

EXTRAVAGANCE—On every hand and in all circles, we hear complaints of female extravagance. Husbands talk about it, fathers complain of it, the pulpit thunders against it, newspapers argue and declaim upon it by turns. Does specie go out of the country? We are told it is because the ladies buy so many laces, brocades, and other French extravagances. Is a merchant ruined?—Hah! the world lays it to the prodigality of his wife.

Young men shrug their shoulders when advised to marry, and say they cannot afford to pay the milliner's bills; old men rate their daughters for the sums they squander on French finery. From all sides, a fire of wit and of jurgation is kept up upon the extravagance of women, second only in fury to the fire on Sebastopol the day the Malakoff was captured. The anathema marmatha rises immediately to the lips of the men whenever Brussels lace or brocade, diamonds, India shawls, or other feminine extravagances are mentioned in their presence.

Yet the fault is not all one side. If ladies love choice laces, gentlemen like fine cigars. From the day-laborer, who will have his beer and tobacco, up to the rich citizen, who drinks pure wines or drives fast trotters, self gratification is the rule with men, rather than the exception.

Many a husband who sours when he receives his wife's bill for gloves, spends twice as much for oysters for himself. Billiards suppers and sporting excursions consume their proportion, at least, of family income. In justice to women, too, it must be admitted, that while her prodigality arises from the desire to look lovelier, which is but the instinct of her sex, to render herself more pleasing to man, the extravagance of man, on the other hand, springs generally from a selfish desire to gratify his appetite or pander to a morbid love of excitement.

At most, vanity is more pardonable than gluttony or drunkenness. Women squander money on show; men waste it on wine or horses. We rarely hear the stronger sex denouncing the weaker as spendthrifts, without saying to ourselves 'take first the beam from thine own eye.'

To what end do these words tend? Not to the increase of recriminations between man and wife, but to the fostering of mutual forbearance and self-denial. We wish to impress our readers that there is no station, however exalted, no condition, however poor, in which one sex does not often gratify its vanity or appetite at the expense of the other. Sometimes it is the wife who is selfish and spends more than her share; but quite as often it is the husband.

Custom, however, has warranted the latter in complaining of extravagance, while the same custom has closed the mouth of the former, till half the world thinks woman has no cause to complain at all. We justify neither. We say both, as a general rule, squander too much.

But we maintain that if husbands, instead of swearing at their wives' bills, would show the example of economy by reducing their own selfish expenses, the female sex would not be long in being shamed into retrenchment. The last vices a man sees are his own. If some of us would look at home, instead of abroad, we would prate less about extravagance.—[Baltimore Sun.]

AN EXTENSIVE ROYAL FAMILY—Lady Sheil, in 'Glimpses of Life and Manners in Persia,' gives us rather extensive ideas of family relations in the royal court of the Persian Shah. She says: 'The number of the inmates of the anderoon belonging to this sovereign (Futteh Ali Shah, grandfather of the reigning sovereign) is estimated at several hundred. His majesty's sons were reckoned at upwards of 80, but his daughters were too numerous to admit of calculation; though, why the ladies should exceed, in such proportion, the gentlemen of the family, was never explained.

It is an idea among Persians that women are considerably more numerous than men; and this delusion they all allege as a proof that Providence intended wives should be in excess to husbands. His majesty's sons followed his example, with the result of many among them having 40 or 50 children; and the total of his descendants is estimated at some thousand persons. Some among them are consequently in a deplorable state of poverty.

I have heard of one prince, a son or grandson of Futteh Ali Shah, who used to go himself to the bazaar to buy bread for his family; and I know of more than one who begged a member of the mission to give them two or three sovereigns to relieve them from actual want.

The princesses are many of them greatly to be commiserated. They have been forced by destitution to marry persons of very inferior condition; and one lady in particular had taken for her husband a man who had been a cobbler, but who had raised himself above that station.

DESERET STORE

HOME MANUFACTURES, PRODUCE

Where all kinds of

AND HOME MANUFACTURED GOODS

Will be received for Sale and Exchange.

Manufacturers, take courage; all you want is a market for the products of your labor.

Farmers, be wise; watch the spirit of the Prophet, keep his counsel, and exchange your grain for home manufactures only, except such indispensable articles as have not as yet been manufactured in the Territory, and to meet those deficiencies, a considerable stock of States goods of a certain class will be kept on hand for a time.

It would be ridiculous to mention what class of Home Manufactures will be required for Sale, or what quantity; for the fact is, we want every article from a mouse trap to a steam-engine, and the quantity unlimited.

Good, fat beef CATTLE taken in exchange for Goods. The cattle are wanted in order to procure fat for the Soap Factory. Holders of stock, won't you assist in this important branch of Home Manufactures? Some have prophesied you will not; I say you will, for there are yet many righteous men in Israel.

Endeavor to communicate with me, and make your arrangements as early as possible. 28-3m W. E.

HERDING.

THE undersigned have established a HERD GROUND in Rush Valley, and are prepared to take stock to herd; and we feel confident in saying that the range is equal to any in the Territory.

The vast amount of Stock lost heretofore through the negligence of herdsmen, and the severity of the weather in other valleys has induced us to locate said herd ground, and enter into the business of herding for the benefit of the people—said valley having proved the best and safest range for stock the past winter, there was in the Territory. And we shall hold ourselves responsible to parties for all losses through our neglect of stock placed in our charge.

The convenient location of said valley to G. S. L. City will enable us to receive stock on the 1st and 3rd Mondays of each month, at the Entry Pound in said city. We will also be prepared to receive stock on Monday, 26th inst.
