DESERET EVENING NEWS: SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1905.

Friction at the State University fol-lowing the visit of the Legislature, in which the engineers became so omni-present in their activity that the arts and science students were overlooked. resulted in a meeting yesterday after-noon to organize. Fercy Geddard headed the movement with the declaration "we must and shall be recognized, and for that purpose are we met today." He He that purpose are we net today. He was forthwith appointed head of a committee to draw up a constitution and bylaws, the other members of which are Will Dunn, Henry Soule, Virginia Bush and Lylia Knudson. They will report Thursday next, when the organization will be completed the organization will be completed.

The Congregational church Was crowded last evening, on the occasion of "An Evening of Ballads," given by Mrs. A. D. Melvin and George E. Skelton, with Miss Hattie Wishard as ac-companist. The audience greatly en-joyed the performance which was given with the usual artistic taste and intelli-gence which has always characterized the work of these three artists. The program included selections from Irish, Scotch, English and plantation airs sung with pleasing effect, and Mr. Skelton played several violin obligatos for the vocalist in addition to his own solos. The performers were very well received, and encores were in order.

No higher appreciation can be expressed of the annual breakfast of the ladies' Literary club given yesterday at the Emery Holwes cafe, than to say that it was in keeping with the gtatus of Salt Lake's oldest and most distinguished literary club. Two hundred women combining the members and a number of guests of the society, sat down at the tables of the Emery Holmes cafe, and no brighter gathering has ever been winessed in the dity. Both the dialog rooms were used, and the tables which were formed in a hol-low square, were beautifully decorated low square, were beautifully decorated with daffodils, narcissus and sprays of plumost, while crystal candiesticks held green candles, the effect being altogeth-er artistic. A program of bright toasts was rendered, Mrs. John Cain acting Was rendered, Mrs. John Caln acting as toastmaster, and delighting all with her wit. Mrs. Hal W. Brown, respond-ed to the toast "Our President;" Mrs. Charles E. Richards, "Our Guests;" Mrs. William Igleheart, "Our Confre-res;" Mrs. Thomas Weir, "The Men." in phyme; Mrs. Eugene Lewis, "What the Club Stands For," and Mrs. Wight-man "The Have Beens the Are. Nova man, "The Have Beens, the Are-Nows and the May-Bes."

Every toast scintillated with bright thoughts, and the affair was altogether delightful. Nettleton's orchestra, sta-tioned in the central hall, rendered beautiful musical selections throughout. The programs were daintily done in the club colors, white and green, and each toast was outlined in some appropriate

G. A. R., for whose benefit it will be given. A reading of the play is being given this afternoon by Mr. Young to a commit-tee composed of members of the various organizations appointed by the respective posts. After the reading of the play com-mittees will be appointed to take active hold and get things in shape for an im-mediate presentation. The scenes of the play are laid in and around the late Civil war, the main spec-tacular effect being a reproduction of the battle of Lookout Mountain, the real ac-tion taking place on Orchard Knob. There is a beautiful love story interworen in and around the various characters, while interpolated about the central plot are various scenes and situations that while pertinent, are really incidental to the main action. Warlous herces of the war will appenr and the play will be historical in so far as the plot lies about actual war events. As soon as the full details of the centing production have been completed they will be given publicity, including date of pre-centation, cast of characters and full par-
