McElvay, Mrs. Anna Lewis, Asa Harper, J. Campbell, T. B. Jones, J. G. Walker, Mrs. Evans, Frank E. Haven, George S. Freeman, Charles McFarland, Miss M. A. Burke and H. N. Greene. THE St. Mark's fair opens in the Salt Lake Theatre this evening at 8 o'clock. The Smithsonian concert singers will give a number of selections between the scenes. There will be a grand ball on Wednesday night, which will be the closing night. YESTERDAY'S Herald says "Kenner's lecture on 'The Utah Situation' was delivered in Logan on Saturday evening to a large audience in the Tabernacle." Mr. Kenner did not lecture in Logan at all. It is reported that he will lecture there on Wednesday, but the rumor is not confirmed. LOCAL NEWS. STAKE CONFERENCE. The regular quarterly conference of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the Assembly Hall next Saturday and Sunday, 13th and 14th inst., at 10 o'clock a.m. A general attendance is requested. ANGUS M. CANNON, JOSEPH E. TAYLOR, CHARLES W. PENROSE, Presidency of the Stake. Sent to Detroit.—The following dispatch has been received: PRESS-COAST, A. T., Dec. 7th, 1884. Editor Deseret News: A. M. Tenney, P. J. Christofferson and C. L. Kemp started to Detroit this morning, and W. J. Flake and J. N. Skonsen to Yuma. D. K. UDALL. Lost a Foot.—Eusebio Ramella, eight and a half years of age, had his foot badly crushed on Saturday afternoon in the Fifth Ward, by an incoming Utah Central freight train. He was playing near the track, and it is said trying to climb on the train and fell. He was taken to Dr. Benedict's office, where his foot was amputated. He is doing as well as can be expected. Pleasing Entertainment.—The entertainment given by the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement and Dramatic Associations of the Fourth Ward, in the Ward School-house Friday evening, was a success. Some of the features were extremely good. It drew a full house, and the audience showed their appreciation by frequent applause. There was only one thing unpleasant about it—the noisy and boisterous conduct of some of the juveniles. President Cannon at the 18th Ward.—President George Q. Cannon delivered an excellent discourse last evening at the 18th Ward Chapel. The subject was the agency of man—the privilege of doing good or evil, and the inevitable results that follow either course. The chapel was crowded and a happy feeling prevailed. The speaker's remarks were dictated by the Holy Spirit, and were instructive wise and timely. The singing of the choir was a notable feature, and the services were much enjoyed by all. Emma Abbott's Return.—The announcement is made that the Emma Abbott Opera Company will be in Salt Lake during the week of December 22d, on its second trip to the Pacific Coast, with a company increased in numbers and effectiveness and a repertoire that has seldom or never been equaled in grandeur and interest by any troupe in the country. We can all count on something new and brilliant in the engagement of this energetic and favorite prima donna. Her desire and determination to please find resources and means at every hand. Famous artists are glad to engage with her, for they have the opportunity to appear in great roles and in the most brilliant and popular grand opera. Each season finds her with a better company and better patronized, the present being a marked example. Thus far she has sung in ten of the principal cities, including Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Washington and Chicago, to large audiences, and has been received in the most flattering manner everywhere.

A HAMMERED "HERO."

A "TRIBUNE" REPORTER COMES TO GRIEF—A TURNING AS WOULD'N'T BE TURNED.

On Friday last the Salt Lake Tribune published over its Ogden scribbler's nose de plume a paragraph in which it stated that the writer had been reliably informed that Mr. Fred Turner, manager of the Logan Co-op, had recently married Miss Sarah Cardon as his second wife. In another squib it was said that Logan, being an out-of-the-way place, had been found by those who wished to break the law a very desirable place in which to do so.

Of course the Tribune correspondent any more than the Tribune itself, knew nothing of the kind in relation to Mr. Turner. He is no more a polygamist than the manager of the Logan Co-op. Both are misstatements. But as he is a public official in the city and county where he resides, and the disapproval of "Liberal" gang are eternally splitting out their vengeance against the incumbents of the places they themselves last after but cannot be ejected to the floating rumor.

It was even that much—in respect to the gentleman named, was more than sufficient to build a Tribune slander on. Apropos of this, it is the custom of that sheet, when detected in a lie of this kind, to seek shelter behind the flimsy breast-work that what it charges as a crime is not so considered by "Mormons," and that therefore even if not true, no "Mormon" should be offended at it. The users of this soporific entirely ignore the fact that those people do not care to have their names mentioned, even in compliment, by such a paper as the Tribune, and furthermore that what to those scribblers is simply rumor and to those better informed simple pure lying, is accepted in many instances by registration officers as truth, and names of citizens so accounted are stricken from the voting list, without a word being heard in their defense, or they are made to take again and again the infamous test oath, (as often as some officious deputy hears that they have transgressed the law) the only alternative of their names being permitted to remain. If the accused is an office-holder, as in Mr. Turner's case, forthwith, without the slightest foundation for it, there is blown to the four winds a rumor respecting his illegibility to office.

