License Now Being Collected Prohibitive, Is Claim Made By Them.

WILL CALL A MASS MEETING

Several Hundred Business Firms Assure M. & M. Association of Their Support in Seeking Reduction.

In order to suggest to the city council some logical manner in which to provide added revenue for municipal purposes, a mass meeting will be called by the merchants of this city, who oppose in no uncertain terms the collection of a license which is declared to be prohibitive in certain classes of business. The meeting has the support of the greater number of merchants in this city, as the accompanying list of names will testify. The Manufacturers and Merchants' Association has taken up the work of collecting opinion in this matter, and this morning Secretary Lon J. Haddock gave out the following signed statement from local merchants to the association:

Gentlemen:—We heartily approve the calling of a mass meeting of the interests affected for the consideration of the present merchants' license, and will see that our firm is represented there in person.

PROPER TEACHING OF THE HOLY BIBLE

Main Topic Discussed at Church School Teachers' Convention Yesterday Afternoon.

ADDRESS BY NEPHI L. MORRIS

Monday's Program Put Forward Today in Order to Permit Attendance at Summer School.

Yesterday was a very lively day for the Church school teachers' convention. With the exception of President Brimhall's paper on tithing, nothing in the gathering thus far has provoked so much discussion as the papers and talks yesterday on the teaching of the Bible. The subject of how to teach the Old Testament, which should have been given at the morning session by Principal Dalby of the Rexburg academy, was carried over to the afternoon session. President Young's paper on ethics and athletics, which was programmed for the afternoon, was given this morning.

Principal Dalby would lay most stress, he said, on the development of character in the Old Testament. And he instanced the separation of Lot and Abraham, as serving to show the difference in character between these two men—Lot with not a little self-interest, Abraham altogether unselfish. Some books he would pass by entirely, as not containing the material for character, except in a negative way.

The discussions which followed drew forth a variety of viewpoints and methods of teaching the Hebrew Scriptures. One thought, for instance, that it was necessary to tie the course together by giving historical treatment, including geography, society, law, philosophy, and prophecy in the Jewish life. Another would lay stress on the dealing of God with the Jews, and slight many points in biography.

THE NEW TESTAMENT.

A paper on the New Testament was read by P. A. Hinckley. He laid more emphasis on the necessity of giving in an introductory course such historical and geographical information as would put the student in a better way of interpreting the sayings and acts of Christ and His apostles. He would not exclude other things, however, for he made the interpretation and application of Jesus' teachings the prime purpose of the study of the New Testament. At the conclusion of the afternoon meeting it was decided to put Monday's program forward to today in order to allow those teachers who wished to do so to attend summer school. This afternoon and evening, however, are being spent by the pedagogues at Wadman.

PRESIDENT NEPHI L. MORRIS.

The address by President Nephi L. Morris was given last evening as announced. It was one of the most thoughtful and most pertinent of the convention. He endows a well-organized address on the subject of self-trust. The speaker's theme was, that in the school of experience, where there is no compulsion, compulsory system of education, the most blessed and improving thing that God has ever done for man was to throw him out into a hard environment, where it was necessary for him to work. The subject was treated largely from the basis of history. Elder Morris pointed out the conditions that have prevailed at various stages of the world's development, from the earliest time, out of which have come the best in man by reason of the putting forth of his effort, under compulsion. The thrusting out of man from the garden of Eden was in reality a blessing in disguise; God did nothing for man, he was compelled to do everything for himself and thereby grow. The Lord made man as unit as possible for an easy life. He endowed him, however, with the necessary organs for development, of which the speaker instanced the hand—the real scepter of the world. Our teacher, President Morris went on to say, is nature, and nature alone. True, we have been sent interpreters in the form of prophets, poets, reformers; but the great teacher has ever been nature. The last part of the lecture was devoted to the point that it is only our difficulties—the things we have to wrestle with—that bring out our character and reveal us to ourselves. No saying is more profoundly true than that of Paul, the apostle, "When I am weak, then am I strong." The singing was furnished for the whole day by the B. Y. L. The work of the chorus was more profound, especially commendable both in the afternoon and the evening.

Jonasson, Genevieve Love, Trese Lambert, Bertha A. Nickerson, Annie L. Nordvall, Harriett A. Penfold, June Taylor, Wesley Taylor, Annie Harris Taylor, Hattie Tremayne, Irma M. Walker.

