

Sudden Death.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Lella Kalghu, wife of Col. M. M. Kalghu, died at her home on Fifth South Street, in this city, of heart disease. Her funeral will take place from the Congregational Church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

After More Property.

The Receiver in the suit of the government against the Church has commenced proceedings against the Weber Stake Association for certain property which, it is claimed, belonged to the Church. The papers were filed yesterday.

Arrivals.

The following named missionaries and visitors arrived here on the 17th inst., per S.S. Wisconsin, of the Galion line: Timothy B. Davis, Jenkyn Thomas, Henry C. Barrell, Daniel H. Snarr, Anton Van Dam, Martinus Krumpnerman and Isaac Whitaker. Elder Snarr suffered some from seasickness, but soon recuperated on landing.—Millennial Star.

A Girl Suicide.

A dispatch from Holbrook, Arizona, says that on Sunday, April 8th, at Winslow, Victoria Lee, aged 16, took a dose of laudanum, and thus ended her own life. She was a daughter of John D. Lee. At a drug store on Saturday she bought two ounces of laudanum, which she carried in her pocket to a dance that night. At 2 a. m. she went home from the dance with a married sister and took the laudanum at 3 a. m. Sunday morning. There was no post-mortem examination. No cause is assigned for the self-murder. She was buried Sunday afternoon.

Third District Court.

Andrew C. Brien vs. Joseph R. Walker et al.; demurrer overruled.
Henry Whetstone vs. The Herald Company; demurrer overruled.
Sarah Jane Richardson vs. Robert Richardson; decree of divorce on the ground of cruelty.
M. B. Buford et al. vs. J. S. Houtz et al.; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

Complaining of the Mails.

H. Edward Desautels writes from Kingston, Plute County, complaining, in an emphatic manner, of the mail service to that point. He seems to think the trouble is caused, at least in part, by the fact that some of the carriers have contracted to transport the mails at a figure lower than they can do good service for. He asserts that mail matter from this city, which should reach Kingston in three days, is some times from eighth to twelve days en route, and that the people have petitioned for an improvement but without result so far. The matter should be looked into.

Releases and Appointments.

Elder William Wood, Jun., is released from laboring in the Irish Mission to return home.
Elders Timothy B. Davis and Jenkyn Thomas are appointed to labor in the Welsh mission.
Elder Daniel H. Snarr is appointed to labor in the London Conference.
Elder Henry C. Barrell is appointed to labor in the Birmingham Conference.
Elders Anton Van Dam and M. Krumpnerman are appointed to the Netherlands.—Millennial Star.

Last Night's Blaze.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night the large barn on the premises of Gen. H. S. Eldredge, one block east of the City Hall, was discovered to be on fire. Those who were near immediately hastened to get out the horses, vehicles and harness, which they succeeded in doing. In the excitement no alarm was sent to the fire department, and fully five minutes elapsed before one of the firemen heard somebody in the street shout fire. He immediately ran out and discovering the location of the blaze, sounded the gong. In a short space of time the brigade were out and at the scene, where they worked in excellent style. The barn being of wood and dry as tinder, was quickly enveloped in flames, which shot up to a great height, illuminating all around. The barn is a total loss, the damage being about $1,500. There was no insurance.

Injunction Asked For.

Arguments were made in the Third District Court today on a demurrer to the complaint in the suit of the Promontory Stock Company vs. John S. Houtz and others. The complaint recites the fact that the plaintiff owns a large tract of land in Box Elder County, which is used for the grazing of some 20,000 head of stock. It is also stated that Mr. Houtz and about twenty others who are named as defendants, are owners of about 200,000 head of sheep. There is in the vicinity of the land owned by the plaintiff, and in cases entirely surrounded by it, tracts of government land upon which the defendants claim they have a right to herd their sheep, and in order to do so it is necessary for them to pass over parts of the plaintiff's property. The stock company asks for an injunction to stop the sheepmen from going over its land with their flocks and alleges that the damage they do in destroying the grass is irreparable.

An Awful Accident.

This morning a terrible accident befel Henry Arnold at his home in Brighton, Salt Lake County. He went out in the yard to catch a mare with which to come to town. He passed close to her colt, when the latter turned quickly and threw its heels at him. One foot caught him in the right eye with terrific force, tearing the eye out and causing the blood to spurt from the wound and from his nose and mouth. Dr. Benedict was sent for and went out to attend the unfortunate man and ascertain the extent of his injuries. If the result is not fatal, as it is feared it will be, Mr. Arnold is placed in lamentable condition. He had lost the sight of the left eye, and the destruction of the right eye makes him totally blind. He is a poor man, and has been very unfortunate. He has been in the asylum for a couple of months, having been affected in his mind, and had secured employment at which he intended to commence on Monday. He is about 43 years of age and has a wife and one child.

Found Dead.

