

STATISTICS OF HUMAN LIFE.—The total number of human beings on the earth is now computed in round numbers at one thousand millions. They speak 3064 now known tongues, and in which upward of 1100 religions or creeds are preached. The average age of life is 33½ years. One-fourth of the born die before they reach the age of 7 years, and half before the 17th year. Out of 100 persons only 6 reach the age of 60 years and upward, while only 1 in 1000 reaches the age of 100 years. Out of 500 only 1 attains 80 years. Out of the thousand million living persons 330,000,000 die annually, 91,000 daily, 3730 every hour, 60 every minute, and consequently 1 every second. The loss is, however, balanced by the gain in new births. Tall men are supposed to live longer than short ones. Women are generally stronger than men until their 50th year, afterward less so. Marriages are in proportion to single life (bachelors and spinsters) as 100:76. Both births and deaths are more frequent in the night than in the day. One-fourth of men are capable of bearing arms but not 1 out of 1000 is by nature inclined for the profession. The more civilized a country is, the more full of vigor, life and health, are the people. The notion that education enfeebles and degenerates the human frame, is not borne out by fact.

—Love, like a beautiful opal, is a clouded gem, which carries a spark of fire in its bosom; but true friendship, like a diamond, radiates steadily from its transparent heart.

—Labor rids us of three great evils—poverty, vice and ennui.
