THE CITY'S DEBTS.

Now that there is a ray of hope that the conservative citizens of Salt Lake—those who bear the burdens of municipal taxation—will give aid to the conduct of city affairs, it is well for them to look the situation squarely in the face, and determine what course will be best to pursue. There has been a great deal said about the present condition of city finances and the impossibility of running another year without greatly increased taxation, except by creating a very large deficit; but we are in a flourishing condition compared to the appalling state into which the next decade will plunge unless great care and judgment are exercised. Today the bonded indebtedness of the city is $2,500,000, bearing an interest of $127,000 annually. The past year's administration cost $600,000, including interest on bonds of more than $100,000 in excess of its receipts. The estimates for 1886 show an aggregate deficiency of $114,175. The first lot of bond calls for sinking fund reserve of $600,000 per year after 1886, and the whole lot will be on the 10 per cent basis after 1894.

The amount received by the city from property taxation at the present rate is $10,000, or just about what the deficiency for 1886 is estimated to be. To meet the latter will keep even under the proposed economic procedure, will require the property tax to be doubled up to its present figure, and what property holder is ready to welcome that proposition, and keep the slate up for year to year?

Then after three years of this doubled taxation comes the reserve fund operation on the 1888 bonds—$200,000 per annum for their payment; three years later additional $70,000 on the 1891 bonds, one year more, and those added $10,000 on the 1892 bonds, and two years thereafter $90,000 on the 1894 bonds. Thus in less than ten years from now, or in 1894, there must be raised $254,000 annually for the sinking funds on bonds, besides the $127,000 interest, making a total of $381,000 per year to be collected entirely outside of regular municipal expenses.

To meet these obligations on the estimated basis of the estimate for 1886, which is a hundred thousand dollars below the expense of 1885, will require an addition of three and a half times the present property tax—that besides the doubling up referred to—that the property owner will have to pay five and a half times as much as now; that is, if he is paying $1 in city taxes now his assessment by 1895 must add four and a half times that amount, and he must pay $50. Or if in 1886, the city's expenses are cut another $10,000 below 1885, and are kept at that figure for ten years, the property holder will be paying $6 in city tax where he now pays $10 and considers himself heavily burdened.

These figures partly lift the weight off of what we are coming to in Salt Lake City; unfortunately they reveal only the certainties, and all varieties therefore will not make the burden heavier. Within the next ten years, and for a long time thereafter, Salt Lake property owners will pay very dearly for the whetting of the city administration from 1880 to 1885. Such a condition does not appear encouraging for present or prospective owners of real estate, and will go a very long way toward preventing the investment of capital here to that class of property.

This calculation is based on the contract to build bonded obligations as they become due by sinking off the debt. There is one way to meet the case, and that is by issuing bonds to pay one lot after another as soon as they become redeemable, and in less than the 20-year limit. But that is merely a prolongation of the bondage of debt, though it is probably the only course to pursue to protect the people from being "axed out of house and home." The burden can be lightened somewhat by a sweeping reduction in current municipal expenses—a relief which it is hoped the City Council will give at once. The cost of administration should be cut down at least in the belief that there shall be no deficit for 1886, and if possible to show a little gain. The council never will be content with major or city monies until the city is placed on the rock as a safer financial foundation.

A POOR CURE.

The new constitution of South Carolina contains a provision which, though it may not be elsewhere, is excellent in its intent and purpose but is liable to prove liberally defective in practice. The provision in question is that officers in charge of a prisoner who becomes the victim of mistreatment shall be ignored—shall be tried for malfeasance—and if found guilty shall be removed from office and made ineligible to any position of trust or responsibility unless pardoned by the governor; furthermore, that the county where the lynching occurs shall be made liable for damages to the legal representatives of the victim.

Any legislation intended to put an end to such murders or to restrain people from their commission, will be warmly welcomed throughout the state and country, and that is the intention of the South Carolina legislature may not be doubted. But this plan proposed is open to very serious objections.

In the first place, every officer who may be in charge of a lynched prisoner is by no means guilty of a malfeasance or anything else, and ought not to be compelled to stand trial on that grave charge.

Secondly, if he is guilty of malfeasance in the party's crime, or can be shown to have omitted any proper protection to protect his prisoner from the fury, malfeasance is a gentle term for the severity of his wrong doing; instead of being merely detained from holding office, he ought to be impeached or debarred or otherwise punished to the full extent of the law as an accessory to the crime of murder.

