannot be prosecuted until the latter is provided with an outlet. This will necessitate a long delay, and in the meantime the people of the southwest are paying for something which they do not get.

Mr. Raybould stated to the board that the people interested had almost exhausted their patience in the premises, and that they knew when relief would be afforded.

Chairman McMillan tried to pour oil on the troubled waters by saying that propositions were being considered that would doubtless bring about the desired results, but promises of any early action were not very definite.

BIDDER'S CHECK FORFEITED.

The board declared that the certified check of Davis & Heuser, successful bidder on sewer extension 170, was forfeited. The firm desired to throw up the contract, and were permitted to do so by losing the $100 accompanying the bid. Strange & McGuire were the next lowest bidders, and the contract has now been let to them. This was the contract in which it is believed there was a collusion between the two firms, a matter that will be passed upon by the city council.

The following estimates were approved by the board: James Kennedy, sewer extensions, $19,132.12; Davis & Heuser, sewer extensions, $5,806.68; James Kennedy, intercepting sewer, $4,829.76.

A resolution was introduced by Mr. Raybould and passed by the board to the effect that all telegraph, telephone and electric light poles be removed from the streets at once.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the Proof is Right Here.

For years evidence that inflammatory rheumatism is curable by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has been published.

That hundreds of people have tried the treatment with good results is shown by the increasing number of cures reported.

Every sufferer from this most painful disease who does not try this treatment is neglecting the most hopeful means of recovery as is shown by the statement of Mr. E. C. Odell, of Morrison, Ill.

"I suffered with inflammatory rheumatism for eighteen months before I found a cure," he says. "I had always been more or less troubled with my kidneys and stomach. The rheumatic attack came on a few years ago when I was living in New York state. All of my muscles were inflamed and I could not walk any distance at all without resting. The pains were dull and aching and once in a while were sharp and shooting. The rheumatism began to affect my heart causing fainting spells."

"I was under a doctor's treatment for about a year, but didn't derive any help from it and in fact I think I grew worse. I saw an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and began to use them at once. The relief was almost immediate and I took the pills until cured. I have never had the rheumatism in any form since. My wife has been very much benefited by using the pills as a tonic and recommends them as highly as I do."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use. They are entirely safe and contain no opiates or other habit-forming drugs. They build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and have cured rheumatism in almost every form, anæmia, troubles of women and growing girls and many forms of weakness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Phineas E. Gillette, a barber, charged with maintaining a nuisance by permitting his shop to be in an unclean and unsanitary condition, was arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty. The case was set for trial April 6.

Thomas W. McLaughlin was arrested last night for drunkenness and using foul and obscene language. The man had what the police term "a mean drunk on," and when arrested, he used profane language while being taken to headquarters. He was assessed $10 for his indiscretion.

IS SUING ELSEWHERE.

Mrs. Edith E. Kinsey filed yesterday in the district court a motion for the dismissal of the action of her husband, Charles M. Kinsey, in which the plaintiff asks for a divorce. Mrs. Kinsey alleges that a similar suit is now pending in the courts of Garfield county, Colo., and she further states that the plaintiff is not a bona fide resident of Utah.
