WATCHES JEWELRY

ABOUT three months ago all the watchmakers in the city agreed and subscribed to certain prices for work in their line, for the purpose of obtaining uniform and Cheap Rates. This agreement, however, has already been broken by several watchmakers, who are underselling their colleagues and thereby proving themselves untrue to their written word. In consequence of which, the undersigned has withdrawn his name from said agreement and established his own prices. Cheaper than any other Watchmaker's in Salt Lake City.

Political Speculation.

NEW YORK, 8.—The indecision of the New York election materially increases, the probability that Grant will enter the field for the next Presidential nomination. Some of his friends, who have been most opposed to this step, now think he will be made to believe it is essential to a continued republican supremacy in the nation, though if the republicans had carried New York by a handsome majority, he would have insisted on remaining in private life. It is thought neither Blaine nor Sherman will openly contest the nomination, but there are some strong leaders of the party who seem likely to organize an opposition such as may tend to make Grant hesitate still to enter the field. Their objects are not personal, but based on the conviction that Grant's nomination would develop elements of disharmony and consequent weakness in New York such as would have led to the overwhelming defeat of Cornell except for Kelly's ballot.

Ex-Senator Fenton and many other anti-Conkling leaders are sure to be disaffected and lukewarm. If Grant's nomination is to mean the renewal of Conkling's dictatorship, such disaffection would be amply sufficient to lose the State.

Tilden is not dismayed by Robinson's defeat, he still holds his grip on the democratic organization, and insists that he can carry New York both in the convention and the election. He will not give up the contest readily. He thinks there will be no bolt in the Presidential election.

Bayard's chances are considered improved by Robinson's defeat, because unbiased democrats are convinced that Tilden cannot cordially unite his party here, even if there should be no open bolt, while Bayard would. Besides, Bayard's pronounced views more nearly than those of any other democratic candidate, are acceptable to New York's financial and commercial interests.

In reviewing the New York election results, it should be understood that many republicans voted directly for Robinson, while others voted for no gubernatorial candidate, and many more stayed at home because of dissatisfaction with the machine management which nominated Cornell. So that Cornell's vote is far from presenting the true strength of the party if firmly united again.

Mexican Affairs.

The Tribune reports the interviewing with Senor Llanos Y. Alcaraz, editor of La Rasa Latina, and until the present year, editor of a paper in Mexico, who thinks the revolutionary scheme recently reported from California is a canard as regards the Diaz administration. He says, Diaz being a soldier, he is able to defend his government in the field, and if necessary, will perish rather than surrender. He has also devoted adherents. The Mexican people are dissatisfied with him because he has not fulfilled his promises, but so long as the army is on his side, he is safe. Benitez is most likely to be the next president, because he has the government support.

A New York Boast.

The Sun to-day, says, 2.12¾ is a good deal for St. Julian, a good deal for any horse, but not much as compared with the performance of two of Bonner's horses, Rarus and Edwin Forrest. It is a little discouraging to California to know that, accepting its own tracks and timing to be correct, yet Mr. Bonner has two horses that have trotted faster than St. Julian. California, usually is ahead on pairs, but Bonner has the pair this time. We hope some man, already born, will live long enough to see St. Julian come east and trot a mile, not in 2.12¾, but as Rarus has done, in 2.11½. Come on, California, and equal either of Bonner's two best, and then, but not before, do your boasting.

Wrestling.

MILWAUKEE, 8.—Prof. Lucien Marc, of Chicago, champion light weight wrestler, and Mons. Joseph, of Milwaukee, had a Greco-Roman wrestling match to-night. Marc won the first round in five minutes, Joseph the second in three minutes and the third in five minutes, Marc won the fourth in three minutes and the fifth in four minutes. Marc weighed 137 pounds, Joseph 136.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Story of the Thornburgh Fight.

WASHINGTON, 8.—Gen. Sherman, in forwarding the following report of Captain J. Scott Payne, of the Fifth Cavalry, to the Secretary of War, endorses it as follows: This modest and most admirable report was received after I had finished my annual report else I should have embraced it almost entire as a better description of the fight at Milk Creek on Sept, 29th last.

