Saturday, ... May 17, 1684. THE MURRAY INVESTIGATION. COMMITTEE.

REPRESENTATIVE WHITE'S APPENDIX Q. Previous to 1876 what was his character for truth and veracity in the neighborhood in which he lived?

A. In the neighborhood in which he lived?

lived?
Q. Yes; in Louisville.
A, I knew him only in a general way as a deputy marshal, and I don't know that I ever heard any discussion about it one way or the other until those differences arose there at Louisville in connection with the marshal. Q. Had you previous to that ever heard anything to his discredit?
A. I think not.
Q. You knew he was a deputy marshal there?

A. Yes. Q. You saw him frequently about the A. Yes; I saw him about the court building very often, and knew of no change in his position there until he was discharged by General Murray. Q. Do you know whether he enjoyed the confidence of the bar, and of the court during his connection with it?

A. I can only say that up to this disturbance I never heard anything one way or the other about him in that regard; and probably it is a fair answer to your question to say that after that he did not enjoy the confidence of all. To what extent I do not know; my intercourse with him was purely official; I only know that after Mr. O'Neill was appointed marshal I was in the court one day when the judge of the court made an order, which was announced, reciting that Diven was not a proper person to be a marshal, and removed him.

Mr Van Alstyne. Q. Did Judge Ballard make any explanation in connection with his state-ments about Diven? A. I can answer generally that he did.
I can tell you what he said it you desire it, as far as I remember it.

kecause of his discharge from his posi-tion as deputy, and that he set out for the purpose of seeking his revenge up-on the marshal. Judge Ballard had the highest confidence, perhaps I should say in that connection, in the integrity of General Murray and perhaps did not regard with patience the assaults made upon him. I never heard Judge Bal-lard say anything in reference to Mr. Diven except in connection with his conclust spiring out of these charges.

Diven except in connection with his conduct arising out of these charges.

By the Chairman:

Q. You never heard anything to his discredit except as you have stated?

A. No; I never heard anything about him one way or the other, except in connection with this matter.

Q. Are you acquainted with Representative John D. White, of Kentucky?

A. Yes. sir.

A.Yes, sir.
Q. What is his reputation in that
State for truth and verseity?
Mr. Stewart, I don't know that I

Mr. Stewart. I don't know that I ought to object to that question, but I do not think it is proper.

The Chairman. He has been charged with having lied here, and I think it would be well to protect him, as he is a member of the House.

Mr. Van Alstyne. I think as a member of the House his reputation ought to carry the presumption that it is above suspicion. It has been assalled only incidentally by Governor Murray. If Mr. White wishes to defend himself against that assault, let him seek the opportunity. I do not think the committee need to follow it down.

Mr. Stewart. I think it is quite improper. It is charge against charge. Mr. White has charged Governor Murray with certain acts of malfeasance in form of inquiry. Judge Harian can state whatever the Attorney-General state whatever the Attorney-General said. That is proper.

The Witness. I have not the slightest objection to answering the question.

Mr. Van Alstyne. He has stated in substance that he informed the Attorney-General that if a political necessity did exist, then marshal Murray would tender his resignation.

mittee desire it.

Q. Civil service had not obtained to any extent at that time. But that office does not fall within the line of the civil-service rules?

that his resignation would be accepted; which I interpreted, as any one would interpret it as a request to resign, whether I saw that letter at Louisville or here I do not now recall, but in the course of conversation with the Attorney-General, after he had expressly disclaimed any purpose to reflect upon the official or personal integrity of General Murray, I said to him has substance that "one difficulty in the way of his sending a resignation." "I take it for granted," I said to him, "that this letter is on the flies of your Department, and that hereafter, when you have retired from office and he has retired from office, your successor and others will find there such a letter, and it will be unexplained; and I see difficulty in the way of General Murray sending a letter of resignation so long as that letter of resignation so long as that letter of resignation will be unexplained; and I see difficulty in the way of General Murray sending a letter of resignation." "I take it for general said, very promptly, "Well, in the consider it withdrawn." "But there it is on the flies of your Department," and I. He replied, "Well, if will neet that difficulty; I will tear it out, or have it torn out." I said that would be satisfactory.

Q. It does not appear in the papers anywhere that the Attorney-General did so, but I suppose he did withdraw it from the fles!

A. Yes; I never saw it in the letterbooks or fles office, but I do not doubt books or fles office, but I do not doubt books or fles office, but I do not doubt be attended to the latter which was sent to

A. Yes; I never saw it in the letter-books or files office, but I do not doubt that I saw the letter which was sent to General Murray that I saw the letter which was sent to General Murray.

Q. Did it state the reason for asking his resignation or saying that they would accept his resignation?

A. No, sir; my recollection is that there was no reason assigned at all.

Q. And that letter the Attorney-General stated that he would withdraw or tear from the files?

A. Yes, sir. Of course General Murray, and I naturally as his counsel, attached some consequence to the letter, even in that form, in view of that fact that an agent of the Department had been to Louisville; and that is why I came here as General Murray's counsel to know what the charges were, and to meet them.

came here as General Murray's counsel to know what the charges were, and to reciting that Diven was not a proper person to be a marshal, and removed him.

Q. that was on the motion of Marshal Murray?

A. I do not know.

Mr. Stewart. Is that a question or statement.

The Chairman. I am asking the question.

The Witness. I do not know anything on the subject. The first that I knew of it was the announcement in which the district judge, Judge Ballard, held him.