Rose Thorn is a character well known to the annals of the Police Court, and for the past few years has spent almost as much time in the jail as out of it. This morning, however, her career of disgrace and misery ended, so far as this mortal sphere is concerned. She was found dead in a cellar in Plum Alley, occupied by an old man named Thomas Elsmore. About 7 o'clock this morning Elsmore had inquired of her as to how she felt, and she replied that she was not any better. She was taken sick on Sunday evening. She was released from the city jail a few days before. She was a native of Gosford, England, and was 40 or 41 years of age. She came to Utah in 1875. Her maiden name was Howard, and she had been twice married. Her first husband was named Horricks; the second was Methuselah Thorn, a peanut vender who now plies his vocation in Ogden, and was formerly in the same business in this city. The dissipated life she had led during the past few years was the cause of her death. An inquest will be held at the office of undertaker Joseph E. Taylor, at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Railway Talk.

The Denver News has the following regarding the latest proposition in the way of another railroad to Salt Lake: Said a railway man who has recently returned from California: "I was not at all surprised on my return from the coast to hear it rumored that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company is behind the proposed Leavenworth and Denver Short Line. While at Oakland I learned that the Milwaukee company had purchased 1950 acres of water front on the bay and had also quietly secured right of way for a distance of 850 miles from Oakland, through Stanton and Lathrop. The direction of the route selected is eastward from the coast to Salt Lake City, and as the expressed intention of the people having in charge the Leavenworth and Denver Short Line is to construct a line from the former direct to Denver and then westward through the mountains to Salt Lake City, it is very plausible to suspect the Milwaukee with being virtually interested in the new enterprise. It has been an open secret among railroad men for several years that the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul is anxious to reach the coast, and it is only a question of time until the great company will build and operate a line of its own from the Missouri River to San Francisco. The company has an independent line to Kansas City, and is anxious for western and southwestern business. It would be an easy matter to extend this line on to Leavenworth and thence westward to Denver, especially in view of the practical certainty of receiving aid from every county along the route. Again, the cost of constructing a road through Kansas and Colorado, along the survey made, would be comparatively light as compared with other routes. The number of streams to be bridged is small, while the level plains over which the road would pass, admit of the easiest grades. The country is well settled and the soil the most productive in the world. This guarantees a good local traffic in addition to the through business. The statement is made that the Denver people propose to tunnel the mountains and push the new line on to Salt Lake. Now, when these disjointed facts are put together and combined with the Milwaukee's recent purchase of water frontage at Oakland, and the right of way eastward to Salt Lake City, it rounds out a colossal but entirely feasible scheme, behind which looms up the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, striking for the Pacific Coast. The Burlington, Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific have all found it essential to build to Denver; the Rock Island is on the way, and, in my humble opinion, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul is making formidable preparations for a westward march, and the proposed short line from Leavenworth to Denver is the line of its march.

Discharged.

James Welch, of Coalville, was before Commissioner Norrell today on an application for discharge from prison. He has served six months for unlawful cohabitation, and 30 days for the fine. He was ordered released.

Substantial Thanks.

The firemen have reason for self-congratulation when their efforts bring forth such substantial appreciation as is indicated by the following, which requires neither explanation nor comment:

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH,
April 14th, 1888.

George M. Ottinger, Esq., Chief of Fire Department, S. L. City:

DEAR SIR:—Inclosed, please find my check on Deseret National Bank, for $50, which please accept, together with my sincere thanks, as a small token of my appreciation for the prompt and energetic services rendered by yourself and associates, in quenching and controlling the fire at my place last evening.

Very Respectfully,
H. S. ELDRIDGE.

From the South.

On last Saturday afternoon we were called upon by Elder W. H. Wilson, a missionary just returned from the Southern States. He left Utah in January, 1886, and proceeded to Alabama, in which State he spent the greater part of the time of his mission, laboring in various parts of it. Generally he and the other Elders in that field have met with good success and have been well treated. In Coffee County there is a branch of twenty-one members of which Elder John T. Wilkin is president. The State has been divided into the North and South Alabama conferences. In January of this year Elder Wilson went to Florida where he remained until released. The prospects in that State are good.

This forenoon we were called upon by Elder Milo A. Hendricks, of Richmond, Cache County, another of the party of returning missionaries from the South. He and Elder John W. Tate, of Tooele, are the missionaries who were shot and wounded in Virginia in December last. Elder Hendricks received seven rabbit shot in his right leg, several of which remain in the limb, but the wounds have healed without leaving any bad effects. He states that Elder Tate, who was wounded in a similar manner, also in the right leg, still suffers from the effects of the shot. The wounds have healed, but the limb is stiff, and more or less pain and inconvenience are suffered by Elder Tate in consequence.

Elder Hendricks labored in Maryland and West Virginia, but mainly in Virginia. For ten months preceding his release he presided over the Virginia conference. He reports the prospects in that region for the spread of the Gospel, as being good.

Remarks by Dr. Isaacs.

Yesterday at 10 a. m. the Rev. Dr. Isaacs addressed the German Saints assembled in the City Hall. He said, in substance:

I can sincerely sympathize with my brethren and sisters of the Latter-day Saints who suffer persecution, and are forced to submit to great indignities at the hands of their fellowmen. My sympathy is deep because of my belief in the Lord Jesus Christ, and the atonement which He made for the sin of the world.

