GINGHAM FROCKS ARE SPLENDID STYLE.

White and green checked gingham makes this little tailored dress for morning wear. The waist following the lines of the popular jumper model, is trimmed with bands of white linen braided with green cotton soutache and pipings of dark green gingham. There is a touch of dressiness in the chemise of eyelet embroidery. The skirt is cut in seven gores, fits the hips snugly and flares gracefully about the feet, where it is finished with a wide applied hem of the white linen piped and braided with green.

BRIGHAM CITY.

One of the prettiest affairs of the season was a supper party tendered the high school boys of the athletic track meet, by the high school girls, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Jensen, Saturday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated in purple and white, the class colors, and a profusion of cut flowers.

In the diningroom covers were laid for 45 guests, a tiny flower being used at each place card. During supper Miss Zera Wildes entertained with a vocal solo, while Mr. Stanley Madson rendered a piano selection. The boys and girls who enjoyed the evening's music and games pronounced it a most delightful event.

Friday evening the Third ward Religion class board entertained Mesdames Nephena Trodsham and Ella Bywater Valentine at the home of Mrs. Charles Anderson. The rooms were bright with flowers, while in the diningroom a dainty supper was spread. About 24 ladies participated in the evening's enjoyment.

Miss May Anderson entertained her classmates Thursday evening. Games, ice cream, cake and candy were included in. About 20 guests were present. The rooms were tastefully trimmed with flowers, and the class colors, red and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Holton entertained a number of friends Thursday week, in honor of Mrs. Holton's brother Frank Gibson, who leaves shortly for Australia. Lunch and music were the evening's chief pleasures. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMaster, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mathias, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas, the Misses Mary Baird, Mary Holst and Lottie Jensen and Messrs. Alfred Kelly and Lorenzo Anderson.

The Sunday school stake board entertained Monday evening in honor of Mr. Charles D. Brown, who left Thursday morning for England. A delightful program was rendered, with games and a delicious luncheon were enjoyed. About 30 guests were present.

Mr. Stewart Horsley was host at a happy birthday party Monday week at the home of his father, Mr. Clem Horsley. Lunch and games made the evening pass swiftly and pleasantly. About 15 of Master Stewart's friends were present.

Miss Lula Davis has returned to Logan after a short visit with her cousin, Miss Nellie Lillywhite.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fishburn, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowring were among the party who accompanied the merchants' "get acquainted" train to Logan.

Mr. Claude Nichols is spending a few days in Brigham, visiting his parents. He expects to return to Salt Lake.

CLUB CHAT.

The Ladies' Literary club held its last regular meeting of the season yesterday, when a short program was given consisting of a talk on the musical composer Brahms by Arthur Shepherd with piano selections interspersed, while the club chorus under direction of Mrs. Wetzel sang Brahms' "Lullaby." The meeting adjourned at an early hour on account of the symphony concert at the theater.

The Cleofan met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Thomas W. Sloan, 180 G street, and Miss Ermae Wells read a paper on Andrea del Sarto.

The Woman's club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Helen D. Kimball, 34 north State street. Mrs. L. S. Deane read a paper on child training and character building along municipal lines. Mrs. Kimball spoke on "Views of Noted Men on the Character of the Osar." At the next meeting, May 7, there will be an election of officers for the coming year.

The Bayview Reading club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. L. Davis, the program including quotations from Shakespeare, Lesson, Mrs. Davis; magazine review, Mrs. Francis; paper, "Four Great British Novelists," Mrs. Dix; reading, Mrs. Peaslee. The music was in charge of Mrs. Brown.

In Women's World.

There are only two colors desirable for the thin face veil—black and brown. White veils are so colorless when worn against the face, and give such a look of paleness, that they should be carefully avoided, although a white veil with a single black thread and plenty of black dots will do nicely for the girl who has ruddy red cheeks. Brown is unusually good for either blondes or brunettes. There is also a sort of grayish brown now in vogue that is very pretty, but it comes only in the very expensive French qualities.

