

$1,448,900, as against less than $70,000 by his plan. As part of the refunding measures of Congress, and in order to induce banks to accept three per cents, a bond bill was passed by the Senate, unanimously repealing tax on bank deposits, which would have reduced the annual revenues of the government $6,569,486, as shown by the receipts of 1880. The House committee on ways and means of the last Congress, for like reasons, reported favorably on the bill, repealing the tax on bank deposits, and also the two cent stamp tax on bank check, drafts and orders, amounting in the aggregate to $8,676,690.

The election of a democratic member of the House of Representatives from the eleventh New York district, destroys the majority of the straight out republicans, and they will be able to muster only 146 votes one less than a majority. The republicans here are not very much concerned over this, as they express no doubt of being able to pick up the one vote required to constitute a majority without much trouble. They have nine greenbackers, two Virginia readjusters and one New York independent republican to draw from, and their calculations are therefore based on good foundation, although if these 12 members, who belong to neither of the regular organizations, were to combine, they could dictate their own terms. But since the readjusters of Virginia are indebted for success in their state election to the aid of republicans, there is no doubt that the two readjuster members from that state will vote with the republicans in the organization of the House.

Internal revenue agent Chapman at Atlanta, Georgia, telegraphs to Commissioner Raum, that on Friday last he seized packages of illicit whisky from W. F. Waller, in Habersham county. In my presence he avowed his purpose to put a bullet through Taylor Love, whom he supposed informed against him. I have just learned he has since mortally wounded Love, firing two loads of buckshot, one of which passed through his wife's bonnet on her head. Commissioner Raum notified Chapman to consult with the district attorney and use every possible means to secure the arrest and punishment of Waller.

NEW YORK, 10.—The Public today says: Another raid upon the Pacific Mail has attracted the attention of the street. Depressed prices have shaken out some holders. The cholera on the isthmus, to which the latest depression is attributed, appears to have been of a very mild type, discoverable only in Wall Street. The cause, so far as such a movement can be said to have a cause, was a notice by the Pacific roads of the abrogation of their contract with the steamship company and the cause of that cause, in all probability was the desire of somebody to buy something. It may be suspected that the Pacific Mail Company still owns some steamers which persons connected with the Pacific railroads would like to own, and it is certain that a well known banker of Indianapolis has a block of stock which some person would be pleased to have him sell at low figures, but the stock has not yet shown the desired alacrity in dropping off of late, and the banker aforementioned seems more inclined to buy than to drop. When the Panama Railroad has succeeded in paying high prices for the property, we advise to take an inventory and to see whether it gets possession of any good steamer.

The Times' Washington special says the officers of the Engineer's Corps are indignant at what they term the unsoldierly attack made upon them in the annual report of Gen. Sherman. Among other similar insinuations he says: I will concede to the engineers all they ask, but when war comes the engineers naturally take to maneuvering and to parapets, whereas the infantry, cavalry and artillery must go in and do the fighting. It was so in 1812, in 1846 and in 1861.

NEW YORK, 11.—The Tribune, on the failure of the Star route cases says: It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that Corkhill, for some reason, deliberately betrayed the interests of the government he had sworn faithfully to serve.

The Times, in a more liberal article says: The facts show that Corkhill lacked that positive interest and zeal that should have led him to ascertain whether the government had any use for the grand jury.

The Herald and Sun charge the responsibility for the blunder on the side of the government to MacVeagh.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, 9.—The new Lord Mayor went in solemn procession to Guildhall, with the usual ancient display, which drew immense crowds and with an innovation in the programme, with the object of honoring the American people, which was received with great enthusiasm. The "Stars and Stripes" were carried in the procession preceded by the drum and fife band of the 4th Battalion of London Militia, playing the "Star Spangled Banner." After a short interval came the band from the training ship Warspite, playing "Yankee Doodle." The American flag was received with general clapping of hands and cheers. The same honor was not conspicuously rendered to any other feature of the procession, except as the coaches of the new and old mayors passed by. There was a demonstration as the procession passed the office of the United States Cable Company. Four young ladies waved American flags from the windows as our banner went by and there was loud and continued applause. To-day being devoted to the Lord Mayor's show, is a holiday and business is suspended.

