

DISEASE MENACE TO UTAH FLOCKS

Energetic Action Must Be Taken To Stamp Out Prevalent Malady.

SHEEPMEN LEVY ASSESSMENT

With the Fund at Hand, Work is to be Undertaken at Once—Symptoms Are Pointed Out.

At a meeting of the Utah Wool Growers' association held yesterday afternoon in this city Dr. A. C. Young, state veterinarian, and Dr. F. E. Murray, of the United States bureau of animal industry, pointed out the seriousness of the present epidemic of lip and leg disease, which is spreading over the state at an alarming rate.

They reported that the disease is all over the state in spots and that if it is not stopped at once it will entail a loss of millions of dollars and lead to Utah being quarantined by other states, which will prevent the shipping of sheep out of the state. The malady was said to be at a stage where it could be handled now, but delays would greatly increase the cost of coping with the disease, which is already menacing the very life of the sheep industry in places in Wyoming.

It was pointed out by Dr. Young that the state has no fund with which to fight the disease, and after some discussion it was decided to assess each sheepman $10, which is to be paid at once to the Wool Growers' association and used under the direction of Dr. Young. This is intended as a starter. Other funds will probably be needed as soon as the work is well under way.

The meeting yesterday afternoon convened at the call of the Utah Wool Growers' association, and others interested in the sheep industry. The meeting was held at 62 Postoffice place, about 20 persons being present. Among them were Dr. A. C. Young, state veterinarian; Dr. F. E. Murray, inspector in charge of the United States bureau of animal industry; C. B. Stewart, secretary of the Utah Wool Growers' association; Ross Beaman of Utah county; A. S. Erickson of Salt Lake; William Moss of Woods Cross; W. D. Candland of Mt. Pleasant; E. H. Callister, United States collector of internal revenue; N. E. Nielson of Ogden, president of the Wool Growers' association; J. S. Oler of Nephi; H. P. Thurns of Bear River; L. L. Fackel of Woods Cross; Andrew Larsen of Mt. Pleasant, and other prominent sheepmen.

SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE.

This disease, which is known scientifically as "necro-bacillosis," is said to be incurable when it gets a firm hold. It consists of the rotting of parts of the sheep's body though the rest of the body is alive. They are attacked principally in the jaw and legs. The glands of the jaw swell and burst, while the feet rot away. The disease may be transmitted from one sheep to another, and it is even said that the germs may, like those of smallpox, get into the ground and live for years.

The disease has been known in Utah for about two years, during which time there have been only isolated cases. This summer the disease has appeared at an alarming rate. It appears to have come from Wyoming into Utah and in that state some sheep men have suffered the extinction of their herds. Others, whose losses have not been so heavy, have lost thousands of dollars, and the plague has got to the stage when something has to be done right away.

Dr. Young's first move will be to identify the germs causing the trouble with the view of learning just what the disease is. It is said that the cost of this work will be $2,500. After that is done there will still be the cost of stamping out the disease, which it would appear will have to be met by the sheepmen, as there are no state funds available for such a purpose. One thing is sure, as admitted by the speakers at yesterday's meeting, unless something is done right away there is a great probability that the state will be quarantined before long by outside states.

MAXWELL REUNION.

About 45 of the descendants and friends of the late John L. Maxwell gathered at the home of the widow recently to celebrate her seventy-seventh birthday. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maxwell were early pioneers and established the first flour business in this city, which is still in existence, being carried on by the sons. Many valuable mementoes were received by Mrs. Maxwell. A very interesting program was rendered after which an excellent lunch was served. The following took part in the program: Mr. John Maxwell, Mr. Thomas Maxwell, Mr. Edgar Grey, Mr. Ben Grey, Mr. Joseph Jacobson, Mr. J. A. Harter, Mr. Ross Bradford, Mr. Harry A. James, Mr. Annie Maxwell, Miss Carry Maxwell, Mrs. E. H. Grey, Mr. H. H. Maxwell and Mrs. H. A. James were the accompanists of the evening.

PETER WHITE'S MISTAKE.

Goes to Sleep in Tailor's Shop and Wakes Up a Burglar.

It appears that the authorities seem very nearly making a serious mistake and doing a grave injustice in the case of the State vs. Peter White who pleaded guilty yesterday morning before Judge J. M. Bowman, in the criminal division of the city court, to the charge of burglary in the second degree. While, who is a hard working miner, with a good record, and who has resided in Utah for eight years and worked steadily at Panguitch, came to the city last week with money in his pockets, but unfortunately for him, also with a bag, which he placed behind a door, and which contained a quantity of gold and silver.

