New Water Franchise Passes Second
Reading—Weber County Business—Weddings—News Briefs.

Ogden, Aug. 21.—Overland limited No. 1, westbound, struck and instantly killed a bridegroom named McDonald about 10 miles out of Elko, Nev., yesterday. The train was traveling at a rapid rate of speed when the engineer observed someone ahead of the train on a track velocipede. The danger whistle was sounded but as the man appeared not to be moving, an attempt was made to stop the train, but that was impossible, and it dashed into the man, knocking him about 15 feet, splitting his head open and causing instant death. The train was stopped and the lifeless body picked up and taken to Elko, where it was turned over to an undertaker to be prepared for burial. McDonald was about 40 years of age and was employed as a bridge carpenter on the Southern Pacific. It is understood he has relatives living at American Fork, Utah. The theory is that he was tired and went to sleep on the velocipede and did not hear the approaching train.

BUSY SESSION OF COUNCIL.

Reinstated Members Want Old Positions on Committees.

Ogden, Aug. 21.—At the session of the city council last evening, after the city recorder had reported that Councilmen Paine and Moyes, who had resigned and were reappointed at a previous meeting had filed their bonds and qualified for the position, Councilman Moyes asked that he be renamed on the various committees upon which he had served prior to his resignation.

This suggestion brought out considerable protest and the matter was laid over for a week. Moyes was chairman of the street committee, and it is understood that there is a movement on foot to place another member at the head of that committee.

Mayor Conroy called the attention of the council to the recent decision of Judge Howell in which it was pointed out that the west portion of the city hall square could be used for nothing other than public use, and requested that the same be plotted and parked. The resolution was adopted, calling up on the city engineer to prepare plans in accordance with the recommendation of the mayor. The mayor also called attention to the fact that the work in the city auditor's office was in arrears and asked that the council grant the request of the auditor and appoint Wallace Foulger as assistant auditor at a salary of $1,000 per year. The appointment was made.

The Union Depot company submitted a communication stating that since it had acquired water rights in Taylor's canyon it be permitted to construct a pipe line along Twenty-sixth street to Wall avenue, and on Wall avenue to the depot. A franchise containing this right passed two readings and was referred to the law committee.

The substitute water company franchise that was turned down at a previous meeting on account of the necessary $75 not accompanying the same was presented by Councilman Thomas. This ordinance is similar to the one granted a few weeks ago with the exception that the meter clause has been changed so that meters can be placed only at the cost of the consumer. The franchise passed two readings and was referred to the water committee. An effort to place it on its final passage failed.

Councilman Emmett called attention to the settlement of all litigation and claims between Ogden City and the Ogden Waterworks company and asked that the auditor be instructed to draw a warrant for $10,000, the amount agreed upon in the settlement.

The motion carried although there is at the present time a federal injunction in existence restraining the city from paying that sum to the waterworks company.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Browning asked the council to uphold his action in not appointing William Feller as a policeman "for the good of the police department." The matter was referred to the police committee. A short time ago the council ordered Feller's appointment to the next vacancy.

John Scovcroft & Sons asked permission to construct a steel viaduct across Wall avenue between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, and the same was referred to the city engineer and the street committee. This viaduct is to connect the present warehouse with the new building which the Scovcrofts are about to erect.

The Union Pacific Railway company asked the council to pass an ordinance to prevent the jumping on and off of trains and engines by persons while the same were passing through the local yards. The ordinance passed the second reading and was referred to the laws and railroads committees.

WEBER COUNTY AFFAIRS.

County Physician Wants Campers Restrained From Polluting Waters.

Ogden, Aug. 21.—A petition signed by over 40 of the residents of Riverdale was received by the board of county commissioners at its session yesterday; also an application from the Salt Lake and Ogden Railway company asking permission to change the county road running through a portion of Riverdale so as to make it better for the Bamberger line in entering Weber county. The matter was referred to the county attorney for his opinion as to the legality of such an action. It may be necessary to put the matter to a vote of the freeholders in that district before the commissioners pass on the same.

County Physician Gordon called the attention of the board to the carelessness of some of the campers in Taylor's canyon throwing their rubbish into the river, thus polluting the waters, stating that such acts should be stopped, as there is great danger of typhoid fever resulting. The matter will be taken up by the city officials and corrected.

The board approved of the appointment of Mrs. Evelyn West and Annis Brown as deputies in Recorder Wallace's office, and increased the latter's salary to $15 per month. They also increased the salary of Miss Genevieve Bingham to $60 per month.

Com. Wilson was authorized to place signs at the intersection of Weber, Rich and Rich counties to direct travelers.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL.

John Penfield Not Satisfied With Non-Suiting of Damage Case.

Ogden, May 21.—Motion for a new trial has been filed in the Second district court by Attorneys Agee, Chee and McCracken for John Penfield, who was non-suiting in his $30,000 damage suit against the Union Pacific Railroad company brought for personal injuries.

