Correspondence.

BOYNE, Charlevoix Co., Mich., Dec. 1, 1883.

Editor Deseret News:

Sir: Enclosed is one dollar for the continuance of the DESERET NEWS and a few clippings for insertion therein if you think proper. I am watching the signs of the times with great interest. My son is taking the DESERET NEWS, and I am getting the Josephite Herald and the Toledo Blade and two other home papers with this object in view. We have taken great interest in the discussion between L. O. Littlefield and Joseph Smith, as to whether his father introduced the doctrine of plural marriage; and my simple opinion is that if young Joseph Smith was arraigned before any civilized court on earth on the charge of murder, with such a cloud of witnesses against him as there are against his father touching his instrumentality in introducing that doctrine, young Joseph would hang, where hanging follows murder, as certain as the sun rises to-morrow.

The testimony and teachings of Joseph's mother Emma Smith, seems to have more weight with him than all that is written in all the books of God. I have not much faith in Joseph Smith as a critic. Nathan's parable to David of the poor man's lamb very clearly signifies the wife of Uriah. That being the case, the "flock" that the rich man refused to take from, signified the wide chance and privilege that David had to chose one or more wives in Israel with perfect freedom, and entirely without blame. In saying that God did not give the wives of Saul into the bosom of David to be David's wives Joseph acts very like a lawyer with a very hopeless case upon his hands. But things are seemingly now coming to a crisis, when all will have a chance to see whether this doctrine will prevail or not. My honest opinion is that Joseph Smith will one day see his childish error in opposing a principle so well and so thoroughly upheld by the Bible; and that he will feel humble enough then. A man in my mind might just as well and consistently before opposing the literal return of the Jews, the payment of tithing, the necessity of the Priesthood, or baptism for the dead. Joseph has been for 20 years contending against plural marriage as adultery, fornication and whoredom. "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: adultery, fornication, uncleanliness, lasciviousness, etc. xxx: 2. * * * * *

Of the which, says Paul, "I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the Kingdom of God." Gal. 5: 19-21.

"Be not deceived; neither fornicators nor idolators nor adulterers, etc., shall inherit the Kingdom of God." First Cor. 6: 9, 10.

"Verily I say unto you, as I have said before, that he that looketh on a woman to lust after her * * They shall not have the spirit—but shall deny the faith, and shall fear. Wherefore, I the Lord, have said that the fearful and the unbelieving, and all liars, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie and the whoremonger, etc., shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death. Verily I say unto you, he shall not come forth in the first resurrection." Doc. and Cov., given August, 1831.

"Woe unto the murderer who deliberately killeth, for he shall die. Woe unto those who commit whoredoms, for they shall be cast down to hell." Book of Mormon, 2d book of Nephi: chap. 6.

It is very clear then that the fate of the fornicator, whoremaster and adulterer is settled; their die is cast and their doom is sealed, and that outer darkness is their portion, and not the kingdom of God most assuredly.

How then does it happen, taking young Joseph Smith's views of the case, that all who marry two, three or four wives are adulterers, fornicators and whoremasters, that Jacob, Abraham, the Prophet Samuel's father, Gideon, Barak and many other righteous men, with their wives and their children are now and have been in the time of Christ in the kingdom of heaven? For Jesus Christ, the highest authority in heaven and on earth, has said that, "many shall come from the east and from the west, and from the north and the south, and shall sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of God," etc. Satisfied that Abraham and Jacob are there, makes it unquestionable that many others equally righteous with themselves, who have also married several wives must be there also with their wives and children. "Can heaven itself be heaven," to those who are separated from those they love? We answer no! And the fact that the twelve foundations of the walls of the most glorious city of the celestial kingdom are called after the twelve sons of Jacob—a man, who, according to Joseph Smith's very exalted views, was only a mere whoremaster all his married life—is a withering argument that God did not then, and does not now, regard the sons of such men, or their mothers, and fathers as bastards, harlots or whoremasters. Well, what are Joseph Smith and his brethren going to do about it? If they hate this doctrine here, how will they endure it there, "in the sweet by and by?" Will they vote them out of the kingdom? Verily Joseph's vocabulary of vices and virtues as named in the Scriptures, is in remarkable tune!

Let me mention another thing. Jacob in conferring his last blessing upon his twelve sons in relation to the last days, says of Reuben: "Thou art my firstborn * * * unstable as water thou shalt not excel, because thou wentest up to thy fathers bed, then defiledst thou it. (Gen. 49—3, 4.) "Now the sons of Reuben, the first born of Israel, for he was the first born, but for as much as he defiled his fathe s bed, his birthright was given unto the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel." (1st Chron. 5—1, 2)

Looking at this thing in the young Josephite spirit, what a confounded medley, and conflict of vices and virtues are here. Just think in the first place of a lifelong whoremaster getting up with the spirit of prophecy to bless a lot of young bastards, the product of his long and debauched life! Then think of one whoremaster defiling another whoremaster's bed! Then think of a harlot being defiled!!! Lastly think of the young Josephites getting up before a public congregation, and undertaking to prove this land of America the land of Joseph the patriarch, by quoting the inspired prophecies of this life long old libertine. "Can ye my friends forbear to laugh?"

Now young Joseph has received many flatteries and caresses of many leading men in the United States, because of his persistent fighting of his brethern in Utah—not because they care a button for young Joseph's faith otherwise, but if this same class of men do not yet despise young Joseph much more than they will ever despise the Utah Mormons, most certainly I will. That is all.

Sincerely and truly,

WINGFIELD WATSON.

SEVIER STAKE CONFERENCE.

