The Margetts Troupe,-The Margetts dramatic troupe, encouraged by the excellent patronage they met with on their last trip to the North, will leave the City on another tour of the same description, on Wednesday morning. On Wednesday and Thursday nights they will play at Huntsville, and on Friday and Saturday at Ogden; and after that they will make their entertainments in the various settlements on their way South.

Stumps.—Seeing that a quantity of brush and small timber has been tains, a little south of Emigration Cafion, the question as to how the evernment stumpage is to be collected arises. The difficulty might possibly be solved by a government agent visiting the spot, where he the parts in place. would probably find the stumps Between 7 and 8 o'clock last still upon the ground, but the labor of collecting them together would require several ablebodied deputy change for five dollars. While Mrs. marshals to be along; er better, a little exercise would conduce to the better digestion of the stump orators of the "ring," although their inordinate desire to live by the sweat of other people's brows might give them a disinclination to undertake so interesting a job.

The Scandinavian Young Men's Pacific Bonds, 1984; Central Bonds.

The Scandinavian Young Men's meeting, last night, in the City Hall, Elder John Halvorsen presiding, was well attended, and those present were highly edified in listening to the remarks of Elders Junius F. Wells and Edward Stevenson. Brother Wells addressed the Saints for about an heur, exhorting young and old to acquire all useful knowledge, stating that the acquisition of all that was worth knowing was in reality part of our religion. He took a lively interest in the upbuilding of the kingdom of God, the divinity of which he had gained a testimony of through personal investigation. Formerly he sonal investigation. Formerly he had often wondered what could induce his parents to leave a comfortable home in the east and join a people in the wilderness, where apparently nothing but danger and want stared them in the face. This led him to investigate the principles of the gospel, and he had been fully established in the same faith that his parents had striven for.