Capt. Payne says: Lieut. Cherry, adjutant of the command, accompanied by guide, Rankin and a small party of soldiers, was in advance, and upon passing over some high ground intermediate between the road we had left and the trail, discovered the Indians in heavy force drawn up in line of battle, or more correctly speaking, lying in ambush along the high ridges which completely covered and commanded the road. With a quick and soldierly preception of the situation Lt. Cherry turned back and made signals for the command to retrace its steps. Just as the leading company (F, Fifth Cavalry) was descending a ridge into the valley beyond, Company E was immediately conducted to the side of the hill on its left flank, while Company E, Third Cavalry was halted on the high ground it occupied and both companies were at once dismounted and deployed by Maj. Thornburgh's orders as skirmishers, Company E, Third Cavalry on the right along the crest of the ridge and Company F, Fifth Cavalry, as well up the side of the hill which constantly ascending stretched away indefinitely, as the nature of the ground would permit. Our line at this point resembled the letter V, the points towards the Indians, and that portion of it formed by Company F, Fifth Cavalry receding considerably beyond the point of junction and being deflected to the left so as to prevent the enemy from turning our flank. At this time several attempts were made by Major Thornburgh, in person, and by Lieut. Cherry, to communicate with the Indians; but efforts in that direction were met by a shot, and at once a hot fire was opened upon us, and the fight began all along our lines.

The Indians had displayed admirable skill in the selection of the ground upon which to give us battle. With sound judgment and a quick and thorough perception of the situation, Major Thornburgh determined to form a junction with Company D, Fifth Cavalry, which was protecting the wagon train, and with that end in view directed the companies engaged to fall back slowly.

The command retired as directed, in perfect order, and led the horses, being kept well protected between the skirmish lines of the two companies, while a heavy and effective fire did great execution among the savages and prevented an attempt on their part to break through our lines.

Failing in their efforts in front, the Indians endeavored to cut the command off from the train, which had, by Major Thornburgh's order, gone into the park on the right bank of Milk River, and to accomplish this purpose passed round our left flank beyond carbine range, and concentrated in force upon a knoll to the left and completely commanding our line of retreat. Major Thornburgh, upon discovering this new danger, directed me to charge the knoll with 20 men of my company, to sweep the Indians off, and then at once, without attempting to hold the hill, fall back upon the train and take measures for its protection. This duty being performed and a way opened for a return of herd horses, I repaired to the wagon train and at once took steps looking for its defense. Major Thornburgh doubtless started for the train shortly after giving me the order referred to, and was shot and instantly killed just after crossing the river and within 500 yards of the wagons. His gallantry was conspicuous from first to last, and grief for his death was general and profound.

In the meantime Captain Lawson, with E. Company, Third Cavalry, and Lieutenant Cherry, with a detachment from C. Company, 3d, and F 5th, Cavalry gallantly held the Indians in check in front of gradually retiring, Lieutenant Cherry with his detachment covering the retreat. Upon reaching the train I found it parked on the right bank of Milk River, about 200 yards from the water, the wagons forming the north side of a corral, elliptical in shape, its long axis running east and west, to the south side exposed to a fierce fire from the Indians, who, massing in the ravines along the river, and upon the commanding heights, were making a determined effort to capture and destroy the train before it could be placed in a condition for defence.

The animals were crowded within the area indicated, and I at once directed some 20 or more of these wounded to be led out and shot along the open space referred to, thus making continuous our line of defence and offering cover for our sharpshooters.

I can find no suitable words in which to express my admiration for the officers and men of my command. Their conduct was beyond all praise; they were gallant under fire, patient during suspense, and confident through all. It is my greatest pride that I commanded them, and know that one more page in the glorious annals of the American soldier has been illustrated by their valor.

The Democratic Way of Fixing It.

To-day's Washington Post (democratic organ) contains the following editorial paragraph, which seems to foreshadow changes in the control of two State delegations in the present House of representatives that may be of great importance in the event of the Presidential election being thrown into the House by the failure of any candidate to receive a majority of the total number of the electoral votes. The recent failure of Representative Chas. H. Voorhees, of the Fifth District of New Jersey, renders it necessary that he should devote his undivided attention hereafter to his business. He has therefore decided to resign his seat in Congress. Voorhees was elected last year as a republican from a district usually reliable democratic. As a result of a split in the latter party, an independent democrat and greenback candidate received enough votes to defeat Demorest, the regular nominee. The vote in detail was Voorhees, 10,893; Demorest 10,089; Potter, 3,268. With the democrats of the district united upon one candidate, there is no sort of doubt about their carrying it. This will be the case in the present instance and the democrat majority in the House will be increased one. The New Jersey delegation now stands republicans 4, democrats 3. The change will give the odd member to the democrats, and give them control of nineteen States in the House. When Godlove S. Orth is seated from, and James McCabbe is put into, the seat of the Ninth Indiana district, the democrats will add Indiana to the list, and will have 20 seats, then they will be prepared for all presidential contingencies.