PARIS, 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies Premier Ferry replied to the attacks on the government. He said the government would have been open to censure if it had not supported the interests of French subjects. The time had arrived to terminate the intrigues against French influence in Tunis. It was impossible to adjust frontier disputes amicably because of the impotency of the Bey. The cabinet had followed the constant tradition of French diplomacy and guarded French interests by means of a protectorate which permitted France to take what others would have taken. It was the sole means of closing the frontier of Algeria against dangers threatened by the possible extension of the Eastern conflict to the Mediterranean.

The foreign missionary seminary has a telegram from Hong Kong, dated Tuesday, stating that a terrible typhoon raged in Western Tonquin; 200 churches, 34 parsonages and colleges and 2,000 houses are destroyed. VIENNA, 10.—All rivers in Upper Albania have overflowed their banks and large tracts of land are inundated. At Sculari several lives were lost.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., 11.—A great part of Woodstock is on fire. This time incendiaryism without a shadow of a doubt caused the disaster. About midnight the Mechanic's Institute was discovered to be on fire. A heavy northwest wind was blowing, and in a few minutes the building was enveloped in flames. An engine was soon at work but the fire spread to W. F. Debbes' and Benjamin Smith's new residences, and they were burned to the ground.

In the meantime flames burst out in Mayor R. K. Jones' barn, a third of mile to the windward of the fire. The wind now seemed to blow a hurricane, and swept the flames on to Jones' residence, then across the street, the fire spreading each way. Soon both sides of Main Street were fiercely burning. The Free Baptist Church, old and new Episcopal churches, and the Register's offices were wrapped in flames. Consternation was now on every face. The work of destruction was of short duration. The engine company having stopped the flames at the Institute, a section came across the bridge to battle with the greater and newer danger. Men were driven down Main Street, house by house, till at last, on the street passing the new hotel, they finally stayed the devouring element. The fire swept Main Street from Hugh Hayes' to the Town Hall, for 10 rods on each side, running down to a point on the river, ending with the residence of J. G. Allen. Some 80 houses were burned. The occupants are now sheltered by inhabitants whose houses escaped the flames. The loss is placed at $80,000; insurance, $30,000. No lives were lost, but many persons were injured.

MADRID, 11.—There was an imposing sitting in Congress to-day. The galleries were crowded with diplomats, senators and deputies, filling the floor of the house, while the cabinet was present to hear the chief of the democrats, Senor Merat, who declared in the name of his friends, that they believed that the present monarchy and dynasty was compatible with democracy and public liberties. He gave his unconditional support to the policy of Senor Sagasta, and severely attacked the conservatives. In the course of his remarks he made an eloquent allusion to President Garfield and the American people, who had so touchingly proved that in defense of the principles of justice, and mostly a republican people, could accept Queen Victoria's wreath of flowers laid on the bier of a great and noble martyr to his duty. Loud cheers from every part of the house and galleries, saluted these remarks. The speech caused much sensation on account of the blow dealt to republicanism, already much divided.

ALEXANDRIA, 12.—A telegram dated Djiddah, Nov. 6th, announces that the cholera at Mecca has increased. The mortality on the 3rd, 4th and 5th was 55, 215 and 614 respectively. #### GENERAL AND SELECT.

Editor Deseret News:

Every good member of the community desires that the interests of public morality should be subserved. Past experience has exhibited the fact that despoilers of virtue and domestic peace have obtained their initiating opportunities for accomplishing their evil designs through the medium of social gatherings.

This manifests the importance of guarding these avenues for the insinuations of the vicious, by making them as select as practicable.

Appropriate to this subject, I frequently notice, in the papers, public mention made that a select party will be held in a certain Ward hall, or other local building. What appears singular to me in this connection is that such notoriety should be given to a matter that is not, from its prima facie nature, for the general public, but the select few sufficiently fortunate to receive an invitation. It looks to me as if such beforehand announcements were in the nature of invitations of a general character. The question is, however, as to whether or not such previous publicity does not inform those who might be of an evil-designing turn when they can get opportunities to insinuate themselves into association with innocent people. I now refer exclusively to dancing parties.

I can see the utility, however, of noticing in the columns of newspapers the fact of parties having taken place, as a matter of news to one section of the city about what is going on in another.

It is the previous publication that appears somewhat contradictory, when the affair is to be select.

Yours, SIMPLICITY.
