The City Warrants.

The resolution introduced at the last session of the city council by James Hays, relating to the city warrants, which have been going at much less than par lately, was approved yesterday afternoon by Mayor Hays. The resolution provided for the payment of interest at the rate of eight percent per annum on all city warrants presented to the treasurer, unless they are paid at the time of presentation. The city reserves the right to call in all such interest-bearing warrants at any time when there is cash in the treasury to pay them.

They had laid in a good supply of plums in the shape of spring chickens, green corn, new potatoes and beer, also a number of rifles in the shape of dry goods. They will have a chance in expiring to the justice.

C. W. Smith, one of the directors of the Central Building Company, has filed a suit against the B. Y. Academy and board of directors for the recovery of $20,000 damages alleged to have been sustained through the Academy's failure to give a perfect title to the real estate on which the building stands. The building was purchased from the Academy about three years since (payment in company stock), by the Central Building Company, it being the intention to erect a building where should be located the postoffice and the First National bank.
