

WARM TIMES IN A JUSTICE'S COURT.

Yesterday morning at ten o'clock, the case of the People vs. George Buckner, which had been continued from the previous day, was brought up in Justice Tyler's Court.

The parties all appeared promptly on time, and the case was proceeded with—Martin for the People, Denny and Hawley for the defendant.

During the examination of one of the witnesses on behalf of the People, Hawley took occasion to object to a question put by Mr. Martin, saying that he did not know whether the latter gentleman had intended to create a popular sentiment or pettifog in the interest of the people. Mr. Martin, in reply, said he had no intention of manufacturing public sentiment; and, as to the implication of pettifogging, if he had done so, he had been forced into that position by the tactics of the attorneys on the other side.

Right there arose Mr. Denny, who put the question, in an excited manner, as to whether the prosecuting attorney referred to him when he said "pettifogging."

Martin—"I do not say that I refer to you, Mr. Denny, but—"

The Court—"The gentlemen must come to order."

Denny—"If he says I am a pettifogger, he is a liar!" (with emphasis).

Martin—"I did not in particular refer to Mr. Denny, but if the coat fits him let him wear it."

Mr. Denny boiled over at this, and reaching across the table, struck violently at Mr. Martin two or three times, but was immediately surrounded and restrained from further demonstrations.

The court ordered the Marshal to maintain order in court, but hot blood was rife, and Mr. Hawley had by this time caught the infection. Jumping up angrily, he said—"And I follow up the assertion of my friend Denny—if he says I am a pettifogger, he is a liar!"

Martin—"We will not always be in court."

Hawley—"No, we will soon be out of court."

Finally, by the assistance of the Marshal, order was partially restored and the Court could be heard. Mr. Denny then proceeded to apologize to his honor for his offensive conduct, but the court fined him twenty-five dollars and Mr. Hawley fifteen dollars for contempt, ordering them under arrest until paid and prohibiting them from further practicing before the court until the matter was fully adjusted. Mr. Hawley was at first disposed to argue the case, but on consultation with his co-counsel, decided to subside, as Mr. Denny had previously done, and the defendant proceeded with his case himself. This being an entirely new thing for him, he got ahead rather bunglingly, and the Court offered him an opportunity to get other counsel. Mr. Buckner declined, saying that he had always employed the gentlemen who had just been disbarred and was unwilling to give his case into the hands of others.

At this juncture, Mr. Martin, who had been perfectly calm and collected throughout, moved the Court, in view of the peculiar situation of Mr. Buckner, that the penalty imposed upon that gentleman's attorneys be remitted, so that the case might proceed upon fair grounds.

The Court granted the motion, and remitted the fines also.

Mr. Denny thanked the Court and Mr. Martin in a handsome manner.

The case then proceeded without interruption to the close. Able arguments were made on both sides, and the jury went out about 5 o'clock. They shortly returned with a verdict of guilty, whereupon the Court assigned a fine of thirty-five dollars and costs. The defendant's counsel gave notice of an appeal.—Beaver Enterprise, March 2.

—The Omaha Herald says, "The diamonds that glitter in the ears and adorn the necks of the wives and daughters of the Belknap in the gay world of Washington, and in the gay cities of the East, are largely stolen jewels, for which the corn-raisers and wheat-growers of Nebraska have helped to pay by their sweat and toil, and by the robberies perpetrated upon them through a depreciated and irredeemable paper currency."

THE BAIN WAGONS

HAVE

ALWAYS GIVEN THE BEST OF SATISFACTION, BUT FOR 1876,

I EXPECT TO HAVE THEM STILL MORE IMPROVED.

Fully appreciating the favor which the Bain Wagon stands with the people of Utah, I promise my friends and customers it shall continue to be the best wagon in the Territory.

THE OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS

Which I introduced to the Farmers of Utah in 1875, is the greatest success of the day, in any Farming Implement; ask those who are using them, and they will tell you to buy no other Plow. They will last you for years, without going to a Blacksmith Shop. Send for Circular.

A full line of other Agricultural Implements. Walter A. Wood's Mowing and Reaping Machines, Hardwood and Wagon Material. A full stock of Spring Wagons, Etc., Etc.

Notice to the Public!

During a greater portion of the past season, the demand for the

FISH BROTHERS WAGONS

Has been so great, we have been unable to supply all our customers. This has been especially the case since CONFERENCE, we having sold out during its continuance, every 3½ and 3¼ Wagon we had on hand.

We are aware that our being out of WAGONS as above mentioned has frequently been a source of great annoyance to our friends and customers who have come a long distance to get a

FISH BROTHERS WAGON,

And have been compelled to take some other wagon which they did not want, or go home without.

We desire to say to our friends and the public generally, that we have perfected arrangements by which we will be able to supply the demand for these wagons. We have just received a letter written by Mr. T. G. FISH, the senior member and founder of the firm of FISH, BROTHERS & Co., in which he assures us positively that we shall be kept supplied hereafter at all hazards.

We have this day received a Car of 3½ and 3¼ wagons; we have another car on the road between here and Omaha, and still another car will be shipped in a few days. These shipments will be kept up with sufficient frequency to supply the demand. Thanking our friends and the public for the excellent trade they have given us, and soliciting their further favors,

We remain, yours very sincerely,
