Sir-Under the Edmunds bill, so-called, there is a good ground for a challenge to a grand juror or a pettit juror, called in the triar of polygamy or unlawful cohabitation that he is a bigamist, polygamist, or is living in the practice of cohabiting with more than one woman, or that he believes it right for a man to have more than one living and undivorced wife at the same time, or to live in the practice of co-habiting with more than one woman. During the two years last past a great portion of the time of the courts has been occupied in the trial of the chass of cases above mentioned. A much larger sportion of the time is likely to be so occupied in the future, there being upwards of 100 indictments for such offenses now pending in the Third District Court alone. Notwith-standing the provisions of the Ed-munds Bill, the probate indges con-tinge in the annual selection of jurors in pursuance of the Poland Bill to select the names of none but these who are unqualified in the class of cases herein referred. The persons so selected reside in many instances at a great distance from the place where the court is heid. The result is, the courts are seriously delayed in the ad-ministratian of the laws, individuals unecessarily inconventenced and the people put to useless and great ex-pense. Something of a Crank .- Before o'clock yesterday morning, just as the family were arising, at the residence of the late Wm. Jennings, an individual obtruded himself into the kitchen, and began conversation by stating that was a detective, etc. He then showed the inmates that several of the windows were unfastened, and acted n an otherwise queer manner. When ner arrived the visitor told him of the thieves who had been committing depredations of late, and had valuable information concerning them. The gardener and stranger then went to the corner opposite the U. C. depot, and while the pretended detective went to a saloon to "look for an officer," the gardener stepped over to the depot and found one, but when they got to the saloon their man was missing. Last night, however, the police nabbed him, when he gave the name of James E. Smith. He brought up for trial to-Was on a charge of carrying burglarious tools; one of which he had exhibited at Mr. Jennings' being what he termsd a "miner's candle"-a coil of wire which serves a good pur-pose as a pick-lock, and which will infasten half the common locks in use. At the trial Smith was adjudged guilty of the charge, and sentence was deferred until this afternoon. His actions throughout indicate that he is a crank, though there is considerable method in his madness.