Q. You may state that. I do not know what estimate anybody had of him; I am asking for information.

A. Frequently after the troubles commenced, I heard Judge Ballard say that he had entirely lost confidence in him as an officer and a man. But I ought to say that I have no personal knowledge of Mr. Diven's habits and ways other than as I would see him backwards and forwards about the building.

By Mr. Van Alstyne.

Came here as General Murray's counsel to know what the charges were, and to know what he charges were, and to know what the charges were, and to know what bearing it to know what the charges were, and to know what the charges were, and to know what bearing it to know what bearing it is may have one way or the other. When General Murray's name was sent to the Senate as governor of Utah (the date I do not now recall), it was published in the papers that is somebody had filed some charges before one of the committees of the Senate in reference to his conduct while he was marshal of the State of Kentucky, and I received a telegram from him requesting me to go to the Department. of Justice—that was the substance of it—and inquire whether any charges had been made there against him as marshal, or any report affecting General Murray's conduct as marshal for the State of Kentucky, and the response was that there was no such report on file.

By the Chairman:

Q. Who was the Attorney-General then?

A. General Devens.

A. General Devens.
Q. What time was this?
A. I do not remember the date, but it was toward the close of Mr. Hayes's Q.That. was Governor Murray's second nomination?

A. No: it was his first. I believe his

Governor of Utah?

Governor Murray. In 1880.

That was the time. It was when his can be that I made that inquiry for him. That is the only other fact I recall that seems to bear upon the matter in any way.

Hon. John G. Carlisle, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, appeared and was examined.

and was examined.

By Mr. Wilson;
Q. You were a member of the Kentucky bar, and residing in Covington during the administration of General Murray as marshal of that State?

A. Yes, sir; during the whole time,
Q. Are you acquainted with his reputation in Kentucky as an officer and as a gentleman of integrity? If so, please state what it is and what it was in 1876.

Mr. Van Alstyne. Before the Speaker answers that question I wish to say, Mr. Chairman, that it strikes me that ought to object to that question, but I do not think it is proper.

The Chairman. He has been charged with having lied here, and I think it would be well to protect him, as he is a member of the House.

Mr. Van Aistyne. I think as a member of the House his reputation ought to carry the presumption that it is above suspicion. It has been assalled only incidentally by Governor Murray. If Mr. White wishes to defend himself against that assault, let him seek the opportunity. I do not think the committee need to follow it down.

Mr. Stewart. I think it is quite improper. It is charge against charge. Mr. White has charged Governor Murray repels the charge and says it is false. I don't think that lays a foundation for such a question.

The Chairman. I have on objection to that view. Mr. White has not been apprised, so far as I know, of these charges of Governor Murray, unless he has seen them in the papers.

Mr. Stewart. Well, they make a fair offset against each other, Mr. White hear fair offset against each other, Mr. White being a scoundrel.

Mr. Wilson. It was announced yesterial was not been as a sum of course.

Mr. Wilson. It was announced yesterial was not been as a sum of course.

Mr. Wilson. It was announced yesterial was not hear fair offset against that Mr. White welld.

Mr. Wilson. It was announced yesterial was not hear fair of the charge of the first of the charge of the House.

Mr. Stewart. I think it is quite improper. It is charge dovernor fair and from any witness who knew of any improper act of Governor Murray while he was maras and hearsay in the third degree.

After a brief discussion it was decided to hear the testimony.

A. I think I know what General Murray's reputation was in in Kentucky at that time and what it is now. I think he stands as high I mean that the stands as high I mean that the permanental propers.

Mr. Stewart well, they make a fair offset against each other, Mr. White welld.

charged Governor Murray openly with being a scoundrel.

Mr. Wilson. It was announced yesterday morning that Mr. White would be here, and I expressed a desire that he should be here.

Mr. Hemphili. I do not think we can go into details as to the character of all our witnesses, or we shall never get through.

By Mr. Van Alstyne:

Q. Did you understand from the conversation you had with the attorney-general that a political necessity did exist for the retirement, of General Murray from the office of marshal of Kentucky?

A. He did not say so.

Q. Did you draw it as a legitlmate inference from what he did say that that was his view?

Mr. Stewart. I rather object to that form of inquiry. Judge Harlan can

Q. And you are not acqualuted with

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., April 7, 1884 Sir: Having learned that Mr. Justice Harlan and Mr. Speaker Carlisle have testified before your committee in be-half of Governor Murray, and that with their testimony, in connection with Governor Murray's own statement. By Mr. Van Alstyne:
Q. Did you draw the inference from your conversation with the Attorney-General that that was the purpose or desire of the Attorney-General?
A. I recall at this time very distinctly the conclusion that I reached upon my visit to Washington on that occasion. From what occurred here, added to what I had heard and believed before I came here, my conclusion was that there was a purpose, os political grounds, to get rid not only of General Murray but of Mr. Wharton, the late district attorney. I am entirely willing to state why I thought so, If the committee desire it.

Sir: Having learned that Mr. Justic Harian and Mr. Speaker Carlisle have testified before your committee in be half of Governor Murray, and that wit Governor Murray's own statemen your committee proposes to close to have the restimony, in connection with Governor Murray's own statemen fures in Kentucky during Governor Murray's sumbalship for that State and, furthermore, having learned from your committee the testimony of Governor Murray in his own behalf control worted statements made by me when summoned before your committee therefore I respectfully suggest, if there is no suggest, if there is no suggest in the suggest is not suggest.

A. Well, Judge Ballard came to the conclusion, at least I heard him so say, that Diven's conduct in and about these charges against General Murray was influenced by very bad motives on his part; that he had become enraged because of his discharge from his position as deputy, and that he set out for Governor Murray.
