A Unrious Place to Preach In .-

One of the brethren who resided at Dover, England, remarked to an acquaintance of ours once, that, according to scriptural record, the Apostle Paul had preached the gospel under a great variety of circumstances and in many strange places, but he himself had preached where he thought Paul never had - "at d43 the bottom of the sea." He explained that, when engaged in the construction of the Dover breakwater, when sixty feet below the surface of the ocean, in a diving bell, he used frequently to preach
