

on an imposing scale at the city's expense. It is expected that the longest procession in the history of Leadville will follow the remains to the cemetery.

The council decided to allow the saloons to reopen tomorrow morning.

There is grave fear on all sides that unless martial law is at once declared, serious acts of violence will occur. It is known that more than 500 new model Winchesters are in possession of the rioters, as well as large supplies of dynamite, and the cooler heads here are gravely troubled over this fact. Every unusual sound creates alarm, and with the majority it is not a question of probability, but a most intense anxiety to know at what point or points the undoubtedly contemplated trouble will occur.

Gen. Brooks is on the alert and has his troops well placed and capable of quick concentration, but this has little effect in allaying apprehension.

President Amburn of the Miners' Union has disappeared. Secretary Dewar, whose wife says he has not been at home since last Saturday, was in the city yesterday.

ROCKPORT, Ind., Sept. 23.—The annual meeting of the Army of the Cumberland opened in this city today, and will continue until Thursday evening.

Owing to the ill health of Gen. William B. Rosecrans, who is president of the Army of the Cumberland, he will not be able to be present. Gen. Barnett of Cleveland, O., will be the presiding officer of the reunion. This afternoon officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—While the story of the sinking of the German gunboat Lilla has already been told, the Doris, which arrived from the Orient yesterday, brought additional particulars as to the death of all but eight of her crew. After the vessel struck on the reef near the promontory and began to break up, it was realized by the officers and men that no human efforts could save them. The majority of the crew were gathered aloft, where Commander Braun and the officers of the watch and Lieut. Prasse were standing on the bridge. At the moment of the gravest danger the captain gathered the doomed crew about him and called upon them to give three cheers for the emperor. They were given with a will and waving their hats at the flag that floated over them the brave sailors showed their fidelity to the fatherland and took a farewell of life.

While the cheer was going on the ship broke in two near the foremast. The masts toppled and fell and as they went down they crashed through the bridge and swept several of the men into the sea with the rigging. Just as a big wave came curling toward the lost vessel Gunner Raehn requested the men to join in singing the national hymn. They grasped each others' hands and with their voices mingling with the howling of the storm they went down to death in the sea.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A Singapore dispatch to the Times says that the viceroy of Nagking has issued a proclamation forbidding the transferring of land at Wu-Sung to foreigners, because the improving of the river at Wu-Sung will make that port a greater port than Shanghai.

WESTERN NEWS ITEMS.

California is to have its state poultry fair in January, beginning about the 6th.

The annual conference of the Methodist ministers of Arizona will be held in Phoenix, Arizona, on October 8th.

The promoters of the new sugar factory at Anaheim, Cal., contemplate having it under roof by December 1st.

Says the Pomona, Cal., Times: The Russian thistle is extending itself over this section of country. It is a growing and spreading nuisance, one that everybody ought to cut down and cast into the fire.

Alice Jane Wilson, aged 13, by her guardian, Maria J. Wilson, has sued Christian J. Oley for $10,000 damages at Oakland, Cal. It is alleged that the child was bitten by Oley's dog and injured for life.

George Wolf of Barstow, Cal., was thrown from his cart in the Santa Cruz mountains Saturday afternoon and fell over a grade, a drop of nearly fifty feet. He received frightful injuries, and died Monday.

At Conterville early Monday morning John Verneti shot and killed Louis Brusch. Verneti is a shift boss in the Tyrol mine, and the murdered man was the keeper of a saloon in the camp. The two had been drinking and got into a quarrel.

Chris Taylor, a miner of Castle Creek, Arizona, was brought into Prescott the other day to be treated for scraw worms in the head. He has been suffering intensely for several days, and was almost crazed when brought into Prescott. Over 700 worms were taken from his head, and his palate has been nearly eaten up by the pest.

Monday morning the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. Holmes, a milkman living on Gordon Head road, near Victoria, B. C., was dangerously wounded by a pistol shot. Young Holmes and a neighbor's son were playing with the pistol when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered the abdomen, cutting through the intestines and inflicting a fatal wound.

Irao Cullberg, president of the Arcata Home Savings bank at Eureka, Cal., met with a serious accident on Monday. While returning to his home in Arcata, his horse stumbled on a raised rail of the streetcar track, and falling broke his neck. The sudden stoppage of the buggy overtook him and threw Mr. Cullberg into the road, breaking his right thigh in two places. Owing to his advanced age, 73 years, it is considered doubtful that he will survive the shock.

The Wyoming board of charities and reform has received advice that the last Wyoming convict in the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet has been discharged. The name of the discharged convict is Ben Rodgers, alias Ben Rice, and was sent up for a term of eight years from Uinta county in April, 1891, for burglary. His time was reduced by good behavior. At one time Wyoming had over one hundred convicts in the Joliet pen and in 1892 there were 41 prisoners.

Edward Sutherland was arrested Monday on a charge of murdering Henry Bruso near Oakland, Oregon. Henry Bruso and George Nolte were at the home of James Brown, near Oakland, Saturday, and while drinking they became involved in a quarrel as to whether or not Brown's baby should be given a drink of liquor. Brown ordered them out of his house. Edward Sutherland followed them out and struck Bruso over the head with a heavy stick. Bruso remained unconscious until tonight, when he died.

A great crowd gathered at Eighth and Washington streets, Oakland, Cal., Tuesday night, when a little woman threw her hands in the air with a shriek and sank to the sidewalk. She lost consciousness but soon revived and was taken to her home. Her name was Mrs. Joseph McCutcheon and it was found that earlier in the evening she had been a party to a family misunderstanding, which ended in a row and she received a blow which did not affect her until some hours afterward. Who delivered the blow she will not say. A couple of months ago Joseph McCutcheon, her husband, it is said, ill-treated his wife at the same corner and then requested a policeman to arrest her.

News from Lander, Wyoming, says: Abe Foster, whose sheep have been stopping in Jackson's Hole, has just returned to this city from that point. Mr. Foster says that his men on the trail reported to him that they had been stopped by thirty mounted men armed with Winchesters. They were told to go back because they did not intend that they should destroy the winter feed of the elk that always come to that neighborhood in the fall. On the arrival of Mr. Foster the same citizens who had the dead line, told him he must drive his sheep back as they had the necessary force to compel obedience to their orders; that they could and would muster 150 men if necessary. Mr. Foster chanced to be well acquainted with quite a number of the men, and after a good deal of talk they agreed that the sheep should pass through and they are now in one of the passes which crosses the mountains into the upper Wind river country.

OBITUARY NOTES.

MARY ROSE BUTTERWORTH.

At her home in East Mill Creek, Monday, Sept. 21, 1896, at a few minutes to eight o'clock p. m., there died of natural causes Mary Rose Butterworth, wife of the late Wm. Butterworth. She was born at Oundle, Northamptonshire, England, July 12, 1825; she, with her husband, embraced the Gospel at an early day, emigrating to America in 1869. After remaining a few years in Brooklyn, New York, she came with her family to Utah. The deceased was a Latter-day Saint in all the term implies—a devoted wife, a loving mother, charitable to a fault, beloved by all who knew her. She has gone to her well earned rest, leaving a numerous posterity to mourn her loss. Funeral services will be held at the East Mill Creek meeting house on Thursday, Sept. 24th, at 11 a. m. Friends of the family invited.—[Com.]

ELIZABETH R. BROWN.

Elizabeth Robb Brown departed this life at Winter Quarters, Utah, September 6th, 1896. The funeral services were held in the Winter Quarters meeting house, on Tuesday the 8th. Consoling remarks were made by Elders Andrew