In the third place, the payment of damages in the form of a lynched person by the county where the crime occurred is subject to the penalty—that is, the tax—upon the assesses as well as the guilty; indeed, the perpetrator might very well be a non-resident of the county where the lynching occurred, while would nevertheless have to pay the bill.

Fourthly, the crime of murder is one which by the letter of God no man can be separated off by the payment of money damages. It does not come in the category of damages at all. A sensible judgment of a man's victim should be about as satisfying and dispelling a spectacle as could be thought of; and thereafter sometimes no room for the horrific suspicion that some of these same hands that themselves had in inflicting the pain of the accusation that cut off the treasury they might be financially gratified and helped to "raise the wind."

There may be other phases of this extraordinary anti-lynching provision which are open to criticism, but we pass them by for the present. In the meantime it occurs to us that the best remedy for this crying evil would be to provide for the (writers would, among others) of their own medicines—cases thrown down and then hung like the pardons that they are.

TILLMAN'S SPEECH.

The address of Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, in the upper house of Congress, on Wednesday may make very interesting reading for some persons, but its style is not such as to do the country any good either at home or abroad. The southern senator has become known as an orator, and because his words will have less effect if this impression did not prevail, their utterance, however, will be an encouragement to the class which would remedy existing evils by violent means, and therefore should be avoided by every member who desires the welfare of the Union. It may be urged that there is much truth in the south's picture. Be that as it may, it is not the kind that removes mountains, and a little while out active work avoids nothing.

THE ARIZONA Senator suggests to the ministers' Union of El Paso, Texas, which repudiated prayers to prevent the passage of that measure, that "prayer without faith is not the kind that removes mountains, and a little while out active work avoids nothing."

AT ANY other time than the Sultan of Turkey were in charge of Constantinople, what a place for a real estate and business man! It would be! Chicago, London, even Ogden, has no such exciting facilities for commercial greatness as the ancient Byzantine capitals.

ON USE OF THE SALT LAKE COUNTY AREA OF THE LEGISLATURE was duly observed yesterday by a rural representative, "until he opened his mouth you did not know he had just hatched in it."

THERE ARE SOME days yet before the end of February, but the quality of local weather lately must have kept the groundhog busy guessing what he is going to do about it.

IT TAKES much compassion to make some men do things voluntarily.

ELECTRIC BITTERS.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the Spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is fatigued and sluggish, and the appetite is abated. Alternative is fat. A proper use of this medicine has often availed long and difficult cures. No medicine will surely cure in counteracting and removing the system, with the mind and body. Electric Bitters, Distilled Water, and Electric Bitters. Only $10. Create a bottle, Z. C. M. I. drug department.

MARVELOUS BISCUITS.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Quisenberry, of Dimonida, Minn., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no inclination to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery, as the author is called to convince those who believe in a personal Devil that His children must not be in some respects like him, and their form to some measure suggestive of His. Many and various were the visitations with Morgan Elders upon Dimonida, with the result that in all cases the Devil, and in many cases his helpers, left that town. The Devil, and Jacks was on the side of God with forty, parts and passions, as tangible as mud."

BUT, as has been the case with many of the religious ideas that crept into this age by the Laramie River, there has been a marked development among men toward recognizing the truth as it appears, whether it is in any religion, or in any other field of knowledge.

SOMETHING NEW.

An Old Sunday Recommendation.

In the year 1850, when our country was in the grip of a severe famine.

During my term of service I had a great want of meat, but when I found my wife would give me relief, I was very anxious to get it.

Chamberlain Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results followed taking it.

It relieved the pain of the disease, which was old, chronic,

and brought to my notice.

Hence three years ago Mr. Simon Goldsmith of Lake City, Cal., was treated with a James' bark and rhubarb. He used Chamberlain's Pain Balsam and a strong dose was effected. He was so much relieved that he determined to try it and all who would have to have species highly of it. It is sold by druggists.

Chamberlain's Gargle Remedy is famous for the cure of bad colds. It relieves the sensations, relieves the lungs and white nostrils in restoring the system to healthy condition. It freely removes mucus and has been successfully used, and today it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the severity of the attack and often cured in a single day what would have been a severe cold.