Conflict of Authority.

The following telegram was received at the War Department:

FORT SILL, I. T., Nov. 6.

To General Sherman:

Deputy United States Marshal Johnson arrested in this vicinity about ten citizens, three for receiving United States property. Johnson started to Dallas with the prisoners, and was overtaken by the sheriff's posse. Johnson and the prisoners were brought before the local civil authorities and released, and Johnson was held to answer for false imprisonment. Johnson re-arrested the prisoners and was fined for contempt of court. He then went to Dallas and returned with warrants and arrested the local civil officers for resistance. The prisoners first arrested defy Johnson, are armed and threaten to release him and prevent a removal of the prisoners held as prisoners. The marshal is powerless. All the citizens, headed by the local civil officers rally and watch him. He is satisfied he could not arrest the men taken from him by the local authorities, nor secure the civil officers held as prisoners. The ordnance store-house has not been robbed by citizens, but, about a year ago, by a soldier, who is serving sentence therefor. I have declined to take any of the prisoners into custody, or take any part in the squabble, unless ordered by competent authority.

(Signed) ESKRIDGE,
Commanding.

A Fraudulent Scheme.

DENVER, Col., 8.—Sidney A. Grant, late of Cincinnati, and A. F. Wilson, were arrested to-day for conducting a fraudulent scheme through the mails under the name of the Denver Land Company, and were taken before the United States Commissioner. They waived examination and were committed. Bonds have not been given and they probably will go to jail. The scheme was planned in Cincinnati, stereotype plates were prepared and have already been inserted in over 800 first-class newspapers and periodicals in the Northern, Eastern and Middle States. Grant came to Denver to secure land for the purpose, and bought nearly 1,000 acres in the sand hills forty miles north of Denver, in another county, which was platted and recorded as North Denver. Although known here but eight days, a perfect avalanche of [illegible] the Denver Land Company. The fraud was denounced by the local newspapers and bitterly condemned by the citizens. The postmaster reported to the Department, and last night received orders to deliver no registered letters and pay no money orders to Grant. The arrest was made by Special Agent H. Hall. Special Agent Furay also here, asks the Department to order the withholding of ordinary letters

A Dead Minstrel.

ST. LOUIS, 8.—Everett A. Wesleyean, well known in dramatic circles, and a member of Haverly's minstrels, now performing here, was found dead in his bed at the Planter's House this morning. His death was caused by heart disease. Wesleyean's wife and children reside in Rochester, New York, whither his remains will be sent by his brother Masons in this city.

The Candy House Fire.

Besides those reported last night, the bodies of Edward Shutlen, Louise Hummel, Anna McConnell and Miss Goeffer have been taken from the ruins of Carle & Co's candy factory, Kansas City, and search for others still continues. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Joseph McGuire, an employe of the factory, acted with great heroism. He dragged Miss Nellie Horton and Mrs. Long down two flights of stairs through the stifling smoke and fire. At the bottom of the stairs Miss Horton fell suffocated from the smoke. Seizing Mrs. Long in his arms, he rushed through a sheet of flame to the front of the building, and then attempted to return for Miss Horton, but the fire was so fierce by this time he could not reach her. She was rescued, however, from the rear of the factory.

Kansas City, 8.—Great crowds of people gathered around the scene of yesterday's disaster at an early hour this morning, watching the workmen removing the debris in search of the bodies of George Kemper, aged 14, and Andy McConnell, of the same age. A roll of the employes was called this morning, and all were accounted for except these two. The death roll numbers six and the list of wounded 12, but none of the latter are fatally injured.

SIMPLICITY SIMPLIFIED

Improvements September, 1879.

Notwithstanding the VICTOR has long been the peer of any Sewing Machine in the market—in fact supposed by many to combine almost every valuable claim for its greater simplicity, a wonderful reduction of friction and a rare combination of durable qualities, it has attained to a beautiful system of mechanism, and taken rank with the highest achievements of inventive genius. Does not lose motion. Machines, therefore, have no old screws to patch up and no wrench for our use to put them together.

We Sell New Machines Every Time. Don't buy Used Ones. Send for Illustrated Circular and prices. Liberal terms to the trade.