Early Sunday morning he was in a restaurant next to the tailor shop of H. F. Clark, on West South Temple street. He sat down at a table, and while leaving his coat and hat in the restaurant he went out onto the sidewalk. While in a dazed condition he stumbled into the doorway of the shop and, thinking he was entering a rooming house, walked into the shop, turned on the light and went to sleep behind a door. When he awoke he found himself in a rooming house, and when he told this story this morning his statements were believed by Judge

Volume Five Church History

Published by the Church with Introduction by Elder B. H. Roberts.

This volume deals with the history of the Church from May 3, 1842, to 21st of August, 1843. It, therefore, covers a period of about sixteen months. The main external events may be set down as follows: First, exposure of the wickedness of John C. Bennett, and his departure from Nauvoo; (2) the charge against the Prophet Joseph of complicity in the attempted assassination of Governor Lilburn W. Boggs, under whose celebrated exterminating order the body of the Church was driven from Missouri; (3) the attempt of the state of Missouri to extradite the Prophet from the state of Illinois, to be tried as an accessory before the fact to an assault on Governor Boggs; (4) a second attempt on the part of Missouri to extradite the Prophet from the state of Illinois on the old charge of "murder, treason, burglary, arson, larceny, theft and stealing," first brought against him in the year 1838; (5) a preliminary prospecting of the west, doubtless with a view to the contemplated exodus of the Saints to the Rocky Mountains.

Of events that relate more nearly to the Church as an organization there should be mentioned: (1) the observance of the endowment ceremonies and enlarged instructions on the subject of baptism for the dead; (2) an extension of auxiliary organizations bringing into existence the Young Men's and Women's Society.

Another item of great interest in this volume is the manifest development of the church's spiritual strength of the Prophet during this period. The trying experiences through which he passed seemed to develop new qualities of soul power within him, and to emphasize those which he was known to have possessed. The doctrinal development of the period covered by this volume deals with several items which may be regarded as preliminary to that richer unfolding of philosophical thought to which we know that the Prophet's teachings was so largely devoted.

Hempel and by the prosecuting attorney. He was permitted to change his plea to one of not guilty and the case was set for Monday next at which time it will be held in open court. It is expected that the man was drunk and sick at the time of the shooting. The door of the tailor shop had been left unlocked, and it is not true, as at first supposed, that White unlocked the door, as no key was found on him.

WOOLEN MILL MAY OPEN.

(Special to The News.)
Provo, Utah, Oct. 5.—The directors of the Provo Woolen mills, which have been lying idle for some years, have sent out a circular letter to the stockholders, submitting two propositions. The first asks the stockholders to approve of a small assessment to raise means to pay off the indebtedness upon the mill, buy wool and start up the mill again. If the stockholders do not agree to this the directors propose that the mill be sold and the proceeds divided among the shareholders according to their respective interests. If the stockholders approve of the first proposition, the mill can be started up again without much delay and even the business affairs of the city.

Overheard Among the Crooks.

To the Editor: The man about town overheard some things occasionally that are not intended for publication. Here are a few recent ones overheard by me on Second South street: "Couple of 'one of town' fellows standing near the Wilson a couple of days ago were heard to say: 'All you have to do to stick around the Lake as long as you want to, is to do a little strolling for sheets.' 'Sheets is a 'right guy, but you must help him out a little,' said the other. 'How can you get next to him?' 'That's easy,' said the other. 'If you know Judge Newton, he's the square, he'll fix it for you.' Since the 'ill was put on' in Ogden, there has been quite an influx of the 'knights of the green cloth' to Salt Lake. It is said they have been informed that Salt Lake will open if the so-called 'American' party is successful in the coming city election. See the point? But, then, there are many lighter clouded towns than Salt Lake right now. The 'boys' say you can find a 'stud or draw game' in most any direction in which you have a mind to go. The 'closing' bluff which Chief Barker made a month or more ago causes

LAW AVENGING THE SHEEP MEN

Range Detective Joe La oFrs Causes Arrests of Suspected Cattel Men.

CHAPTER IN WYOMING'S WAR

Trumpeters Bound Over for Murder Of George Gordon—Prisoners Guarded by State Militia.

(Special to The News.)
Cheyenne, Wyoming, Oct. 5.—Joe LaFors, the range detective employed by the Wyoming Wool Growers' association in running down sheep camp raiders, murderers, incendiaries and thieves, returned here today for a brief visit at headquarters. LaFors recently caused the arrest of Henry Trumpeter and his son, Roy, at Edgmont, South Dakota, and they were last week bound over to the district court of Fall River county, South Dakota, charged with murdering George Gordon, a Casper, Wyo., sheepherder, employed by Ross Lambert of Wheatland. Gordon was shot down in cold blood on July 12, last. The crime was committed at a point five miles east of Edgmont, in charge of one of Lambert's sheep outfits. The wagon was burned by the men who killed Gordon.

