WEDDING BELLS

No autumn of the past has shown as large a list of interesting bridal events as the present. This week especially has been marked by a number of brilliant affairs, nearly all of them home weddings but carried out with elaborate detail. The rest of the month and October as well have numbers of marriages planned for their weeks, all of them together promising to make a notable season.

Two of the largest and most brilliant affairs were the weddings of Miss Letta McMillan and Raymond Mason and Miss Rebecca Spokes and Mr. Howard C. Rand, both of them home at South Temple. The McMillan residence on east South Temple was a blaze of light and beauty, the floral decorations being most beautiful and all details elaborately carried out and the marriage thronged with guests. A romantic detail of the affair was the secrecy of the young couple as to where they were to make their bridal tour, and also their future home, the latter choice not being made.

An equally large number of guests were bidden to the Spokes-Rand nuptials on the same evening, and a beautiful feature of this event was the decorations, the rooms being literally embowered in roses, and sweet peas and autumn flowers, while hanging from the electric light globes set like stars amid the blossoms and giving an added radiance to all. A delightful musical program was given by Messrs. Joe Poll, A. E. Braby, Fred Fuller, Ernest Sait and J. Garrett, Misses Margaret Cooper and Mamie Russell and Maude H. Strong, with recitations by Miss Bertha Borgquist and Mrs. Holling. Mr. and Mrs. Rand will be at home after Oct. 1, at 27 H Street.

Another charming home wedding of Thursday night was that of Miss Lillian Horne and Shirley M. Woodard, the ceremony having been performed during the day in the Temple and the reception taking place in the evening at the bride's home, which was bright with floral decorations beautifully arranged. Mr. and Mrs. Woodard have scores of friends who will join in wishing them the best that life can give.

Miss Mamie Hines and Clayton Thatcher were among the week's bridal couples, and the wedding which celebrated their marriage was a pretty one in all details.

Under a huge floral bell, and surrounded by flowers on all sides, Mrs. Sowles and Mr. G. H. Roberts were married on Thursday afternoon, only the relatives and intimate friends being present. Rev. McCubbin of Woodard performed the ceremony and near relatives assisted as attendants, and in receiving and serving.

A wedding of Tuesday was that of Miss Mollie Alexander and A. H. May, who left after a wedding supper at California and later will return here to reside.

Miss Jennie Johnson of this city and Walter F. Reid of Pleasant Green were married on Thursday, the event being