RICHFIELD, Sevier Co., Dec. 4, 1883.

Editor Deseret News:

The Sevier Stake Conference was held here on the 24th and 25th ult., as previously announced.

It was a complete gathering of the Presidency of the Stake, the Bishops and many of their Counselors, members of the High Council, presidency of the High Priests' Quorum, Seventies, Elders, etc.

Elder Cyrus H. Wheelock and Bishop Brown, of Pleasant Grove, also a youthful Brother named Carlyle, each of whom in turn addressed the Conference in a conspicuously able and impressive manner; Elder Wheelock on the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph, Bishop Brown on the past and present aspects of affairs, and condition of this people, and Elder Carlyle in the pleasing manner of a Utah graduate, portrayed his convictions of the truth as presented to his mind at home and on his mission.

These addresses, together with the seasonable instructions of Presidents Spencer, Thurber and Seegmiller and various remarks by several of the Bishops and others rendered our Quarterly Conference exceedingly interesting and instructive.

Since then the Y. M. M. I. Associations have been largely visited by Superintendent Seegmiller and Brother Carlyle, in whose honor a social party was held last Friday evening.

One hundred and forty-one dollars was forwarded to the Manti Temple, mostly 50 cents monthly donations.

Last Saturday an Educational Institute meeting was held, inaugurated by County Superintendent Harrington, for the mutual improvement of teachers throughout the county; designed for diffusing a knowledge of the best means of communicating instructions to the rising generation.

Stake Recorder.

KILLING BY INSTINCT.

A MONSTER IN NEW MEXICO WHO HAS JUST BEEN CAUGHT.

This town has been in a state of excitement for a week, says a dispatch from Socorro, N. M. Joel Fowler, a man who has killed seven of his fellow-beings and gone unpunished, has at last been brought to justice. He sold his cattle ranch last week for $53,500 cash, and, with his friends took in the town. In liquor he is a very demon, and it was not long before, revolver in hand, he terrorized the town. At last, to-wards morning, he went to a hotel and proceeded to make every one he met dance and sing. A friend named Cole and two others tried to disarm him, and in so doing he drew a knife and stabbed Cole to the heart. At once the people became infuriated and there was every indication that lynching would follow. The prominent citizens organized into a committee and guarded the jail. A strange state of circumstances arose. There was one party of men who were suspected of an attempt to release the culprit; a second that were anxious to lynch him, and the third, which prevailed, to protect him in a fair trial. Fowler was examined before Justice Beal, and bound over without bail for his appearance next Monday before the grand jury. A new warrant was served on Fowler and his cousin, John Barns, last Monday, charging them with the murder of Pony Deal and Butcherknife Bill two months ago at Alamo Ranch. Witnesses were brought in to-day, whose testimony shows that this was one of the most cold-blooded murders ever committed in this country of desperate crimes. This last warrant broke the firmness of Fowler. Last night in jail he wept like a child, even prayed and called for a revolver, that he might commit self-destruction. The city has been placed under martial law by the Governor, to prevent disorder, but the public mind is at fever heat, and apprehension is alive lest scenes of bloodshed transpire. Fowler is a small man, but as strong as a giant. His instinct is to kill. While in White Oak three years ago he killed three men. He murdered one at Georgetown two years ago. In August last he killed two men at Alamo ranch. His skill in handling weapons is marvelous. It was seldom he drank, but on such occasions he became a very fiend.—Ex

To clean door plates use a wet solution of ammonia in water applied with a wet rag.

To wash castor bottles, put them one third full of rice and fill up with water; shake thoroughly.

In Irapura, the loftiest of the Sumatra volcanoes, is 3,700 metres, or 11,500 feet high. At the summit the temperature is 8°. At an altitude of 2,500 metres the region of large trees terminates.

According to Consul Ayme, of Merida, the northern portion of the State of Yucatan is a level plain of recent geological formation. The soil is poor, shallow and stony. There are no rivers on the surface, but large subterranean streams are known to exist. Small caves, or "cenotes," as they are called, are found everywhere, and they always contain water.

The government of France offers a prize of 50,000 francs for the discovery that shall enable electricity to be applied economically in any one of the following directions: As a source of heat, of light, of chemical action, of mechanical power, as a means of the transmission of intelligence, or the treatment of disease; the prize being open to all nationalities, and to be awarded in December, 1887.

It has been officially announced that during the next three years there will be held the following international exhibitions in the South Kensington buildings: "In 1884, a sanitary and educational exhibition, comprising health as applied to food and drink, the dwelling, and dress; also, general and technical education. In 1885, an exhibition of industrial inventions, especially labor-saving machinery; and in 1886, an Indian and colonial exhibition.

In his lecture on secondary batteries and the electrical storage of energy, Prof. Oliver Lodge says that, instead of a plain lead plate, lead sponge may be employed for the negative plate, and this is made by blowing high pressure steam through a jet of molten lead, thus securing an enormous surface which enables the spongy lead to go on acting for a much longer time than the plain lead. A copper plate may be substituted for the lead negative plate, and will give a strong and lasting current. It lasts, of course, because copper sulphate is soluble, and no insulating scum is formed; but that this cell has a fairly high electromotive force is a striking proof of the value of peroxide of lead as the electro-negative element of a battery. Even platinum gives a current when opposed to peroxide of lead, though of course it is a feeble one. But if zinc is used we have the strongest practicable battery the writer knows of, each cell having an electro-motive force of 2.6 volts.

When you don't just know what ails you; when you feel aches and pains all over; when you feel tired and faint, use Brown's Iron Bitters. A wonderful reviver.
