FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR.

UTAH ATHLETES HOME IN MORE.

Return, Smiling and Undismayed From Defeat at Boulder, Colorado.

WHY THEY LOST THE GAME.

High Altitude. Absence of Ben-nion. Star Man, and Swapp's Condition Did It.

Crowd Witnessing the Meet Was Small And Enthusiasm Not What It Should Have Been.

With 31 points to their credit Utah's athletes returned home today from Denver. They brought no dangling scalp with them, and had no cry of victory to raise, but still the team was far from disheartened.

The lure of victory over Boulder is still before them, and just as last year a crippled team lost in Utah, when a strong team such as Utah had two weeks before and two weeks after, would have won, so now the boys under Maddock, smile with the knowledge that Utah has in her to take first place, whenever she gets action on her combined strength.

THIRD PLACE.

The things that spelled third instead of first place for Utah in the Rocky Mountain meet were the absence of Fred Bennion, which lost Utah enough points to win over Boulder by three, the high altitude, which has always been a big point in the favor of Colorado schools on home grounds, and the poor condition of Swapp, who would have increased Utah's points by 10, if he had not been suffering from a sprained ankle.

ALTITUDE A BIG FEATURE.

"All we have to say about our defeat," said Coach Maddock this morning, "is that we have stepped off the Rio Grande at 11:30 o'clock, accompanied by his smile that won't come off, or didn't in this instance, is that if Bennion had been there, we would have won, and it was if we had won the relay, it would have put us ahead. As it was, however, the event proved our final undoing. The atmosphere was a big element against us. Boulder's you know, is over 1,000 feet higher up than Salt Lake, and it seemed to burn out our runners. Fuzzy Moore was ahead right down the stretch and he burned, and then he seemed to stagger, and go to pieces. It was the same in the 200 yard event, and all our runners suffered badly in going through the high hurdles. Fuzzy fell down in the high hurdles, after leaving the last hurdle, and at the time he was well ahead of the next man."

CROWD WAS SMALL.

Track athletics have not yet created a general interest in Colorado, according to the statements of the team. Only a small crowd turned out to watch the contestants in the meet, and this will leave Utah about $400 short of evening up on her expenses of going to the meet. The team received its full share of the gate money, but it is not thought that this will cover the total cost of the trip.

The suffering from wind showed itself as soon as the heats were put on for hurdles. The public are in the habit of coming to the meet, and looking back to Boulder instead of meeting it on its home grounds. The result was victory for Nebraska by a very big margin, as soon as the teams met in a lower altitude the contest was back to Boulder instead of meeting it on its home grounds. The result was victory for Nebraska by a very big margin, as soon as the teams met in a lower altitude the contest was back to Boulder instead of meeting it on its home grounds.

POLE VAULT LOW.

The pole vault was a disappointment to Utah, as Russell took only 12 feet 4 inches, when he has done 16 feet 6 inches. After using up all his trials for second place, he made 10 feet 8 inches, in the third trial, beating the work of the man who had already been counted out at 10 feet 4 inches, for second. The lack of the pole was hard ground for Russell to operate, as he wore the usual spikes for soft ground.

HAMMER THROW ANOTHER DISAPPOINTMENT.

The hammer throw was another disappointment, as it went at 129 feet with Russell third, again, and he has thrown 134 feet. The ground was hard, and his spiked feet interfered with themselves. All three men in the event threw the hammer within a few feet of each other, or at least would have been second, as would have been the hammer throw, also.

USE OF WATER OF THE RIO GRANDE.

Secy. Root and Mexican Ambassador Sign a Treaty Regulating the Same.

THE SENATE MUST APPROVE.

MEXICO GETS AN EIGHTH OF RIVER AND GUARANTEES UNITED STATES AGAINST SUITS FOR CLAIMS.

Washington, May 21.—Secy. Root for the United States and Ambassador Casasus for the Mexican government today signed a treaty regulating the use of the waters of the Rio Grande which, if approved by the senate, will remove what has been for 20 years past a source of friction in the relations of the two countries.

FOR ALMOST A CENTURY THE MEXICANS LIVING ALONG THE LOWER RIVER HAVE MADE LARGE USE OF ITS WATERS FOR THE PURPOSE OF IRRIGATING THEIR LANDS. BUT IN RECENT YEARS PRIVATE COMPANIES ON THE UPPER WATERS IN THE UNITED STATES HAVE, BY THE CONSTRUCTION OF WING DAMS, DIVERTED A LARGE PART OF THE WATER TO THIS SIDE OF THE RIVER. THE MEXICANS HAVE PREFERRED CLAIMS FOR THE DAMAGE SUSTAINED BUT SO FAR WITHOUT SUCCESS. NOW THE PLANS OF THE RECLAMATION SERVICE HAVE MADE IT CERTAIN THAT PRACTICALLY ALL OF THE WATER WILL BE RETAINED ON AMERICAN SOIL UNLESS SOME PROPER SCHEME OF DIVISION CAN BE ARRANGED.

The senate committee on postoffice and post roads, believing that there is no chance for the shipping bill to pass at this session has taken from that measure this subsidy provision: "From a report of the Pacific coast of the United States via Hawaii and the Samoan Islands to Australia, on steamships of the United States of not less than 16 knots speed for a service once in three weeks at a maximum compensation not exceeding $27,000 a year, in addition to the compensation now provided" under the existing contract for ocean mail service between this country and foreign ports.