Just how to wear a veil is an important piece of knowledge. The woman who throws on her veil helter-skelter can never look tidy and trim, and a woman without neatness is always without beauty.

Place the veil so that the lower line at the center comes over the chin, draw either end up snugly at the back of the hat, fold into a neat little knot, and turn in the loose ends, fastening with a fancy pin. The top of the veil should not be crumpled over the hat brim, but laid in trim, neat, close lines.

The spring blouses are even more elaborate than ever before, but by way of change we have the plain little tailored shirtwaists, made severely plain with nothing more than a tiny frill of the same material appearing on either side of the front plait. The sleeves are neither long nor short and are finished with trim little turnback cuffs.

KEITH O'BRIEN

WARNER'S Rust Proof Corsets

REDFERN Style 4

This quality fabric and pliant boning taper the waistline, fitting closely to the form, while easily supporting the bust, the corset curving well over the hip—such a model is REDFERN STYLE 4, made of finest quality French Coutille, style 4, or Batiste, style 44. Finished with dainty point d'esprit lace.

Silk elastic "SECURITY" Rubber Button Hose Supporters.

Style 44, Batiste, $6.00 per pair

REDFERN Whalebone Corsets Redfern Style "G"

Note the height of bust—it is one of the extreme models of the season that is thoroughly practical, and withal, beautiful. The back is 14 inches long and under arm 8 inches in depth. The gussets are set double, resulting in a firm control of the bust in the corset shape. A Junoesque type of light is rounded by this model.

"GG" Batiste $6.00

Wide webbings, Security Rubber Button Hose Supporters

REDFERN Whalebone Corsets

Designed for the short-waist, full proportioned form.

This model takes care of the fullness of the hips, shaping them in the corset skirt, which is firmly boned.

The side of the corset is braced with fine cross-boning and has three broad side straps.

Model 25 is made of imported Coutille, trimmed with lace and ribbons.

Broad elastic webbing "SECURITY" Rubber Button Hose Supporters.

Special Showing of a late Shipment of New Spring Models—a model for Every Figure.

WARNER'S Rust Proof Styles

Style 220—The latest production for medium full forms. The particular features that characterize this model are the back hip gore and deep-rounding skirt that completely encloses the abdomen.

The silk elastic "SECURITY" Rubber Button Hose Supporters that are attached are responsible for the perfect and comfortable fit adjustment.

No. 330, Batiste, Price $3.50 per Pair.

WARNER'S Rust-Proof Corsets

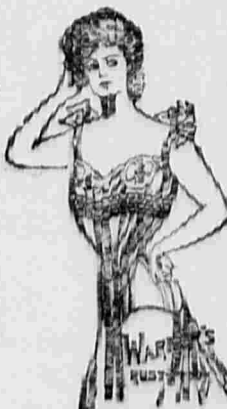

The Proper Height Bust For Tall Figures

Roundness is the figure contour resulting from the wearing model 136.

The Hose Supporters which are the "SECURITY" kind, placed on the long skirt by the designer of the corset, are therefore in the correct spot for holding the garment in place.

Richly boned and lace trimmed.

236, Batiste, Price $1.75

WARNER'S Rust Proof

Note—The narrowing of the lines as they curve to the hip end of the clasp, also the split hip gore, which is divided to admit a narrow gore that, as it touches the waist, gives a spring to the corset and sharply accentuates the rounded waist.

Made of fine Coutille or Batiste daintily trimmed with Nottingham lace. Nickel clasps.

No. 209 Batiste, Price $1.75

WARNER'S Rust-Proof No 223

Slenderness is only pretty when there are curves. Here is a new shape that rounds the waist and gives curves—perfectly adapted to the slender form. The "SECURITY" Rubber Button Hose Supporters are a comfort for the reason that they are to be depended upon for service and for holding the corset in place.

No. 223, Batiste—Following the same lines, but made in Batiste, white only.

Price $1.00

WARNER'S Rust Proof