The motion alleges irregularities on the part of the court, to-wit: that at the close of the evidence for the plaintiff, defendant requested the court to direct a verdict in favor of the defendant, that the court prepared a verdict finding the issue in favor of the defendant, and against the plaintiff. "No cause of action," and directed the jury, without leaving their seats in the jury box, to select a foreman, which they did, selecting Warren G. Child, Jr., and he signed the verdict, but when it was read to him he protested and declared that it was not his verdict, but the court ordered the same filed as the verdict of the jury, without the other jurors being asked whether it was their verdict. The motion sets forth that the court erred in ordering the foreman to sign the verdict in favor of the defendant, that the court has no power to give any directions or instructions to the jury as to their duties in determining their verdict in the case, except by way of instructions in writing upon the law applicable to the case, and the court erred in requiring the foreman to sign the verdict, further that the court was without authority to order the jury to return a verdict on the ground that the evidence was insufficient to entitle plaintiff to recover, or on the ground that the plaintiff failed to prove his case for the jury to decide.

The prosecution claims that the evidence in the case showed that the plaintiff was walking along a footpath through the railroad yards, and that defendant's engine came along at a high rate of speed without giving any warning of the approach of the engine, and that plaintiff's view of the approaching engine was obstructed by escaping steam from an engine on another track and by other obstructions, also that the defendant company did not have a watchman on the footpath to protect anyone from being injured.

Should the motion for a new trial be denied by Judge Howell, the case will be appealed to the supreme court.

JORGEN LARSEN DEAD.

Jorgen Larsen, a native of Sweden, died at his home in Kanabville, Weber county, Sunday night of general debility aged 94 years. He was born in 1812, and joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in his native land and emigrated to Utah many years ago. A wife, one child and several grandchildren survive him. The funeral services were held at the West Weber meetinghouse this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment took place at the West Weber cemetery.

CITY COUNCIL SESSION.

Option of Light Plant Received—Fifth West Street Sewer.

Provo, Aug. 21.—At the meeting of the city council last evening, Watermaster Farr reported that the Provo Ice and Coal Storage company was damaging the factory race. Referred to the committee on irrigation.

City Recorder Harding applied for a 19-day vacation. Granted.

The terms of the option of the Electric company for the sale of the electric distribution system was presented. The price is to be $35,000, not including the new line to Glendale, which is to be paid for at cost in addition. The option also provides for the transmission, free of charge over the city's line, power for the Telluride company, up to 10 per cent of the carrying capacity of this system, and that the Telluride company, if it so desires, shall have the right to erect pole lines in the city for transmission of electric power.

An order was passed providing for the construction of a sewer in Fifth West street at a cost of $4,193, or $2.75 per linear foot, $1.35 to be paid by the city and 60 per cent of the remainder to be paid by the property owners on the side of the street on which the sewer is constructed, and 40 per cent on the side opposite.

The petition of John W. Buchl and others to construct a sewer in Fifth East street was granted, on a favorable report by the committee.

The council adjourned till Thursday night, when bids for the excavation of the waterworks trench and the option on the electric company's distribution system will be considered.

SMITH-THORNTON WEDDING.

A marriage license has been issued to Frank J. Thornton and Bessie Smith, both of Provo.

THE NEW DEPOT AGAIN.

C. H. Schlacks, vice president of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, was here yesterday and was in consultation with Mayor Frisby in regard to the union depot for this city, and looked over the site at the present location and on Third West street. Mayor Frisby impressed on Mr. Schlacks that the important thing was to get improved depot facilities and that the matter of location was a secondary consideration, and one for the railroad officials to decide upon. Mr. Schlacks promised that the matter would be given immediate attention, and Mayor Frisby is confident that work will begin without much further delay.

SCHOOL FOR STAMMERERS.

W. E. Bassett, superintendent of the Provo Woolen mill, who was till a few years ago a sufferer from stammering, has decided to open a school here, for the cure of the ailment. Mr. Bassett has been cured and from his investigations he has become thoroughly acquainted with a method of treatment which he claims is infallible in effecting a cure. He has treated several patients privately and has restored them to the normal use of their organs of speech, and in order to extend the benefit of his treatment he will open the school. Mr. Bassett claims he can cure any case, no matter how severe, and his high standing in the community and his success in the cases already treated leaves no reason for doubt of the correctness of his statement.

HOW A SUBWAY IS WHITEWASHED.

The motor coach pictured here is used in the process of whitewashing the London subway. At a speed of two miles an hour it is driven through the tunnel and an electric pump forces the whitewash through the pipes at the end in a fine spray which reaches every part of the walls. A board in front protects the live rail.

AN OLD FASHIONED BED WARMER.

The curious device herewith illustrated was the forerunner of the warming pan. It consists of a wooden framework in the center of which is the brazier for charcoal. The framework was designed to keep the brazier from the bedclothing. There are several specimens of this quaint relic in American museums.