SEEKS STOLEN DAUGHTER.

Detective Shannon Will Look for Girl Taken Away by Marins.

A story of a stolen child and a heart-broken mother was called to the attention of the local police this morning when Detective Shannon received a letter from Mrs. H. H. Plant of the Monroe avenue, Kansas City, stating that 10 years ago a 4-year-old girl named Susan was stolen from her mother by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Martin. The letter states that all trace of the child was lost until recently when the mother was informed that her long lost daughter was married to a man named Williams and residing in Salt Lake. The police also asked to locate the young woman, and have her communications with her mother restored. The heartbroken mother over the long separation. ### AMUSEMENTS.

New Theater Talk—The announcement in the "News" that Mrs. Auerbach was building a large theater on Third South, just east of the Freed Furniture company store, has created lively comment in theatrical circles generally. The Auerbachs are known to be too shrewd to lay out any such sum as $150,000 on a theatrical building, unless they had assurances of connections east or west which would keep their house opened after it was built. Mr. Wallace, representative of the Auerbach interests, is non-committal as to future plans, but well founded rumors state that the house will pass under the management of John Cort, the theatrical manager who controls first class houses in Portland, Seattle and other points in the northwest. Mr. Cort is affiliated with the big syndicate into the fold of the syndicate. At any rate, with the new vaudeville house to be erected, the outlook is that Salt Lake's astonishing appetite for amusements of all sorts, is to be kept fully satisfied.

The New Lyric—Prodigious business has marked the first week of the New Lyric, with the camera phone as the attraction, and the stockholders are wearing elongated grins as the result of their venture. They promise weekly changes and have a New York connection which keeps them supplied with all the latest novelties in the camera phone line. A complete change of bill goes on next week.

GUESTS OF MR. NEWHOUSE. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Orlow and the principals of "The Merry Graters" amateur opera company will be guests of Mr. Samuel Newhouse at his residence this evening.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS

Twentieth Ward—Prof. Evan Stephenson will deliver a lecture on music tomorrow evening at 6:30 at the Twentieth ward meeting house. The lecture will render a special program of Stephenson's compositions, consisting of the following numbers: Anthem, "In Our Redeemer's Name," ladies' chorus, "Mother's Lullaby," male chorus, "Invocation to Harmony," soprano solo, "My Friend Divine," Mrs. Mary Romney Ross; anthem, "Grant Us Peace" (quartet by Mrs. Lennie S. Ritter and Eva W. And, and a Song by Mrs. W. Platt; duet by Miss Elvira Truison and James Montoro).

POLITICAL POINTERS

Secy. of State C. S. Tingey was asked by a representative of the Deseret News yesterday whether or not he was a candidate for renomination at the Republican convention. Mr. Tingey's answer was in the affirmative. He said that he had not made up his mind definitely until recently, but he had now decided to enter the field for a second term, and had so notified his friends. This disposes of the gossip which has been prevalent in political circles for some time past, that Mr. Tingey would not accept a renomination.

LATE LOCALS.

Old Board Re-elected—The directors of Zion's Savings Bank & Trust company re-elected the old board of officers, viz., President, Joseph F. Smith; vice president, Anthon H. Lund; cashier, O. C. Beebe; assistant cashier, George S. Spencer.

Miner's Skull Fractured—Gust Sihlin, a Bingham miner, was brought to St. Mark's hospital today, with a badly fractured skull. The miner is conscious and rational, despite the seriousness of the injuries received, and the opinion is held that he will recover. The information was not at hand as to how Sihlin was hurt.

Theft in Office Building—Yesterday afternoon a thief entered the law office of Thurman, Wedgwood & Irvine, 237 Atlas block, and stole a purse belonging to the stenographer. The purse contained $20 in cash, a street car book, and keys to the office and

"They may expatiate upon the soft radiance of a moonlight evening which seems to kindle love in the breasts of young people, but give me the dreary evening when raindrops patter on the window panes, the grate aglow—for an enjoyable evening with a girl whom I like 'mighty well,' soliloquized the young man. After greetings he handed her a box of McDonald's 400 Chocolates—a wisely chosen confection because it is the most tempting made. It is a longheaded young fellow who starts the evening off right. (Let's leave the young couple to their own enjoyment for a couple of hours.) Ten o'clock comes. She is serving him with McDonald's cocoa—ah, there's a girl for you!"
