REVIEWS.

Rome has a population of 217,373 souls.
No man ever repented of having done his duty.
A ship of the line requires 4,000 trees for its construction.
Rain water was six cents a bucket in Holland last month.
Politeness of mind consists in the conception of honorable and delicate thoughts.
The moderation of fortunate people comes from the calm which good fortune gives to their tempers.
Sir Alexander Grant takes the place of Sir Edward Brewster as principal of the Edinburgh University.
To select nutmegs, pick them with a pin. If they are good, the oil will instantly spread around the puncture.
The Empress of France was recently presented with a basket containing 3,000 varieties of rose.
Crocodile skins are being used for ladies' boots. It is said to be as soft and flexible as kid.
Two hundred and fifty-five days have been set apart for holidays in the Russian schools, leaving but 110 days for instruction.
Beauties often die old maids. They set such a value on themselves that they don't find a purchaser before the market is closed.
A wag suggests that a suitable liturgical response for many city choirs would be, "O, Lord! have mercy on us, miserable sinners!"
The inhabitants of Saratoga are said to extort enough from strangers in two months to enable them to loaf the other ten.
At a bachelor's dinner, recently, one crusty old wit gave as a toast—"Matrimony—the maiden's prayer and the widow's might."
One of the hardest means by which a woman earns her bread is learning to dance in the ballet. In Paris they commence at six years of age.
Martha Holland, of Christian county, Ky., has had the hydrophobia for two weeks, and was sentenced to be shot, but was finally imprisoned. Her front teeth were knocked out to prevent her biting.
Dr. Holland writes concerning the death of Adah Isaacs Menken: "A story is current which I give for what it is worth, that she laid a wager she could drink a given quantity of whiskey; won her bet and died."
Jerrold went to a party at which a Mr. Pepper had assembled all his friends. Jerrold said to his host, on entering the room: "My dear Pepper, how glad you must be to have all your friends mustered."
The old Prussian field marshal Von Wrangel celebrated his seventy-second anniversary of service in the Prussian army on the 15th of August. During this long time he has served in the Prussian army without interruption.
It is not what people eat, but what they digest, that gives strength and health; it is not what people say, but what they mean, that determines acts; it is not the color of the sky, but the direction of the wind, that shows what the weather is to be; it is not what is on a lady's face, but what is in her heart, that indicates her nature.
A rather fast youth was relating the experience of his voyage across the ocean to a sympathetic friend. Said he, "I tell you what, old fellow, there's one good thing about it, though, you can get as tight as you please every day, and everybody thinks you're only seasick!"
"What is a rainbow, sister Annie?" asked a little girl of her grown up sister, who had just been escorted home by a young gentleman friend in a passing shower. "A rain-bean, darling, comes out—after—a storm"—"with an umbrella," she added, speaking to herself.
Many an unwise parent works hard and lives sparingly all his life for the purpose of leaving enough to give his children a start in the world, as it is called. Setting a young man adrift with the money left him by his relatives, is like tying a bladder under the arms of one who cannot swim; ten chances to one he will lose his bladder and go to the bottom. Teach him to swim and he will not need the bladder. Give your child a sound education. See to it that his morals are pure, his mind cultivated, and his whole nature made subservient to the laws which govern man, and you have given what will be more of value than the wealth of the Indies. You have given him a start that no misfortune can deprive him of. The earlier you teach him to depend upon his own resources and the blessing of God, the better.
The origin of the duel is traced to the Gothic nations. Under the feudal system and during the age of chivalry, the duel was warmly patronized. It so far prevailed among the Germans, Danes and Franks, that none were exempted from it but women, sick people, cripples, and such as were under twenty-one years of age, or above sixty.
Even ecclesiastics, priests, and monks were compelled to fight or find a champion to fight in their stead. Laws and regulations, were defined for duelling in most of the kingdoms of Europe; forms of prayer were likewise prescribed; and the combatants prepared themselves by taking the sacrament. It was then resorted to as a method of discovering truth and preventing perjury, with the belief of the interference of Providence for the punishment of the guilty and the protection of the innocent. It is now practiced as a mode of private revenge, and its use is no longer supported by any plea derived from reason or religion.
