

QUESTIONS AS TO REGISTRATION

County Attorney Rules on Two Points Where Registrars Were in Error.

BOTH AS TO MATTER OF AGE.

Law is Plain that Persons Over 21 Years, Not Aliens, Are Entitled To Register.

County Atty. Whitaker was today called upon for opinions upon two points of interest to the registrars of the county and also to voters who desire to register. In each case he reversed the decision of the registrar in the district where the question was raised. In district No. 42 a young man who had recently reached the age of 21 years appeared for registration but the registrar refused to register him on the ground that he was not 21 years of age 90 days before the election. This ruling County Atty. Whitaker says is erroneous for the reason that according to the laws a person who becomes of age even on election day is entitled to register and to vote.

The registrar in district No. 30 refused to register a woman because she refused to give her exact age, although she was willing to swear that she was over 21. This ruling the county attorney holds is also wrong as the law requires a person to swear that he or she is 21 years of age or over.

"NOT FOR ME."

Judge Sutherland's Attitude Towards "Americanism."

Chairman Spry of the Republican state committee is in receipt of the following letter from Judge Sutherland: Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 18, 1904.

Hearing from a number of my friends that I had joined the "American party," I desire to state that I do not belong to the "American party" of Utah. I will not join, neither have I or will I affiliate with it. Many of my good old friends have, but long before party lines were drawn, and while a Liberal before the "Liberal party," was so named, and after its formal disbandment, I was a Republican, am yet, and always will be. I have never seen the wisdom, manliness or good politics in disappointed aspirants for office, bolting their party because they were defeated, much less can I endorse the treachery of a voter who bolts to give aid and comfort to the enemy—the opposite party.

I believe the foundation of the "new party" inopportune and founded in spite and disappointed ambition and loyalty to the spirit of the old "Liberal party."

I understand one "A. T. Sutherland" is published as having signed the roll of the American party of Utah, and my friends have thought it to be me. My initials are A. G., not A. T. I am the father of George Sutherland, shall stand with my party and vote the Republican ticket from Theodore Roosevelt throughout. Very truly,

A. G. SUTHERLAND.

WISCONSIN IN THE BALANCE.

Former Gov. Peck Sees Chances Of State Making a Change.

"I am not making any prophecies," said ex-Gov. George W. Peck of Wisconsin last night at the Auditorium, "but it remains to be seen whether Gov. La Follette can beat the Democrats and his own party. If the Germans get a notion that they do not like President Roosevelt's imperialism or his militarism, the state will go to the Republicans. However, nobody knows what they think. The issue between the followers of Gov. La Follette and the Democrats is on the appointment of a rate committee to regulate the railroads. The Democrats want one elected by the people and the other side wants one appointed by the governor."—Chicago Record-Herald.

building was crowded almost to suffocation and the principal speaker was Hon. George Sutherland, who, in a masterly manner, discussed national issues, pointing out the prosperity of the nation under Republican administration and predicting a continuation thereof in the event of Republican victory at the polls in November next.

Mr. Sutherland also paid attention to the irrigation question and incidentally referred to the new movement, stating that there was absolutely no excuse for the existence of an "American" party in this state. The Republicans, he averred, could settle their own differences without the formation of such an organization as that referred to. The speaker alluded to the loyalty of the people of Utah, and said that in no state of the Union, or on the earth for that matter, was there a more loyal people than the majority of the residents of this commonwealth. His remarks were cheered to the echo, and many a shout throughout was much enjoyed by all present. A number of local candidates also made brief addresses and there was a good musical program, making the meeting more than ordinarily attractive.

Mr. Sutherland spoke at Charleston and Midway in the afternoon, and was assisted by Hon. Albin H. Hatch, J. C. Wilson, Judge Thomas F. Watson, J. W. Musser and others. Instrumental music was furnished by the Charleston brass band, which accompanied the speakers to Heber and discoursed stirring strains at that place.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

There are yet 10,000 unregistered voters in Salt Lake county. This means that there will be something doing on Nov. 1 and 2, the remaining days for registration.

Hon. James M. Brinson of Colorado will speak at Bingham Junction for the Democrats Tuesday night. He will be assisted by W. H. Bramel and Ray Van Cott.

The "book stack" room of the new Packard library is under cover, and the entire structure is over two-fifths completed. It is believed that more terra cotta is being used in this building than in any other building in town. The material is being received from New York. All of the ornamentations in the walls is of this nature, and as the color is the same as of the stone itself, no difference is distinguishable to the one-half of what the cut stone would be.

MRS. SAM NEWHOUSE AND HER 12 TRUNKS

What New York American Says Of Salt Lake Millionaire's Wife.

HER POPULARITY IN LONDON.

New Version of Her Early Life Before Her Husband Struck It Rich in Colorado.

A little woman, quietly but richly gowned, descended the plank when the Oceanic was made fast yesterday, and, accompanied by a maid, hurried unobserved to "N," where she awaited the coming of a customs inspector, says the New York American of Oct. 13.

Even when she mentioned her name to this official and convinced him that she was Mrs. Newhouse, of London, and that the 12 trunks bearing her tags merely contained the clothing necessary for a short visit to the United States, no unusual attention was attracted to her, and she drove away in the pier like one of the great unidentified.

The traveler was formerly cook and maid of all work in a squalid mining camp at the top of a mountain peak west of Denver; but now Mrs. Samuel Newhouse, wife of a favorite in the most exclusive social set in London, a welcome visitor among the "490" of New York, a charming hostess and the chief inspiration of a devoted husband who counts his wealth by the millions.

Mr. Newhouse owns the "Platiron Building," several mine railroads in Colorado, half a dozen lead, copper and silver mines, and though his attention for his wife is all embracing, persistently clings to the soil from which he dug his wealth, and makes his home in Salt Lake City, where Mrs. Newhouse frequently visits him.

The romance of the Newhouses is one of the millions of tales of adventure possible only in the United States.

As youth and maid—he just out of the twenties, she 16, a little Southern maid—they met in Denver 20 years ago. Newhouse temporarily abandoned his plans for a fortune to win the heart and hand of Miss Newhouse.

When he had won her—as he did after a few months' courtship—the two mounted a pair of mules and started up the trail to a claim that "Sam" had his eyes on. There were a score or more prospectors up there, and when Mrs. Newhouse arrived, she found that she was the sole woman among them all she set to work and did the cooking, washing and ironing for the camp.