But to resume. Mr. Turner, happening to come to town on Friday, had his attention called to the Tribune article, and determined to pursue the matter to its villainous source. He called twice at the Tribune office, without being able to see the reporter. The third time, however, Mr. C. C. Goodwin was in, and Mr. Turner requested a retraction of the charge in question. This was refused, on the score of its being reliable information, but Mr. Turner was told that anything he might wish to say over his own signature by way of reply, would be published. His answer was that he thought too much of his name to have it appear in such a paper as the Tribune, and next determined to have an interview with "Hero," who was understood to be in the city. This too was refused. Mr. Turner left the office with a libel suit in his eye, but finally concluded to seek satisfaction of his heroic traducer in person.

The two met at the Ogden depot yesterday morning. "Hero," or to call him by his proper name McDaniels, was on the U. P. platform with a bundle of papers under his arm, when Mr. Turner approached him and said: "Believe your name is McDaniels?" "Yes, sir," was the reply. "My name is Turner, from Logan. Do you believe the piece you wrote was true?" "Yes, sir."

"Will you please give the name of your informant?" "No, sir."

"I demand it right here or you," said Mr. Turner.

"I will not give it to you," replied McDaniels, in a very insulting manner.

Mr. Turner then boxed his ears right and left. The "Hero" then picked up a large rock and attempted to strike Mr. Turner on the top of the head with it, the latter being of shorter stature. Mr. Turner threw off the aim with his left arm, and planting a quick blow with his right, knocked McDaniels down. His nose bled freely and he was somewhat bruised. Mr. Turner gave himself up to the officers, and the case was set for hearing at 8 o'clock the next day.

At the appointed hour he went before Alderman Farr, pleaded guilty to the charge of assault and battery, and was fined $15, which he paid, and was discharged. McDaniels did not appear.

Excommunicated.—A few days since we mentioned an alleged case of gross immorality in the Sixth Ward of this city, the action of the Church in relation to which had been deferred on account of the absence of Bishop Hickenlooper from the city. He having returned, however, the investigation of the affair, under his direction, was completed. The result is that, in accordance with the judgment of the Bishop's Court of the Sixth Ward, Sarah Winter and Thomas G. Winter were, on Saturday last, excommunicated from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Leavitt's All Star Gigantic Varieties.—This novelty appears at the Salt Lake Theatre on Thursday and Friday nights. A company selected by Mr. Leavitt personally from the best European and American artists for his fifth annual tour from ocean to ocean. After playing one week in Chicago they jump to this city and thence, without stopping, to San Francisco for four more weeks. No better guarantee of their strength can be given than that they are engaged for a four weeks stand in San Francisco. For details see programmes.

Several days since, in the Ontario mine, Park City, an accident occurred which came near proving fatal to two or three miners. A giant powder explosion was exploded and the smoke and fumes issuing from the blast came near causing death by suffocation. Three were carried out of the shaft insensible, but we were informed the men resumed work the next day.

The merchants of Park City are as patient, long-suffering, kind-hearted folk as any to be found anywhere on earth. Among other things these merchants pay the Union Pacific Railroad a good round sum for transporting their goods to Park City, and the said road performs its service by bringing them part way and leaving them to be transported the rest of the way by rail and a half below town, and the consignees have the fun of the balance of the transportation all to themselves.

The Fourth Quorum of Seventies met at the 1st Ward meeting house to-morrow evening at 7.30.

PERSONAL.

F. W. Beane, Esq., for some time engaged as Trial Despatcher in the Central Pacific office at Ogden, has severed his connection with it and left this morning for the East. His wife accompanies him.

Hon. Lorin Farr, of Ogden, came to the city this morning.

President L. W. Sherrill arrived on the U. C. train this morning. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Beardsley are in town.

Cavalier Luigi Hanacker, Italian Consul General of New Caledonia, wife, valet and maid, left for New York this morning, over the D. & R. G.

Charles W. Nibley, Esq., came down from Logan last evening. He returns home on Wednesday.

E. B. Thomas, Esq., general manager of the Bee Line, with headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, is at the Continental Hotel.

The Davis Stake Conference.—The Davis Stake Conference at Eagleville, on the 6th and 7th inst., was numerously attended and was very interesting. On Saturday the usual business was transacted and a number of wards were represented by their respective Bishops. Elder B. H. Richards gave the pleasing account of the labors of the Elders and the persecutions attending them in the Southern States. In the afternoon Apostle John W. Taylor delivered a discourse on the evils of the times and the duties of the Saints.

