Dr. FOOTE, Senior,

Of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York,

Hereby cautions the public NOT to Employ or Communicate With a man styling himself "Dr. Foot, Jr." without making due inquiry.

This man came to Salt Lake City representing himself as the son of Dr. E. B. FOOTE of New York, the well known specialist, as abundantly proved by affidavits. As rumors came into Salt Lake City from Dakota and Montana from an exposé made there, he changed his base and represented himself as the son of a more noted specialist in New York City than Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the well known author. Mr. John F. Trow, of the well known Trow's Directory, in New York City (forty years in the directory business), Ex-Governor FRANK FULLER, of Utah, and the Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, for many years Postmaster in New York City, also Surveyor of the Port, gave their affidavits that there are no such doctors in New York by the name of FOOT or FOOTE, excepting Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the the author of "Medical Common Sense," etc., and h s two sons, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, JR., and Dr. HERBERT B. FOOTE. The genuine Dr. FOOTE, JR., will hereafter always employ the initials, E. B., in designating his name. Heretofore he has been known not only at home but wherever his publications have been circulated by the name of Dr. FOOTE, Jr. Greater care will be taken hereafter, in view of the fac that an unprincipled person has assumed to profit by his and his father's reputations.

Those desiring further and more detailed information in regard to the matter, can receive it by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City Utah.

Persons having information of advantage to plaintiffs will kindly communicate the same to J. W. Ivey, with Sutherland & McBride, Salt Lake City.

Those desiring to consult Dr. FOOTE professionally or to order remedies should address either

Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Sr., or Dr. E. B. FOOTE, JR.,

EVENING NEWS.

Thursday — September 3, 1885

A DENIAL.

A DIFFERENT PHASE PLACED UPON THE "SHAMEFUL AFFAIR" REPORTED FROM PLEASANT GROVE.

PLEASANT GROVE, Sep. 1st, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

In your issue of the 29th ult., under the heading of a "shameful affair," we find many statements that are untrue. Mr. James H. Hooper has greatly exaggerated the truth. While Mrs. Hooper and her sister, Mrs. Josephine Horne, of the 18th Ward, Salt Lake City, were at their father's house taking dinner, something was said about the water being turned upon some corn that young George Rasmusen, an adopted son of the family was tending. Mrs. Hooper remarked that if George changed the water out of its course from passing her house she would "murder him," at the same moment she sprang towards the young man with scissors in hand in a menacing manner. Rasmusen caught the angry woman around her neck to stop her in her wild career. The father, at this juncture, stepped up and interfered in the spirit of a peacemaker, demanding that if his daughter wanted to quarrel she must retire to her own house for such pastime. The grandma was caring for the baby, and not its mother, as falsely stated by Mr. Hooper. As regards the hair-pulling and nail-scratching, as referred to by your former correspondent, there was nothing in it; and the affair throughout was hardly worth a passing notice. Mr. Hooper, after returning home, in answer to a summons by Mrs. Horne, who has taken a very unwise part in the matter, has not called upon his father-in-law to investigate the trouble, but rushed into print, humiliating the whole household.

We will further state that Mrs. Hooper was the aggressor, and very much at fault, she being of a nervous temperament.

Please give the above a place in the NEWS, that our side of this unpleasant affair may be heard, and greatly oblige.

Yours truly,
A. P. MADSEN,
GEORGE RASMUSSON,
N. P. MADSEN.

A Plea for Vegetable Diet.

Sir H. Thompson, in an article on "Diet in relation to Age and Activity," in the Nineteenth Century, says:

It is an erroneous idea that a simple form of dietry, such as the vegetable kingdom in the largest sense of the term furnishes, in conjunction with a moderate proportion of the most easily digested forms of animal food, may not be appetizing and agreeable to the palate. On the contrary I am prepared to maintain that it may be easily served in a form highly attractive, not only to the general but to a cultivated taste. A preference for high flavors and stimulating scents peculiar to the flesh of vertebrate animals mostly subsides after a fair trial of milder foods when supplied in variety. And it is an experience almost universally avowed, that the desire for food is keener, that the satisfrction in gratifying appetite is greater, or more enjoyable, on the part of the general light feeder. For this designation is applicable to almost all those who compose the middle class population of this country. They consume little bread and few vegetables; all the savory dishes are of flesh, with decoctions of flesh alone for soup. The sweets are compounds of suet, lard, butter, eggs and milk, with very small quantities of flour, rice, arrowroot, etc., which comprise all the vegetable constituents besides some fruit and sugar. Three-fourths at least of the nutrient matters consumed are from the animal kingdom. A reversal of the proportions named, that is a fourth only from the latter source with three-fourths of vegetable produce, would furnish greater variety for the table tend to maintain a cleaner palate, increased zest for food, a lighter and active brain, and a better share of health for most people not engaged on the most laborious employment of active life; while even for the last named with due choice of material, ample sustenance in the proportions named may be supplied. For some inactive, sedentary, and aged persons the small proportion of animal food indicated might be advantageously diminished. I am frequently told by individuals of sixty years and upward that they have no recollection of any previous period since reaching of mature age at which they possesseda keener relish for food than that which they enjey at least once or twice a day since they adopted the dietary thus described. Such appetite at all events as has rarely offered itself during years paceding, when the choice of food was conventionally limited to the unvarying progression and array of mutton and beef, in joint, chop, and steak, arriving after a strong meat soup, with a possible interlude of fish, and followed by puddings of which the ingredients are chiefly derived from animal sources. The penetrating odors of meat cookery which announce their presence by escape from the kitchen and will pervade the air of other rooms in any private house but a large one, and which are encountered in clubs, restaurants and hotels without stint, alone suffice to blunt the inclination for food of one who, returning from daily occupation, fatigued and fastidious, desires food of easy digestion, attractive in appearance, and unassociated with any element of a repulsive character. The light feeder knows nothing of the annoyances described, finds on his table that which is delightful to a palate sensitive to mild impressions and indisposed to gross and over-powerful ones. After the meal is over, his wit is fresher, his temper more cheerful, and he takes his easy chair to enjoy fireside talk, and not to sink into a heavy slumber, which on awakening is but exchanged for a sense of discontent and stupidity.