LaFors does not say much, but it is known that the circumstances point strongly to the Trumpeters, and the fact that they were bound over without bail indicates the authorities are taking no chances.

LaFors will stay in a few days for Big Horn county where he assisted last spring in gathering evidence which caused the arrest of seven prominent cattlemen, who are now waiting trial at Basin for the murder of Joe Allendall, Basin, Wyo., and L. L. Luster, three sheepmen, shot down while sleeping in their wagon near Two Sleeps. The wagons were burned and the bodies incinerated. The Wyoming Wool Growers' association, which directed LaFors in his work, is pushing the case against the sheepmen, and will leave no stones unturned to bring the guilty ones to justice. The trial of the first of the murder suspects will occur the latter part of this month at Basin.

The prisoners have been closely guarded at Basin by a company of state militia. Interest in the cases is keen here, and the sheep raising community is engaged in a bitter struggle for a better struggle. Recently several men prominent in the affairs of the state were reported to be tampering with witnesses and prospective jurors, but they were warned to desist or be brought in as accessories. Two witnesses attempted to get out of the country, but Detective LaFors placed in their trail, and he soon overhauled them.

The Wyoming association officials are determined that its members and all others engaged in sheep raising in Wyoming shall be protected from raiders, murderers and incendiaries.

SUICIDE AT ELBERTA.

(Special to The News.)
Provo, Oct. 5.—Sheriff Judd has just left for Elberta, near Goshen, to investigate the suicide of a farmer residing there who cut his throat yesterday with a knife. No other particulars have been received other than that the man's name is E. H. Wilson, and that he came some time ago from Nebraska, where he has a wife and six children.

PROCEEDINGS IN LUNACY.

Two Commitments to Mental Hospital—One Prisoner Discharged.

R. E. Hall, 35 years old, who lives with his wife and family at No. 4 Rustic court, was committed to the state mental hospital this morning in Judge Lewis' court on the recommendation of the lunacy commission. For some time he has been in poor health and it was feared by his family and relatives that he would injure himself or somebody else.

Mrs. Maria V. Anderson, 70 years old, an inmate of the county infirmary, was committed to the insane asylum at Provo today by Judge Lewis. She has a mania for running away from the infirmary and getting lost, remaining out all night. She declared that she was the infirmity and attempts to issue orders to everybody in the institution.

John Corless, a minor, was brought before Judge Lewis this morning and the lunacy commission recommended that he be committed to the insane asylum. It was found that he was slightly demented, but he was not a dangerous subject to be at large, and he was discharged. He was brought here from Tooele, where he lowered some cats down a shaft of the J. P. Gardner mine and then threatened to blow up the mine with dynamite.

BOWDIE WILL FILE.

Leaves Entire Estate to Widow With Gifts to Children.

Judge John B. Bowdieu, who died September 24, 1909, left a will which was filed this morning in the probate division of the Third district court by his widow, Mrs. Clara L. Bowdieu, together with a petition requesting that she be appointed the executrix as provided for in the testament. The estate is valued at $3,000, but the property is not mentioned.

In the will Mrs. Bowdieu is made the executrix and to her is bequeathed the residue of the estate. To his son,

Ralph Alvin Bowdieu, he gives his watch and then says: "I bequeath to him my teacher's Bible and may the precepts of the 'Old Book' be his rule of action and standard of life." Judge Bowdieu gives to his daughter, Isabelle C. Bowdieu $25 and then says: "I desire her to purchase with it anything that she may cherish as a gift from me."

His widow and two children are the only heirs to his estate. The hearing of the petition will be called next Saturday before Judge Lewis.

CAN CONFISCATE WHISKY IN OKLAHOMA

Guthrie, Okla., Oct. 4.—If a resident of Oklahoma wishes to receive a specimen of liquor and dispose of the same in violation of the state's prohibition law, he must get to the nearest train ahead of the police or his consignment likely will be confiscated under a ruling of the supreme court today. The lower courts have held that the interstate commerce laws protected a shipment of liquor while it was on the premises of the railroad, and until actually delivered to the consignee. He was disposing of it from the car, and the police seized 15 kegs.

DR. PARKHURST ENTERS THE POLITICAL ARENA

New York, Oct. 4.—A minister of the gospel and a former state legislator entered the municipal political game today. The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst announced his intention of advocating for the place of the election of the Republican nominee for mayor, Otto T. Bannard.