On Sunday morning Elder C. W. Taylor occupied the pulpit on the practical duties of the Saints and the Teacher's Priesthood. In the afternoon, after the authorities were sustained, Apostle F. D. Richards preached a discourse in the same line of thought as the morning's remarks, and dwelling in detail on the duties of the various officers in the Church, and the different societies organized as auxiliaries, and showing how they could mutually aid in rooting out evil and establishing righteousness. President W. R. Smith made a few pointed remarks on several timely topics. The singing under Elder Joseph Barton, was excellent. The meeting house was crowded in every part.

Returned Elders.—Elder Ira N. Hinckley, Jr., of Fillmore, returned on Saturday the 6th inst., from New Zealand, where he has been laboring as a missionary for nearly two years and eight months. The first ten months he labored among Europeans on Middle Island and met with little success. After this he was called to North Island and there, in company with Elder Alma Greenwood, commenced his labors among the Maories. They were treated with the greatest hospitality by the natives, who listened to them attentively and many of them received the truth. He personally baptized 102 souls, about 100 of them Maories. They receive most readily the new doctrines the whites are most apt to reject or call in question, such as the calling of the Prophet Joseph Smith, the organization of the Church, with Apostles and Prophets, with gifts and blessings, the coming forth of the Book of Mormon, etc. They have great faith in the healing ordinance, and the Elders have much administering to do. Elder Hinckley enjoyed his labors very much, had excellent health, and feels thankful for the school of experience he has just passed through. He met with no ill-treatment from the natives, and only tongue abuse from the Europeans. Elder N. L. Lund, of Mt. Pleasant, Sanpete County, returned last night from Minnesota. He left for the Northern States mission the 10th of April, 1888, and labored first in the above named State for several weeks, and then in Dakota through the summer, with Elder S. Jacobson. They returned to Minnesota about the 1st of November. At the December Conference he was appointed to labor in Meeker County and other places, and did so during the winter, with Elder Loutsenough. In the spring he labored with Elder Breinholt in Meeker and neighboring counties, and spent the summer in Dakota. They returned to Minnesota about the 1st of November, and labored till December 1st, when Elder Lund was released. He baptized four persons and assisted at two other baptisms. He met no ill-treatment to speak of, found many kind people, but few who were willing just now to receive the Gospel. He labored principally among the Scandinavians. His health has not suffered, though there the climate in winter is severe.

Hanson Bound Over.—We left our report of this case Saturday after the examination of the defendant. At 1.30 p.m. Angus M. Cannon and Edward Schoenfeldt were questioned, the former as to the recommendation which Hanson had claimed he had given him in order to obtain admission to enter the Endowment House; but his recollection did not justify his statement positively that he ever handled such a document, as a great number of such papers had passed through his hands. Edward Schoenfeldt testified to the effect that he had given defendant a recommendation, but could not remember whether a request had been made to allow defendant to go through the Endowment House as an interpreter or not. It might have been, but if so it had slipped from his memory.

The Prosecuting Attorney then asked that defendant be held for unlawful copulation to answer to the Grand Jury. Hanson said he could not understand this, he was sure he had a clear case.

Commissioner McKay informed defendant that in his opinion there was probable cause for holding him, and fixed the bail at $1,000; and that Mrs. Valentine and Ludwig Hansen would be required to furnish, besides their own recognizance, sufficient security for their appearance, and their securities were fixed at $250 each. Bonds were given by all.

A Report Denied.—The Tribune of yesterday states that it is the intention of the D. & R. G. W. to extend their road into the northern country in the spring, and that a third rail will be laid between here and Ogden, to enable the Central Pacific people to run their cars into Salt Lake over the D. & R. G. W. Our reporter called upon Mr. Bagnor, receiver of the road last night, this morning, who said there were no grounds for such a statement, and that there is nothing in it.

Card of Thanks.—To Bishop Milton Atwood and Counselors, and the sisters of the Relief Society of the 13th ward, in administering to the necessities of my family, in a trying hour in the death of my beloved daughter, I wish to thank also Henry Clay Shelton and wife for their kind and unexpected assistance. Their good deeds will surely be recorded in heaven.

War H. Miller, District Court.—The case of Tennant vs. Ayerton, occupied the attention of Judge James all of Saturday afternoon. Counsel for defendant moved for a non-suit, which was argued at length, but was overruled. Exceptions taken, and further testimony was taken. Defendant was on the stand when adjournment was taken. Case resumed this morning and still in progress.