Tribulation should not, however, prevent us from doing our duty to God and man, one part of which is to humbly and faithfully bear our testimony to the truth whenever there is an opportunity. Each of us should be a diligent laborer in the vineyard of the Lord, and seek to bring souls unto Christ, for all will one day stand before the bar of God when we will be asked what we have done for the benefit of our fellows in order to show our appreciation of the inestimable blessings which our heavenly Father has bestowed upon us. Happy will we then be if our constant aim has been to do good upon earth.

All Christians believe that Jesus came upon earth in the meridian of time and died that man might live, and Christians as well as Jews believe that He will come in the near future to rule as Lord of the earth. In former days it was necessary for an Isaiah, a Jeremiah and many other prophets to precede Him, all of whom gave testimony concerning His coming and mission. In like manner was it necessary in this age for Joseph Smith to be raised up as a forerunner of His second advent. And those to whom the Gospel has been imparted through the instrumentality of this great Prophet, are also witnesses of the goodness of God and testifiers of the near approach of the day when our Savior and Redeemer will return to earth and be prepared to acknowledge His faithful Saints as His own. Let all then be faithful and prove by their acts that they appreciate the position they hold as Saints of the most high God.

LOST AND FOUND.

A Three-year Old Child Wanders Eight Miles on the Prairie.

The Rawlins, Wyoming, Journal of Saturday, April 14th, contains the following incident:

"At an early hour Thursday evening it was rumored that Mr. H. E. Ball's little daughter, Bernice, only three years old, was lost. At 8 o'clock the fire whistle sounded a general alarm, to which nearly three hundred people responded. Every lantern and torch procurable were pressed into service. Soon a line of light from town stretched back to the hills. The flats, gulleys and hills were thoroughly searched, with no sign of the lost child. Some one then suggested that the dump piles where she was last seen be circled, and her trail if possible be discovered. The suggestion was immediately acted upon, and fifty men and boys began a close search for the little wanderer's trail, which is a half hour's time was discovered leading from the dumps across the country through toward Mr. Kirk's milk ranch. A clue was now found which was closely followed for over eight miles, through sage brush and ravines, over grassy slopes and stony hills, with all the turns the little one had taken until she at last was found near the red buttes about five miles northeast of town. The trail showed she had run nearly all the way for the first two miles. For the next two she had run a great deal without evidently stopping. From this on the little feet were getting pretty tired, as you could see where she had stopped and stood still, and where her steps were shorter. About a mile from where she was found she had lain down the first time. When this was discovered it greatly increased the zeal of the searchers, who knew she must be somewhere near, and Mr. Hogan's big Newfoundland dog, "Jumbo" was now sent out and the trail pursued with all possible rapidity. In a short time was found. The tracks of the dog mingling with those of the child, showed that the dog had found her, this place being near a sage brush gully. The crowd spread out somewhat on each side of the trail. Just in the edge of the sage brush, Jas. Granger stepped upon the child, or so close to her that she screamed. He immediately grabbed her and shouted 'Here she is.' The searchers at once set up a yell and several pistols were fired off, nearly frightening the child to death. Her father being near soon came up and took her. The first words she said after being quieted were, 'Papa, I thought you was Indians.' It seems she had been in the habit of going away from home to play, and her father told her if she did not stay at home the Indians would get her and carry her off. Being down on the dump pile when the Lander stage came in at about five o'clock with a couple of other children, they told her there were Indians in the coach, which perhaps frightened her into wandering away. She was very sprightly the next morning and apparently none the worse for the long tramp."

THE BIG SAGE BRUSH

HER LITTLE CAP

HOME RULE.

Editor Deseret News:

I ventured to address a letter to your paper a few days ago giving expression to my sentiments in regard to the Mormon faith and its misrepresentation. I thought my letter if published would have the effect of opening the eyes of some who, like myself, might be prejudiced against the faith of which your paper is so able an exponent. Of course I acknowledge that I am a Gentile, not knowing that this fact would in itself cause the suppression of my letter, which I assure you was bona fide and well intended, for although I am what the Church calls a Gentile, I am nevertheless a lover of fair play, and "broke a lance" on more than one occasion since my arrival in this city in defense of Mormonism. I enclose herewith a clipping from the columns of one of your contemporaries of today's date. This clipping contains the opinion of a great statesman—perhaps the greatest alive today—that it is the height of absurdity to reinstate a State or people self-government upon a mere pretext. I agree with Mr. Gladstone and I think his remarks are as applicable here in Utah as they are in Ireland.

Yours respectfully,
AUTHENTIC.

April 13, 1888.

The matter contained in the clipping referred to by our correspondent appeared in yesterday's News, and treated upon a speech by Mr. Gladstone in reply to W. H. Smith, in reference to home rule for Ireland. The letter referred to was not suppressed, but appeared in our columns.
