THEATRICAL.—"The Lancashire Lass" was produced for the fourth time last evening, and to a fair house. This makes five performances of this sensational drama, together with the Matinee this afternoon. Considering that the piece in the great metropolis of the Pacific coast had a run of only five nights, it has been doing pretty well for Salt Lake City.

This evening Mr. McCullough will make his last appearance, and by "particular request" assume the part of "Hamlet," in Shakespeare's great masterpiece. Madame Scheller will appear again in her matchless character of Ophelia, and Mr. Waldron as the Ghost. The cast is the same as before. Let the house be crowded this evening, and let the citizens give Mr. McCullough such a hearty farewell as will cause him to remember Salt Lake City with pleasure.

To-morrow evening Madame Scheller will commence her engagement in the exquisite role of "Violet" in "The Life of an Actress," Boucault's great comic drama, in which she will introduce several songs. Mr. Waldron appears in his great character of "Grimaldi, the old French Actor." The cast is strong, embracing the whole strength of the company. "The Life of an Actress" is a most amusing play, full of comical situations. It fairly speaks with wit and humor.

"Pauvrete" is in active preparation, and will be produced as soon as "The Avalanche" is ready to move.

The revival of the great fairy spectacle, "Cinderella," is also spoken of.

FINED.—Thomas Fenerick and John Morra, arrested for drunkenness last night, had an audience with His Honor, Justice Clinton, this morning, when the former paid $10 into the city treasury, and the latter $5 and costs.

VIRGINIA CITY CHARTER.—The Montana Post, published at Helena, but formerly at Virginia city, heartily approves and unqualifiedly endorses the proposition to repeal the Virginia City charter, a bill for that object having been introduced into the Legislative Council. It says:

"To see a town of the size of Virginia, and peopled as sparsely as she is to-day, governed by a municipal organization, consisting of a Mayor, four or five Aldermen, City Attorney, Police Magistrate and one or two Marshals, all to be paid out of the hard earnings of her citizens, is a burlesque even upon unpardonable conceit."

It wants to see the taxes cut down, for in addition, it says, to the oppressive tax that rests upon citizens, there is a super-added per cent, almost as great for municipal purposes.

Montana municipal authorities can learn something from Utah about city government as well as about other things. No city in Utah, not excepting Salt Lake City, pays its Mayor, Aldermen, Councilors or any other officer whose time is not entirely occupied in the duties of his office, any salary. These positions are filled as a matter of honor and not as profit. The popular opinion with us about such offices, is like that which we entertain about our ministers of religion. If a man cannot minister in spiritual things, and sustain himself without being dependent upon the public for support, he is unfit for the position, and had better drop his preaching and turn his entire attention to providing for himself and family. A man who cannot act as Mayor, Alderman, or Councilor, without salary, had better decline the position. There are hundreds of men who fill official positions, in this Territory, for which they get no compensation, or if they do get any, it is so trifling as to be no inducement to them to retain the place. They fill them because they feel that, as citizens, the commonwealth has some claim upon them. The result of this public-spiritedness on the part of our officers is that our municipalities, counties and Territory are out of debt.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Brother Wm J. Andrews, of Paragonah, Iron Co. wants to gain some information of his mother, Harriet Andrews, and of his grandfather, Steven Mansfield. They resided formerly in Gosport, England, and crossed the plains in 1863, arriving here in the fall of that year in Daniel McCarthy's train.

DIED. at Panaca, Meadow Valley, Washington Co., U. T. on the 8th inst. Constanza Clarrinda, wife of Daniel M. Tallis. Deceased was the daughter of Daniel and Clarrinda Stanton, and was born in Davis Co., Missouri, April 24th, 1833.

DISINFECTANT.—Dr. Rowell, of San Francisco, stated at the Sanitary Convention at that City, that an excellent disinfectant can be easily and cheaply eliminated from common salt, black oxide of manganese and sulphuric acid. The salt we have in endless quantities, and we believe the manganese also. This receipt is worth remembering.

QUALITY SHOULD GOVERN PRICE.—It is the general practice in this city, if a man has wheat or other grain, butter, poultry, hay, etc., to sell, to expect a fixed price for these articles regardless of the quality. A man having poor wheat, or unclean wheat, middling butter, or inferior poultry to sell, in nine cases out of ten, asks the price which he hears first-class articles of the same kind bring. This must certainly strike every person of reflection as a very unfair way of doing business. If poor wheat is to sell for as much as good, what inducement is there for a man to take pains and go to expense in raising a first-class article? If any kind of flour is to bring as much in market as the best that can be manufactured, what incentive is there for millers to build costly mills with first-class machinery? So with hay, butter, poultry, and everything else. Such a practice is wrong, and should be frowned upon and broken up. Articles sold in the market should be graded in price according to their excellence; and no one should expect to get as much for frowy butter, (such as William Dunbar showed us a sample of the other day, the inside blue and mouldy and the outside galvanized with a coating of tolerable butter) as they would for a sweet, wholesome article. Sellers should be made to understand this, and then they may make greater exertions to produce a really good article.

CONCEALED DEADLY WEAPONS.—The Reese River Revue denounces "the assassin-like practice of carrying concealed deadly weapons in towns and cities where law is maintained." It says:

"It is not an uncommon thing in this city for an infuriated savage to draw his revolver, cock it, and flourish it wildly in a saloon crowded with men, or to do the same things in the street, along which men, women, and children are walking every minute. It has happened more than once that bad, worthless men, between whom that kind of feud existed which ought to bring honest men their own, have drawn their pistols in the street and fell to shooting at each other like savages, maiming themselves but wounding and even killing innocent and good men. These acts of lawless savagery must be stopped, even if it takes a little time to accomplish it."
