

WAS BULLY SPORT; I HOPE IT KEEPS UP.

That is the President's Comment
On Result of His Big Hunt
In Colorado.

GOT A BEAR AND A WILD CAT.

Such is the Story Brought to Secy.
Loeb by a Courier With a Close
Mouth.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., April 18.—President Roosevelt has killed a bear and a bobcat. He is satisfied with his hunt for the biggest game the Rockies afford. "If he gets one more bear or several he will be better pleased, but to quote his own words: 'I got what I was after. It was bully sport and I hope it keeps up.'"

This is the story brought to Secy. Loeb tonight by Elmer Chapman, a courier with a close mouth, who was chosen to bear messages between the president and the temporary seat of government at the Hotel Colorado in this city.

While he came through Newcastle where are camped numerous correspondents of newspapers, he brought his story intact. There was no leakage and all the information obtained at that place was derived from a view of a closely rolled froth bear skin which Chapman transferred from his saddle to the car at the railway station.

"That all you've got?" was asked.

"Isn't that enough?" he replied. This was about the substance of the conversation in which Chapman participated at Newcastle. He was chosen because he knows when not to talk. Before starting on his hunt the president said he did not want any newspaper men to follow him. To the three correspondents representing press associations who accompanied him from Washington, the president said:

"You stick by Loeb and I will help you all I can. I cannot send out a messenger every day, but as soon as there is anything worth telling, you shall have it."

The courier got through Newcastle without talking and the president made good to those who complied with his wishes.

But if the courier was reticent at Newcastle, he was different when his journey was at an end and Secy. Loeb had removed the inhibition of secrecy. His eyes kindled with a fire that told his admiration for the president's prowess as a hunter more than could the words of his command. On the express which the hardy mountaineer had packed into his story was, "Say, fellows, he's a hunter and no mistake. The way he hunts game would make you think he was born in the mountains and had never left them. Say, now, being president don't make any difference with a man that's got the real stuff in him. Gosh, and he was the real thing and did not need showing, but I didn't believe it."

It was late when Chapman finished his talk with Secy. Loeb, so the story is necessarily curtailed.

THE COURIER'S ARRIVAL.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., April 18.—The first word from President Roosevelt's hunting camp on the Charlie Penny ranch, 25 miles east of Newcastle, reached Secy. Loeb shortly after 6 p. m. today. He was notified over the telephone that Elmer Chapman, the courier selected to bear messages between the president and his secretary, had arrived at Newcastle during the afternoon and would take the 9:40 train over the Colorado Midland for Glenwood Springs. If on time, the train would reach this city at 10 o'clock. Chapman was appointed to the post of courier because of the fact that he is famed for his reticence. It was known that a messenger from the president's camp would have to run the gauntlet of a dozen or more correspondents who have taken headquarters at Newcastle.

When Chapman was selected riding horseback across the bridge into the village the correspondents went out to meet him. He proved worthy of his post and in reply to questions said that information was being sent to the correspondents must get it from Mr. Loeb.

This did not prevent the correspondents from learning that the president's hunt had been successful, however, for strapped across Chapman's saddle was a fresh bear skin which was being taken to Glenwood Springs. Chapman admitted that this belt was the only one that had been taken, but he would not say the animal had been brought down by the president's gun. It was taken for granted that this was the case, for otherwise it was not probable the skin would have been sent to Glenwood Springs.

Representatives of newspapers at Newcastle had to be satisfied with the information given by Chapman, but they at once prepared to accompany the courier to Mr. Loeb's headquarters where a full report was expected.

It was learned here today that the president's party has not yet moved its camp from the place where first located.

A fresh trail was found early today and the hunters took it up before Chapman's departure for Newcastle. Because of the heavy snow part of the trail is not likely to be changed for several days.

The indications are that plenty of sport will be found in the present surroundings.

The courier is expected to remain here over night and Secy. Loeb will accompany him to Newcastle tomorrow and together they will ride to the hunting camp. He has a number of matters to lay before the president and particularly his signature is needed to important documents.

According to Chapman, the president is taking the true sportsman's delight in the rough life of the camp. He is one of the first to be stirring in the morning and always the last to sit down to breakfast. The fare seems to suit him, although he has said several times he would be as well pleased if it were less pretentious.

His idea of camp life is one kind of meat at all meals and fried vegetables of the canned variety, coffee brewed over an open fire and the smell of smoke in everything that is cooked.

Things are different at Camp Roosevelt as the boys have dubbed the outfit on the Charlie Penny ranch. But the president has been warned that the chef may not be able to do such good work after the camp is moved and that the party may get enough canned stuff to please even the president.

The big white horse which the president rode out of Newcastle on Saturday is his favorite of the three that were taken along for his personal use. It is not fast, but it is strong, and the trail is never so stony but the president and his steed cover it if any horse can get through.

Big Jake Borah, known as the most intrepid bear hunter in the Rockies, and the man who will take the most desperate chances on a ride after the dogs, admits that even the mountain guide of many years' experience has many things to learn about riding. He says he can teach the president nothing.

A huge pair of leather breeches has been added to the president's hunting costume. When he left Newcastle on Saturday he wore heavy canvas trousers without leggings. The day was taken out of the baggy pants by blinding them about his ankles with coarse twine. Now he has adopted the leather breeches as he has found that they better turn the wind while on a hard ride.

The early mornings and afternoons after the sun has sunk behind the mountains have been cold. Storms have been numerous in the vicinity of the camp and further up the mountains it has snowed heavily.

