TOURISTS ARE COMING WEST.

Railroads Are Getting Busy on The "See America" Proposition for Next Season.

SUMMER RATES NOW TO UTAH.

Preparations to Handle Big Crowds for Yellowstone Park Wonderland During Warm Weather.

That the big railroad systems intend to hold up their end of the log in the "See America" movement is apparent thus early in the season. Tomorrow the first trainloads of tourists and colonists will pull out of Chicago under one of the lowest rates yet put in to Utah common points and the coast. So low is the rate that only $3 additional is charged for the ride from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, San Francisco or Portland. These rates will be in effect until the middle of April and it is estimated that thousands will take advantage of them.

Another low rate is announced for the summer and for the first time in the history of western railroading—if the Lewis & Clark exposition rate is not included—the big railroads will go out hard after business to the Pacific coast during the summer months.

Beginning June 1 the Great Northern and Northern Pacific will put into effect a round-trip rate of $56.75 from Chicago and $45.10 from St. Paul. It

Chicago and $45.10 from St. Paul. It will apply to first class travel and will be effective during the summer months, with a final return limit of Oct. 31. This rate undoubtedly will be duplicated by the Harriman roads.

In connection with this rate it is anticipated that Yeilowstone park will witness the largest influx of tourist travel in its history. In this direction the Oregon Short Line next summer will be upon equal terms with the Hill roads and have direct communication. roads and have direct communication with the park by railroad. The Yellow-stone Park Railroad now under course of construction will run right to the border line of the national wonderland and the old station at Monida with its 60-mile stage drive will be a thing of the past.

The Yellowstone park stages have thorough overhaulbeen undergoing a thorough overhaul-ing in this city during the winter and will be shipped north shortly before the opening in readiness to handle the tourist business. It was the original intention to have the line completed by June 1, the time set for the opening of the park for the season. However, it is not possible that the road will be completed ready for operation by that date, nevertheless the stages will meet the daily train at a point as far as the trains can run and transfer the pas-sengers to the hotels that are now being built to accommodate them.

INFANT INDUSTRY.

Striking Illustration of What Can be Accomplished by Special Rates.

A striking illustration of the work of the railroads in making special rates to foster infant industries and then lat-er receiving a perpetual and growing revenue as the result of an initial shipment was brought to light this morning in the office of the Chicago & Northwestern. These cases coop up from time to time and the railroads take them as a matter of course—it is one of the duties of a good truffic manhis eyes open and look out for chances his eyes open and look out for chances to start a new industry.

A. D. C. Harvey of Baxter Springs, Kan., walked in on General Agent C. A. Walker of the Chicago & Northwestern this morning and began to swap yarns of boyhood days. As he is on his way home from Puget Sound country the conversation turned to the try the conversation turned to the northwest and its development. "By the way," said Mr. Walker, "wa shipped some carloads of young oysters to Bellingham last year. I wonder how they are getting along." It developed that the oysters were coming along finely after their long trip across the continent from the waters of the At-lantic. The foundation for a growing industry is laid and next year the shipments from Bellingham bay will cover the western states, and it is promised oysters will be cheaper—all of which has been made possible owing to the special rate put in for the consignments of seed oysters, something which will be impossible if the proposed rate legis-lation becomes law.

DEFENDED UNIONISM.

Unique Claim Made at Joint Meeting Of Labor and Manufacturers.

A unique defense for unionism was made last night by E. R. Elton, at the meeting of the Manufacturers & Merchants' directorate with the officers of the Federation of Labor and the Butchers & Grocers' as ociation. "The banks are unionized," he declared. "You notice when you go in to cash a check the tag hanging out 'Member American Banking association.' The lawyers, too, have their union. You have heard of the walking delegate, who makes you show your union card. Well, the judge on the bench is just that delegate. Try to practise before him, and you find you have to show your union card. They don't call it by that name, but 'being admitted to the bar,' and you have to be a member of the Bar association to practise."

be a member of the Bar association to practise."

The meeting was largely attended, and proved to be a success in every detail. President Hewlett of the M. & M. A. pledged the support of the producers to home labor, and pointed out how they were bringing opportunity here for the employment of labor. Fred Weight, vice president of the Butchers & Grocers' association, stated that the members would pledge themselves to home goods because they knew the value of a fat payroli in producing purchasers.

President Spalding of the Utah Federation of Labor pledged the labor elements to the movement, stating that they had no cross purposes with the movement. Organized labor, he declared, has come to stay, and had to work for the best interests of the community, at the same time conserving its own interests. He urged the establishment of new industries and pledged his suppot.

