The Bullion Beck and its Expected Monthly Dividend.

OTHER PROPERTIES IN UTAH.

For W. H. C. & Co. — Parkit is given by all right & safe.

The Bullion Beck Mining company was founded for the construction of its monthly dividend of fifteen cents per share today, but as it goes there, no meeting has been held since a statement was given indicating that, in the report of this division, the company will have distributed its shareholders during the previous six months.

The Bullion Beck has proved one of the best paying mines in the state, and has distributed to its shareholders more money than individuals there say they have in the state.

Mr. Frank W. Hart, stock of the Utah & Eastern Mining corporation, was located today in writing our love to you in your good respects.

Donald, the man who made millions during his life, died at Salt Lake City on Friday night. He was 77 years old, and his estate was estimated at $2 million.

This was the history of the Donald business empire, but we can't say it's all over. Mr. Donald left his estate to his wife, and she died in 1900.

Mr. A. A. Avery, who is interested in the Native Silver at Bingham, received a New England expert opinion concerning White Mountain gold in the last few days, and he says it is worth about $100,000.

Mr. Avery also says that the mine is worth about $100,000.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

In Salt Lake City August 4-5-6.

The Chief James Devine and Chief of Police Pratt of this city went to Ogden yesterday and had conference with the fire and police departments there with a view to enlisting their cooperation in the effort to make a State affair of the national firemen's convention which is to be held in this city on August 10th. That is proposed to secure co-operative action in the various firemen throughout the State in meeting with us in establishing the members of the national convention of firemen within the State here in this city.

While details were not agreed upon, a general motion was given that the Ogden fire department would be on hand to help all cities in the way of protecting the visitors.

The Firemen's Association of America has appointed a committee to meet with us in Ogden, and when ready to give in charge the same which now holds of being one of the leading banks in the new State of Utah.

FOLLOWER'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Business Page in the Local Markets for the Week Just Closed.

James A. Beck, who sits in his weekly Sunday school lecture room date of today:

The presence of the holidays this week just closed had the effect of flattening the mining stock market and making it a real bust. It was the case where there was a material improvement all along the line and the tendency was upward, with the exception of a few of the securities. This looks like a period of time for improving the market again.

The whole field should be materially stronger toward the close of the month.

AJAX remained practically unchanged, although the offerings were higher than the previous week, and about the previous week's figure, making three weeks of practically unchanged questions. Another poem-up seemed near, nothing being done to improve the situation.

The properties are still doing fine. Beaconsfield of Bingham took back on Monday. Work is reported to be progressing. Bullion Beck directors will meet today and are expected to decide to issue a large number of new shares. The shipments are now heavy and the grave of oil put back. Work with the standard drill is now being pressed on the two test levels. Tests of the drift have been made up to 100 feet, but it is proving a great deal in prospecting. There was some business done in the stock, which is issued upon security.

This is the last day of the Centennial year, and the market is in a series of definite information it looks as though the test will not go. Some result would prove disappointing to the stockholders. The company is again showing high dividends. It goes up and down, but the trend is generally well. Bullion Beck is comparatively quiet. Only did not improve in the official quotation, the reason being the standard drift is the most important drift.

The properties are in a general way.

Day West continued strong, with the demand quite active and the offerings light.

Your Area and Mine were not inactive. East Golden tanks up to an amount of $100,000 in the diamond drift. The stock did little of nothing on the open market. Gossage pays its July dividend of a cent per share today. The stock continues to move the other direction, and the price of the first drift may be dredged for some weeks. Horn Silver was inactive and buyers and sellers failed to agree to any marked degree.

The stock in the properties are evenly distributed between the number of men at work. John H. Hart's settlement case takes place tomorrow. There is not a very large list of stockholders who have not come up to date.

A. L. Beck, who sits with the other investment men, managed to maintain the strength of it, and the stock did well from the previous week's position, although all of the companies in comparison were not so active. It is not the case if not more than one or two have been for months past, although the regular and heavy kind of stock sales has a good buy at today's quotations. Most of the stock is sold at approximately 125 cents per share, however, the stock is not so active as it was in the previous week.

In the properties have been of a very gratifying nature and everything is being operated to the capacity. The stock closed with the market at 27 1/2 cents. The market was very quiet, and the stockholders who had been buying were not so active as they were in the previous week.

Ontario was quiet, although there was not heavy offering of new shares. The market was held very firmly. The stock did well.

The company directors have turned upon the increase in the mining plant, and just what will be required will be to pay a matter of adjustment. It will probably be taken care of in due course.

In the market of the estate of Martin F. Greenhill, deceased, under the family trust, was a large sum of money.

The stock was held in a good showing. Utah pays its July dividend of 2 cents per share.

Dips and Spikes.

Colonel Davis of the Bingham company is reporting on a tour of inspection to the mines.

The Mammoth hotel is having a winter pipe of their own hotel, and when completed the piping will be even more interesting than the spring in the hotel themselves.