Theodore A. Bingham, ousted as police commissioner by the McClellan administration, said he would enter the stump in Mr. Bannard's support. Gen. Bingham is a Republican, though appointed to office by McClellan, a Democrat. For the first time since his removal he spoke publicly tonight, appearing at the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church.

In view of his attacks on McClellan in recent magazine articles, Gen. Bingham, heretofore, to speak on the "Policy system of a Great City," surprised his audience. While he denounced Tammany and the present administration, and criticized Justice Grayson as a candidate, he made no direct reference to Mayor McClellan, save in answer to a question. Throughout his address he urged his hearers to vote for Bannard.

FAMOUS DOYLE-BURNS MINING SUIT SETTLED

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 5.—The famous million dollar Doyle-Burns mining suit which has been in the courts of this state for several years,

This case has three times been tried.

IRVING STRINGHAM DEAD

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 5.—Irving Stringham, acting president of the University of California during President Wheeler's absence, who was to have welcomed President Taft at Berkeley out of the way of the frightened animals. GARFIELD COUNTY FAIR HELD AT PANGUITCH

(Special Correspondence.)
PANGUITCH, Oct. 2.—A successful county fair was held here for three days ending October 1. The agricultural and horticultural display was so extensive, varied, and excellent as to surprise the residents and amaze the visitors. At the same time an exhibition of art and needle work was given under the auspices of the Ladies' club that was equally attractive and surprising.

Visitors who had seen many county fairs stated that in some respects this one excelled anything they had ever seen. Every town in Garfield county had a display. A detailed account of the exhibits would fill several columns of The News, but some of the striking features are worthy of mention. L. L. Porter of Hatch, had a very creditable dry farming display. He produced wonderful results in variety, quality and amount per acre. This display is now at the office of the state board of land commissioners, in Salt Lake City. It contained two varieties of wheat, beans, corn, turnips and potatoes, some single specimens of the last named weighed two pounds.

The fruit display from the eastern part of the country would compare favorably with anything in the state. Boxes of large apples weighing from 20 ounces to two pounds each, peaches eight or ten inches around, and the most beautiful pears, plums and prunes were on exhibition. A cabbage from Tooele with surplus leaves trimmed, and only its "night-gown" on, weighed 23 pounds and measured 44 inches around the waist. It is difficult to realize the size of that cabbage. Other vegetables were in like proportion.

Pangitch is supposed to be unproductive by those who labor under a delusion. This place displayed splendid fruit in apples, gooseberries, strawberries, crab apples and potatoes, so large as to astonish one. It has been determined by this fair, that the only thing in the way of raising fruit in the Pangitch valley, is the planting of the trees.

An good gardens are raised in Pangitch as can be raised anywhere in the state. No doubt this fair will be an incentive to the raising of fruit in this section and next year's fair will be looked forward to with renewed interest.

Great credit is due to Fred E. Eldredge, the chief promoter of the fair, backed by Mayor Thomas Seely, Bishop Jas. B. Heywood, D. J. Snodgrass, William Prince, R. Walker & Son, Fred Judd, A. F. Riding and many others made fine displays.

PANGUITCH, Oct. 2.—A serious stampede of a herd of Mr. Comilla's cattle took place the other night on the bench east of Pangitch. The first night guard had been relieved and laid down to sleep when the boys on duty made some noise that started the cattle, those in the crowd managed to get out of the way of the frightened animals. One man, James Marshall, jumped on his horse and tried to round the crowd, which was trying to get out of the way of the frightened animals. Marshall was shot and killed. The cause of death is not yet known. He had been ill a month.

SUCCESSFUL COUNTY FAIR AT COALVILLE

(Special Correspondence.)
COALVILLE, Summit Co., Oct. 1.—Summit county held its first county fair on Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. The exhibits were far better than expected. The fruit display was fine and would be hard to beat in any county of the state. There was a good showing in the stock departments, horses, cattle, sheep and swine, also poultry of all kinds and breeds. There were good displays of grains, hay and vegetables of all kinds, dairy products, home-cured meats, minerals, paintings, school exhibits, etc. The women's work department was a splendid exhibit, consisting of all kinds of fancy needlework, embroideries and lace. During the three days there were all kinds of sports as side attractions. It was well patronized from all parts of the county. The success of the fair is due largely to the untiring efforts of W. H. Manning and J. C. Paskett. It is the intention to hold a fair annually hereafter.

COALVILLE BRIEFS.

Coalville is having a new coal mine opened right in the center of the city by J. S. Salmon and James Morley. The Superior Fuel & Brickette company is about ready to start up its plant making coals, which is making quite a boost for Coalville.

The merchants have been doing a big business during the three days' fair. Coalville is coming to the front and improving. The city has begun trying cement sidewalks.
