ECONOMY OF WARM STABLES.

In the Home and Farm, Waldo F. Brown has the following to say on the economical and other advantages of a warm shelter for the stock: "I have experimented enough to convince me that the amount of food required for two animals exposed to cold and storms in winter, will keep three in better condition, if they are kept in a warm stable and furnished with a warm bed, and that cows will give a third more milk, if warmly stabled than if exposed to cold and storms. This last statment will be new without doubt to some of our readers, and it is only since the invention of the Babcock test that it became an established fact, but this little machine tells exactly the amount of butter fat in the milk, and shows that the cow exposed to the cold has the power to take the

is rapid and destructive, and finally ends in consamption. It frequently happens that the senses of hearing and smell are in part or entirely lost, the soft bones of the nose eaten into and destroyed, causing intense suffering and greatly disfiguring the face. and far beyond the reach of mere local remedies. Those who rely upon them for a cure lose valuable time, meet with disapsointment and allow the disease to take firmer hold. Only a real blood remedy can reach this troublesome and dangerous disease. S. S. S cures Catarrh because it first cleanses and builds up the blood, purifies it, makes it rich and healthy, stimulates and puts new life into the sluggish worn-out organs, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous accumulations.

Mrs. Josephine Polhill, of Due West, S. C., writes: "I had Catarrh, which became so deep-sented that I was entirely dest in one car, and all inside of my nose, including part of the bone, slonghed off. When the discase had gone this far the physician gave me up as includals. I determined to try S. S. S. as a last resort, and began to improve at once. It seemed to get at the sent of the disease, and after a few weeks' treatment I was entirely cured, and for more than "seen years have had no sign of the disease."

S. S. S. is made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful tonical and purifying properties. It is the only vegetable blood purifier known, and a certain and safe oure for all blood troubles. FEEDING CALVES.

In his article on the "Feeding and Management of Cattle," for the Bureau of Animal Industry, Prof. Henry gives some very practical suggestions for the feeding of calves. He advises taking the calf away from the mother not later than the third day, giving it, for two weeks thereafter, from ten to fifteen pounds of full milk, not less frequently than three times a day. At the end of two weeks some skim milk may be sub-stituted for a portion of the full milk, making the change gradually until in three or four weeks skim milk only is fed. Full milk of the Jersey or Guernsey cow is often too rich for the calf, and part skimmed milk should be used from the very start. At the end of a month or six weeks the calf will do nicely on two feeds per day. Cows' milk has a nutritive ratio of 1 to 3.7. In skim milk the ratio is 1 to 2.1. Skim milk contains all the elements of full milk excepting the fat, and we can in a measure make up for this with cheaper substitutes. Probably the best simple substitute is flax seed, which should be boiled until reduced to a jelly, and stirred in the milk. Oil meal is che small quantity given at each feed than flax seed, more easily obtained, and serves practically the same purhalter in confortable quarters, with a rack in front for hay and a bex for meal. For feed use either whole or ground oats, bran, oil meal, or a mix-ture of these. By the third week have a
