Oh, the Pain of Rheumatism!

Rheumatism often causes the most intense suffering. Many have for years vainly sought relief from this disabling disease, and are to-day worse off than ever. Rheumatism is a blood disease, and Swift's Specific is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated diseases. A few years ago I was taken with inflamma-

A SAB DEATH.

A sad death occurred about 1 o'clock a, m. on Thursday, Nov. 23rd, at Black-foot, Idaho, John W. Braithwaite was suddenly called upon to leave this mortal sphere, by the breaking of a blood vessel. The deceased was a native of England, and emigrated with his mother and three sisters to America when but a boy. His lot was a hard one; some six years ago his mother died, leaving him and three sisters orphan children to care for themselves, and his health has never been good. He was 23 years old, was sober and industrious, and respected by all who knew him. He leaves a young wife, three sisters, and numerous relatives and friends to mourn his early demise.

Elder Daniel Clark, a missionary to England, arrived home on the 27th inst. after an absence of over two years, spent in the work of the Lord.

QUESTIONS ON WAR.

Now that the tsar has brought to the attention of the powers of the world the palpable absurdity of each maintaining a large number of its people as trained fighters, at the cost of the producing classes, for the purpose now and then of gla-hatorial display, would it not be weil for some one to call a convention to pass upon a few simple points which would make easier the duties of teach-ers. It would greatly simplify the course of education if a few questions were answered by those who determine the fate of nations, as, is it settled that one people may seize and possess themof the property of another peo ple if strong enough to do so? If not strong enough alone, may nations rightfully unite to despoil another na-tion? If so may they rightfully unite to despoil any nation? Call it settled as good politics that trained menslayers may be turned into the forest to kill the inhabitants, or huddle them in corners to die, on the ground that these wild lands are required for purposes of civilization, and that civilization has a right to them; does this right of superior strength and culture apply as well to the half savage, or to the quarter savage; and if so how civilized must be the civilization, and how savage the savagism before the author of all peo-ples, and all power, and all justice and humanity may be invoked to witness the righteousness of the robber's cause' Is Germany sufficiently civilized to cap-ture and partition Central America on this hypothesis? May the powers units and demand the division among them of Russia, where there is more waste land than in Africa? Spain wants a piece of China; suppose China were to demand the partition of Spain, or Italy, among the powers of Asia-that is to say the emperors of China and Japan, and Aguinaldo, emperor of the Philip-pines-could the plea be justly set up that Spain and Italy were to advanced and the powers of Asia not advanced enough to permit of such a course? And were sucking the wolf while the in-habitants of the Far East were studying the stars of heaven? Is isolation a crime? If not why is China punished for it? If so, how much of isolation may the anti-imperialists of the United States be permitted to indulge in be-fore England has the international right to come thundering at our portal, demanding the door to be opened? Is exclusiveness a crime? If not, why is China punished for it? If so, why are not Australia and America punished for excluding the Chinese? Old men and old women and old nations are a nuisance and deserve obliteration; how old or weak or useless must a man or wo-man or nation become in order to justify extermination? Could some of these questions, round which the diplomats keep up their war dance, be set-tied for the benefit of the simple, how much clearer to the mind would be the studies of international ethics and studies of and economics!-Bancroft, The New Pacific.
