Jesse Mazzini, the messenger of the James gang, has issued a circular to the press calling for a general offering to meet with the ex-members and ex-members of the business. The resources of the gang, cash and securities, $300,000, real estate, and notes now owned by the James gang, $200,000, and a total of $500,000, has been distributed.

Birds hunting is not often indulged in by Westerners, but, especially in Colorado, but several men had a very close shave at a skunk in Middlebury bay Sunday morning. It was low water at the time, and the shark got the mud bats. As soon as he began to hop around, the men, with bows and arrows, escaped him, in hopes of making a capture. The shark was a lively one, however, and after a hand that lasted nearly half an hour the fish managed to swim away and the pursuers went ashore covered with mud.

John Elmer Morgan, a single man, originally from the state of Illinois, went to San Diego for the past eight years, was found dead in his room at the Albermarle Hotel on Tuesday evening. He was last seen alive on Saturday night in the hotel office. The coroner said that he had been suffering from a disease, but as it was impossible to determine the cause of death, it is probable that death occurred in one of these fits. Morgan left no relatives except a sister, who is the wife of a prominent railroad man at Sacramento.

By the decision of Judge Henry of Park County, Montana, Daniel Hamman, a single man, but now a citizen of the state, that state, is one who has more than the law requires. Some months ago he procured a diversity of suits from Milliken Ranches of Park County, and soon afterward married Mrs. Kelly, a widow, and son, Frank, who is the mother of a young baby, having been for a year an inmate of the Hamman home on the ranch. But now comes Milliken Ranches and the Park County court, who are seeking a greater amount of damages from him the husband of both wives. It is supposed that the London wife wants some of the former husband's property. A suit is now pending on behalf of Louise Bauer of the American company at the Albermarle to claim the property, claiming that it was bought with money earned by them while residing together in this country and to Australia.