The thought of starting home apparently has not entered the president's head. He said he intended to enjoy himself as much as possible during his outing and his companions believe he is doing it.

If he has had thoughts of affairs at Washington he has not communicated them to the mountaineers. Business will wait until Secy. Loeb's arrival at camp tomorrow. All of the members of the party, according to the courier, are as much in love with the hunt as the president.

P. R. Stewart of Colorado Springs, and Dr. Lambert, who accompanied the party from Washington, are not new at the sport and are ready for any work the president cuts out for them. The courier says that Dr. Lambert had prepared for numerous accidents, but that he is convinced bear hunting is not as dangerous as wolf chasing. The doctor sent word by Chapman that everybody in the camp is "disgustingly healthy."

RAILROAD RATES.

Santa Fe Counsel Holds They Are Not Excessive.

Washington, April 18.—Victor Marcowitz of New York opened the hearing before the senate committee on interstate commerce today. He is chairman of the executive committee and general counsel of the Atchafalaya, Tonoloway & Santa Fe railroad. There were three evils complained of, he said, upon which the demand was made for legislation to fix rates—first, that railroad rates were excessive; second, that there were discriminations against shippers; and third, that there were discriminations against localities.

He insisted that railroad rates were not excessive. Under the common law the carriers were prohibited from making unreasonable rates and also were prohibited from making unjust discriminations. Congress had no constitutional right to fix a rate which would not give the shipper a reasonable return and would be confiscatory of the property of the railroad.

Taking up the Esch-Townsend bill, he said that the language relating to the fixing of rates by the commission and for review of such rates by a court was subject to question on constitutional and indefinite as to the meaning and should be carefully considered.

A STRANGE HALLUCINATION.

Man and Woman Imagined They Were King and Queen of Heaven.

San Jose, Cal., April 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drew, supposed to be eastern tourists of means, are under detention here, pending examination on charges of insanity. They imagine themselves to be the king and queen of heaven and were arrested after destroying most of the furniture of their cottage in which they lived.

Their bank book shows that they have several thousand dollars deposited in eastern banks. They came to this country some time ago from New Hampshire, where Mr. Drew formerly was a tombstone maker. Their home is said to have been in Saubagan in that state. It is thought that they are the persons who were reported to have lost their reason on a train while crossing the Rocky mountains.

Mr. Drew raved all last night, but his wife was soothed with opiates. Their examination probably will be held tomorrow.

MONTANA AFTER TRUST.

State's Atty.-Gen. Files Suits
Against Packing Firms.

Butte, Mont., April 18.—A special from Helena states that Atty. Gen. Albert J. Galt today filed complaint in the name of the state of Montana against the Cudahy Packing company, Swift & Co., Hammond Packing company of Chicago, Hammond Packing company of Pueblo, Colo., and the Armour Packing company, commonly known as the "beef trust" company. The attorney-general summoned them to appear before the district court of the First judicial district of the state of Montana April 25, to answer a charge against the packing companies of willfully, lawlessly and feloniously combining and unlawfully fixing the price of certain articles of commerce of consumption, meats of all kinds and meats produce.

It is the purpose of the attorney-general to thoroughly test the state's anti-trust law. The cases are a continuation of the suits formerly begun by Atty. Gen. Donovan.

The cut shows the working of a novel scheme of passenger transportation, plans for which have recently been accepted by the rapid transit commission of New York city. It is a development of the moving platform idea and will be placed in a subway capable of containing eight platforms. Two of these platforms will be stationary, two will move at the rate of three miles an hour and two at the rate of six miles. The remaining two platforms, each six feet in width, fitted with cross seats, will move at the rate of nine miles an hour. The cost of the system is estimated at $5,000,000, and it will accommodate 75,000 persons an hour.

FIRST SHOOTING IN THE TEAMSTERS' STRIKE, CHICAGO

Chicago, April 18.—The first shooting and the most serious assault since the commencement of the Montgomery Ward strike occurred late this afternoon at Van Buren and Sherman streets. Charles Ocker, a non-union teamster, was leaving the Atlantic hotel, when he was attacked by a union picket. Ocker drew a revolver and fired twice at his assailant, but both bullets went wide, and one of them struck Walter Klager, a teamster, who was unloading a wagon half a square away. Ocker was arrested. Klager's wound is not dangerous.

Shortly after this trouble was over John O'Reilly of St. Louis, who was walking on Van Buren street near the scene of the shooting, was attacked by union teamsters and beaten into insensibility. It was believed by the teamsters that he had been working for Montgomery Ward & Co., but O'Reilly asserted that he had not been working for the firm, had no intention of doing so, and until he was attacked knew nothing about the strike.

Montgomery Ward & Co. experienced less difficulty today in delivering goods than at any time since the commencement of the strike. All of their wagons made trips to the freight depots under police guard, and none of them was molested.

The deadlock between the teamsters and the employers continues and there is no indication of the ending of the strike. Officials of the teamsters' union declared today that they had no intention of spreading the strike to establishments other than that of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Cured After Physicians Said He Had Consumption.

E. H. Jones, Pastor M. E. Church, Grove, Md., writes: "About seven or eight years ago I had a very severe cold which physicians said was very near pneumonia, and which they afterwards pronounced consumption. Through a friend I was induced to try a sample of Foley's Honey and Tar, which gave me so much relief that I bought some of the regular size. Two or three bottles cured me of what the physicians called consumption, and I have never had any trouble with my throat or lungs since that time."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.
This 50 cent size contains two and one half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.