Upsetting Moses.

Jim Manly began to talk: "I say, deacon, Darwin's theory of evolution is a little hard on the first chapter of Genesis. Of course we don't know how it will turn out, but it looks a little as though they were going to upset Moses." The deacon made no answer. He surely must have heard Jim's remark. Presently he was observed to be counting his fingers slowly, and with a pause for thought between each enumeration. After a while Jim ventured to ask, "Counting up your saw-logs, deacon, aren't you?" "No," said the deacon, "I'll tell you. Your remark set me thinking. I was just counting up how many times in the course of human history somebody has upset Moses. First of all, two old jugglers named Jannes and Jambres undertook this, but they failed. Then a certain king named Pharaoh went at the work of upsetting. He must have found it more of a work than he anticipated, for he has not reached home yet. Then three leaders of liberal thought—Korah, Dathan and Abiram—went at the job. They failed in the upsetting part, but they secured a bit of ranche for themselves, which they and their children have held in quiet possession until this day. Later on a king named Nebuchadnezzar entered upon the upsetting business. He did not succeed either. He spent seven years eating grass, like a beast, and when he had served out his time he had changed his mind, and was a sadder and wiser man. His successor met with a still greater disaster, in a similar attempt. Since that time there has been no end of persons who tried to upset Moses. Some ancient heathens Celsus and Porphyry and Julian the apostate, and latterly these German critics and scientists, so called, are at the same thing. Years ago, when I was in Boston, I heard of a meeting of free-thinkers at a place called Chapman Hall. I could not resist the temptation to go just once and hear what they said. I found about twenty persons there; three or four of them were women, all the rest men. And what do you suppose they were engaged in? The old enterprise of upsetting Moses. And yet Moses has to-day in the synagogues of Boston more people that preach him than ever before. It is astonishing how much upsetting it takes to upset Moses. It is like upsetting a granite cube. Turn it on which face you will there it stands as solid as ever. The cube is used to being upset, and does not mind it. It always amuses me when I hear a fresh cry from some new quarter, averring that some man whom nobody has ever heard of has found out a sure way of doing what others have failed in. And here comes in Jim Manly, and Moses has to be upset again. Ah, well!" and the deacon sighed. There was roar of laughter that made the rafters of the old saw-mill ring and all joined in except Jim.—National Baptist.

THE CAUSE OF VOLCANOES.—Prof. Joseph Prestwich, of the University of Oxford, argues that the earth must consist of a solid nucleus, surrounded by a molten stratum of no great thickness, which in turn is inclosed by a crust which may be less than twenty miles in thickness. He does not regard the expansion of water—which can hardly penetrate to a greater depth than seven or eight miles—as a primary cause of volcanic action. The presence of aqueous vapor is due alone to the surface and underground waters encountered by the lava in its passage to the surface, and, while it adds greatly to their violence, it does not originate the eruptions. The contraction of the earth from cooling, slow though it be, is sufficient to account for the forcing out of lava, Cordier having long since calculated that five volcanic eruptions annually would shorten the earth's radius only about one-twenty-fifth of an inch in a century.

HONESTY.—Incidents like the following always remain in schoolmates' memories. There ought to be more of them. In a country school, says an old school teacher, a large class was standing to spell. In the lesson was quite a hard word. I put it to the scholar at the head and he missed it.

I passed it to the next, and the next and so on till it came to the last scholar—the smallest of the class. He spelled it correctly, at least I understood him so, and he went to the head, above seventeen boys and girls, all older than himself.

I then turned round and wrote the word on the blackboard, so that they all might see how it was spelled. But no sooner had I written it than the boy at the head cried out—

"Oh, I didn't say it so, Miss Wilson! I said i instead of i."

And he went back to the foot of his own accord, quicker than he had left it.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR ROOM.—A look into the chamber of a boy or girl will give you an idea of what kind of a man or woman he or she will probably become. A boy who keeps his clothes hung up neatly, or a girl whose room is always neat, will be apt to make a successful man or woman. Order and neatness are essential to our comfort as well as that of others about us. A boy who throws down his cap or book anywhere will never keep his accounts in shape; will do things in a slovenly, careless way, and not be long wanted in any position. A girl who does make make her bed until after dinner-and she should always do it herself rather than have a servant do it—and throws her dress or bonnet down on a chair, will make a poor wife in nine cases out of ten. If the world could see how a girl keeps her dressing room many unhappy marriages would be saved.—Anon.
