began yesterday, again went into executive/session shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. It is believed the convention will get through its work tonight. When the convention met this morning no definite plan had been decided upon as far as could be learned in regard to the operators' offer of wage advance. The two plans suggested yesterday, one that the whole matter be left to a committee, and the other that the national officers be instructed to find a solution of the complicated problem, still find favor among some delegates. The convention immediately after being called to order plunged into the discussion of the 10 per cent net increase, and the wage scale, in all its various phases was thoroughly gone in-to by the degelates. Finally a motion vas adopted that a committed on resoresenting to the convention something tangible on the wage scale, and also on the other grievances. The delegates were invited to give the committee sug-gestions. The resolutions committee was made up of thirteen members as follows: President Mitchell, the three district presidents, Nicholis, Duffy and Fahey, and three delegates from each of the three districts.

BRYAN DOWN IN OHIO STATE.

Circleville, O., Oct. 13.-The second day of Hon W. J. Bryan's campaign tour of Ohio began with a good meeting at Chillicothe at 8 o'clock this morning. He had a large audience and he spoke for almost twenty minutes, giving special attention to trusts. He said that there were some employers who would let their men attend Republican meetings and who refused the same privilege to those who wanted to attend Democratic meetings.

The second meeting of the day was held at Circleville. The audience was large and enthusiastic.

Mr. Bryan referred in his Circleville and Lancaster speeches to the efforts of Atterney General Monnett. At Circleville he made that official the principal theme of his discourse, saying:

There was a young Republican of ability and character nominated for attorney general of the State or Ohio. When he entered upon the duties of his office he took un oath to perform those duties to the best of his ability, and in the course of his duty, he was called upon to commence suit under the laws of his State against a great private monopoly, the Standard Oil company, and as soon as he commenced suit the company hereal the respection and its company began its persecution and its continuing, Mr. Bryan said that this opposition to the enforcement of laws was not confined to the State of Ohio, but was found also in the Republican administration of the affairs of the na-tion. He contrasted the conduct of the affairs of the nation with the conduct of the legal business of his own State of Nebraska, where, he said, the Democratic attorney-general was obeying the law and prosecuting the trusts.

At Chillicothe, Mr. Bryan was in-troduced as the next President and in response he said:

'if the people will get out to the polls as early as they seem to be able to get out to meetings, and will show as much interest on election day as they are showing now, it is possible that the prophecy may be fulfilled. But it is your hands and in the hands of oth ers throughout this country upon whom the restonsibility of citizenship rests Parties nominate the candidates, bu the people settle the question, and it is theirs to choose beween candidates, beveer parties and between policies, and ple is that they shall study and un-derstand the issues and then make their votes represent exactly what they want.

Americans."

While Mr. Bryan was referring to the trusts and speaking of those who were prosperous under the present administration, some one asked: "How about Abner McKinley?"

Mr. Bryan replied: "That is a family matter and I'll leave you to deal with "."

No hands went up when he asked for those who were loaning money to Europe, whereupon Mr. Bryan expressed much surprise that this should be the case in the President's own State.

At Zanesville Mr. Bryan spoke for fifteen misutes, giving the greater share of his attention to the guest. In this of his attention to the trusts. In this connection he said: "I want to ask you whether the men

Mr. Bryan discussed the Philippine question and in closing his speech said:
"Do unto others as you would they should do unto you." You would not allow any government to fasten upon you the government that you want to fasten upon the Filipinos and if you are do not deserve liberty yourselves."

Chamberlain Bitterly Attacked.

New York, Oct. 13 -A dispatch to the New York, Oct. 13.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:
Attacks upon Mr. Chamberlain have increased in bitterness and malignant spirit. The closing speeches of the liberal canvass are credited mainly against him, and Henry Labouchere's deliberate charge that Abel Thomas, member for Carmarthen, held incriminating letters and would have read them if Cecil Rhodes had been attacked by him is reprinted in the opposition them if Cecil Rhodes had been attacked by him, is reprinted in the opposition press. Mr. Hawkesley has declied the charge from the liberal platform but Mr. Labouchere is not satisfied at his attempting to force Mr. Thomas to arraign Mr. Chamberlain. Cecil Rhodes has, however, greatly improved his reputation by striking the right key in his addresses on South Africa and there are signs of public impatience over the persistency with which Mr. Chamberlain is attacked. Lord Salisbury is invariably drawn toward associates when they are under fire and Mr. Chamberlain is well nigh certain to command the prime ministers' support. His real source of danger is the jealousy of the old tories.

Small Craft in the Far East.

Washington, Oct, 13.—The extent of the fleet of small craft which the dragand navy gradually have accumulated in the far east is shown by reports to work progressing at the Cavite yards. These show four steamers, Eleano Meriveles, Taalens and Mendora, three gun-boats, the Albay, Callamenes and Garoqui, and two armored tugs, the Ortolora and Rapido, now undergoing repairs. Some of these boats were captured by the army and turned over to the navy, and all of them are said to be well adapted for service in the shallow waters along the coast. Janitor Siddoway called out to the young man to be careful, while his a distant, George Hilton, caught hold the pole with a view of steadying it as much as possible.

Jeffs climbed up the staff like a cat and was at the top in a "lifty." He threw his legs around the staff and immediately set to work fixing the rope and pulley. Quite a few persons wit-nessed the feat from the grounds, while many turned their heads away expecting every minute that the young man would miss his hold and fall. Others expected to see the pole break in two, for the manner in which it walved made it look almost certain that such would happen.

IN KENTUCKY.

Henderson, Ky., Oct. 13.-Governor Roosevelt began his campaign in Kentucky, at 8 o'clock, making an address at this place. A large crowd greeted the governor, who was escorted from the train by prominent Kentucky politicians. Governor Roosevelt said in part:

"In this campaign I feel that I have a right to appeal to you on more than one issue. I believe emphatically in sound currency, expansion and in the honoring of the flag, and most of all, in orderly liberty under the law, which lies at the foundation of our insitutions. I believe emphatically in a square deal for every man and that he be allowed to have his vote counted as it was cast. I believe it in New York and I believe it in New York and I believe this is less a party contest than a crusade for freedom. I have stood on the platmen, and with men who have worn the gray, and all agree that liberty stands as the hale of American citizenship. If and all agree that liberty stands as the basis of American citizenship.
