

MOST TERRIFIC BATTING STREAK.

Salt Lakes Hit Pendergraft Twenty-Four Times.

SCORE EIGHTEEN TO THREE

Morrow and Hale Make Big Batting Record—Webster's Home Run—Hawley's Great Pitching.

The Salt Lakes defeated the Park City in a one-sided game this morning down at the League park, the score being 18 to 3 in seven innings. For all the big scores, the game was characterized by some of the most brilliant fielding ever seen in this country, and the Salt Lakes developed a batting streak which remains unequalled in the history of Utah baseball.

Pendergraft who pitched for the visitors, was so badly punished that even the most ardent admirers of the home team were sorry for him.

In the first inning the Salt Lakes piled up ten hits, one a three-bagger by Morrow and a two-bagger by McCausland. Every man came to the bat and every one got a hit with the exception of Pendergraft, who was hit by Morrow and Hale four times.

Webster made two, and in the sixth inning batted one clean and wide over the left fence for a home run, scoring Barr. Such is the story of a brief of the work done by the Salt Lakes with the bat, and their fielding work was just as good.

They played an errorless game until the fifth when Hawley, who was playing short, threw a wide one to McCausland on first. McCausland made one in the seventh which was all.

Now, a word about "Pink" Hawley. Throughout the seven innings his pitching was simply superb. First last and all the time he had perfect control of the ball and had the Parkites at his mercy. Eight times did he cause the boys on the other side to run the breeze and long for home at the end of the matter of hits they touched him but once until the fourth when they got three: two of them good for two bases. Altogether he gave only seven and they were well scattered, and not one time was he kind and gracious enough to pass a poor one man to him.

A funny incident occurred in the sixth with Billy McCausland as the central figure. He was running to second on an error of short when he was hit by the ball and threw it full at the rental Billy. It hit him, too, on the heel, but Billy was game and limped his way to third and finally came home to rest.

Following is the score by innings and the line up:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7

Samuelson Breaks Record

Splendid Performance by the Provo Rider, Who Makes the Distance in 47 Min. 21 Secs.

W. H. Barnes, first place and novice time prize: time 49:64. W. E. Samuelson, time prize. Time 47:21, or 1:31 lower than the previous record held for the Farmington course.

It was a great race in every sense of the word. The riding of Samuelson, the Provo lad, was a feature that will go down in local cycling history. The effort of Barnes, too, was one that will place him in the front rank of young riders. Taken all in all it was also a big day for the Twenty-first ward, the first five men to cross the tape all hailing from that part of the northeast bench. The race was not without the excitement of the occasion. In the first place the train was made up of thirteen cars, and those in the thirteenth were in constant peril from the fact that the roof threatened to cave in with its burden of humanity. Then, too, those responsible at the Farmington end of the course had neglected to rope off the finish and also sprinkle the roadway. As a consequence the populace had to kick holes in the dust in order to view the riders, while the riders carried their lives in their hands as they raced for the tape. Spills were accordingly both numerous and exciting. After young Woolley had been carried from the scene in an insensible condition from the effects of a high dive into the crowd, and several gentlemen had pulled up, more basic, the riders were ordered to arrange their attire and hunt an arnica bottle, the onlookers were not so unkind. The incidents at the close of the run, however, had the effect of somewhat marred the otherwise perfect event.

Despite the stiff headwind that was blowing, seventy-eight of the eighty riders entered showed up at the starting point on Fifth North and Third West streets at 10 o'clock this morning. It was an auspicious perfect event, the start at the call of time. All sorts and conditions of costumes were in evidence, from the ornate racing suit down to bathing costumes and a pair of ancient circus lights, spangles and all. The traveling commissariats carried by some of the riders were also things awful to contemplate, ranging as they did from lemons tied to strings down to sponges, feeding bottles and babies' comforters.

Functionally at 10:15 Starter C. H. Dowse flashed his gun and the 6:30 handicap men hit the trail for their seventeen-mile ride. There were nine times at half-minute intervals the riders pointed northwest in squalls and battalions. Then Samuelson started out solo on his long chase and the crowd stamped for the car.

The crowd around up the hill and at the end caught a bunch of riders who were actively engaged in dodging cobblestones. On reaching Beck's hill it was seen that Samuelson was going great guns and caught the minute he was taking up the rise after the other bunch. He passed them ere the toboggan on the other side had commenced. From then on glimpses of panting, pantless riders were caught through the green foliage as they dodged wagons and took up races with the youth of Davis county astride the family plow horse. Through Bountiful the train went at a three-minute clip to later slow down at the open stretch to the finish. They could be seen strung out at intervals across the landscape as they raced for the hill that later proved to be a veritable bakery.

Munson at this period was so taken up with the millinery displayed on board that he had lifted his hands, presumably to arrange his disordered locks. The next instant Munson plowed the highway with his shoulder for the delectation of an American holiday crowd.

At one spot on the road someone had thoughtfully turned an irrigation ditch loose. This obstacle was eventually navigated with but the loss of three men. Then the train put on steam and raced for the tape. The train was just time to disgorge the crowd when the form of Barnes came round the bend. One minute later a bunch comprising Walker, Woolley, Mitchell and Taylor came pumping down the home stretch and the tape had been passed they mixed up with the crowd in a fashion that put two of the riders out for the time being. Robinson and Young were the next two to fall foul of the crowd and in the process several square inches of cuticle. From then on the men came in in bunches at half minute intervals until Samuelson came riding down the road like a whirlwind. It was patent to everyone that he had broken the record, and as he passed the tape twenty-seventh on the list he received an ovation. After sixty-seven of the riders had reported to headquarters the judges concluded that they would not take the time of the stragglers.

Among the late arrivals was J. H. Thompson, who finished sixty-first with but one pedal.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR MCGOVERN

San Francisco, May 29.—Terry McGovern had an easy victory over Aurelio Herrera tonight at Mechanics' pavilion. There was never a time at any stage of the game McGovern did not have the ambitious aspirant for championship honors at his mercy, and from a disinterested standpoint looked on such a victory as a foregone conclusion. McGovern fought bravely for four rounds and then put him out in the fifth.

While McGovern rained blows on his man at all times, it was not until the beginning of the fifth that he put his strength and weight behind them. The end came quickly after that, as at the first lead of a right and left on the jaw Herrera went down for the count. He came up gamely, only to go down again. The last time he was unable to get on his feet at the end of the count and was declared out.

The preliminary between Danny Dougherty and Kid McFadden was a rattling contest. The men fought from start to finish, and the decision went to Dougherty on his cleverness. McFadden did the forcing all through, but was met at every step with stiff left jabs on the face and hard rights on the body. McFadden fought briefly in the last round and sent Dougherty to his knees with a right jolt as the gone ended the fight.

The crowd was one of the biggest that ever assembled at the pavilion, estimated at between 7,000 and 8,000. Referee Wand gave satisfaction as referee.