Other speakers were George S. Mo-

Retween speeches the Butchers & Grocers' Mandolin club randered a number of selections, and rendered a number of selections, and solos and duets were rendered by A. E. Brady and Joseph Poll. He was present last night at the meet-ing of the executive committee of the Manufacturers and Merchants' associ-ation with the Butcher and Grocers' association, and after it was conclud-ed talked over his plan with some of the committee. ed talked over the committee.

Mr. Kraack holds that the southeast bench possesses untold possibilities to make, not a fortune in farm produce, but a good comfortable living. For many years the land has been considmany years the land has been considered too dry and too high to be of much use, but Mr. Kraack's own farm is a good example of the possibilities of the land. Not many years ago he settled where a little spring trickled out of a crevice, and farmers laughed at him. He, too, became discouraged once, but he couldn't sell his land, and he finally went to work to find what kind of a crop it would produce. His experiments brought a conclusion in favor of berbrought a conclusion in favor of ber-ries, and Mr. Kraack now has 10 acres in berry bushes and strawberry vines. More than that he has developed his little spring till now he has a lake fed by it, and is putting in a fish hatchery to supply trout for the local market. Poultry thrive nowhere so well as on high, dry land, that is gravelly, and Mr. Kraack is putting in an extensive poultry plant, on a previously consid-ered worthless side hill and guiley.

ROOM FOR DEVELOPMENT. "Salt Lake is getting overcrowded,"
Mr. Kraack declared to a "News" man, "with men who would appreciate a good opportunity to work for a fair profit and to make a fair living. All over our benches, both on the east and west sides of the city, there is splendid land that isn't worthless at all, if the person who settles on it only goes in to find out what way to use it.

"Men say water shares are hard to get hold of, but if one really wants they they can be bought. I know of where several can be had, and if any man really wants to come out and help build up this section I can tell him where he can get his water shares. Mind you I am not boosting this coun-try, only I want to see it grow up. GREAT POSSIBILITIES,

"The day should come when this bench land should furnish Salt Lake its berry supply and its poultry supply, and this produce should be brought to the city on suburban cars rapidly, and while the goods are still fresh. The suburban lines will surely grow out into the section as it grows, and will put in a daily freight-car service. The Murry line could be extended to many of the points where we need suburban service, and I don't think the date is far distant when the service will be installed someway.

"Now the country is a good place to raise all kinds of fruits, too, for you know the trees that bear fruit die easily when their roots run through to a permannt layer of water. There is no suburban lines will surely grow out into hy when their roots run through to a permanent layer of water. There is no chance of that on the benches, and great peach and cherry orchards ought to be put in, for the market is far from supplied in Sait Lake.

BOOST SALT LAKE,

"One thing we do realize out there, and that is that every inch of Utah has got to boost Sait Lake, just as every inch of Colorado is boosting Denver. The big city makes the big market, and the bigger Sait Lake grows the better our chances are to sell our products, I expect the country to be banded together out in the country and to work together to bring county, and to work together to bring in more people of the kind who want to remain and work for a living."

Judgment of Lower Court in Granting Non-Suit Reversed by Higher Tribunal.

The supreme court this afternoon handed down an opinion, reversing the judgment of the lower court in the cas of Matilda Tuckett, appellant, vs. the American Steam & Hand Laundry.

The action was brought in the Third district court to recover damages for injuries received by plaintiff while employed in defendant's laundry as an operator of a mangler.

The lower court granted the defend-ant's motion for a non-suit on the ground of contributory negligence on the part of plaintiff, and the case was dismissed.

The supreme court, in its opinion, holds that there was sufficient proof of the negligence of the defendant to go to the jury, and the lower court was not justified in withdrawing the case from the consideration of a jury.

The judgment of the lower court is therefore reversed and a new trial is granted.

The opinion was written by District Judge Howell of Ogden, and concurred in by Chief Justice Bartch and Justice

ORDERED OFF TO SEA.

Word has been received from Washington to the effect that William J. Parker, Jr., one of Salt Lake's graduates from Annapolis, and V. N. that they received orders to put to sea on a government training ship from Hampton Roads today.

It is stated that this order comes in the form of a penalty imposed on Barker and his two friends for "Frenching It," absenting themselves from the academy without permission. It appears that all of these three had been judged gullity of this wrong doing some months ago. When the matter became known, a very drastic punishment was proposed—that of dismissal; but calmer judgment concluded that such a penalty would be too severe, particularly on account of their previous good behavior, and excellent scholarship.
