FRAGMENTS.

The Howard Athenaeum Company for the last time at the Theatre tonight.

An entertainment will be given in the Fourth Ward meeting house this evening.

ANNE B. WILLIAMS has been confirmed as a member of the Utah Commission.

The Howard Athenaeum Company close their engagement at the Salt Lake Theatre this evening.

The falling of a lamp in Dwyer's last evening created some little excitement. The blaze was extinguished without much damage.

Mr. P. F. SNEYD, manager of the John L. Sullivan combination, called on the morning, and spent the hour very pleasantly. His company exhibit at the Opera House to-morrow evening.

Mr. E. N. CHILDS, one of the trustees of the Eleventh School District, requests us to state that there will be a vacation there from Friday next till a week the following Monday, thus taking in the entire holiday week.

JOHN H. STAY came very near starting a disastrous fire in the city last afternoon. He was confined in a cell and being crazy drunk, tore up his mattress and set fire to it. When discovered he was fanning the flames with his hat. The blaze was soon extinguished.

The Utah Central and D. & R. G. W. railways will send round trip tickets for single fare from all points between Ogden and Spanish Fork to Salt Lake for the holidays. Tickets will be good to Salt Lake on Dec. 24 and 25, returning on and including the 26th; and on Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st, returning to Jan. 24, 1887.

Four young men from one of the southern settlements, who for some time past have been employed in the mines at Bingham getting $60.00 per month each and their board, were in the city yesterday, having given up their situation there rather than join the Loyal League and be under tribute to the amount of fifty cents each for the support of the two B's at Washington, that being the alternative offered them.

LOCAL NEWS.

Second District Court.—A special from Beaver, to-day, says: Thurber was indicted for polygamy and on two counts for unlawful cohabitation. Defendant's attorney filed a demurrer. After argument it was overruled, but the defendant was allowed to plead to only one count, which he did. He will be sentenced on Friday.

Jones and son, of Johnson's Springs, pleaded guilty to unlawful cohabitation and will be sentenced on Friday. The case against Jensen for unlawful cohabitation is postponed for the term. The attorney appointed to defend Halliday not being ready, the case was continued.

Scratching for Cash.—Here is something rich.

UTAH LOYAL LEAGUE.
Chief Secretary's Office,
No. 44 W. Second South Street.

SALT LAKE CITY,
December 20th, 1886.

DEAR SIR.—You are hereby respectfully requested to send or bring your Loyal League dues to this office as your earliest convenience. Whatever amount you please to remit will be duly credited on the books.

Yours truly,
O. J. HOLISTER,
Chief Secretary.

P. S.—If you feel like paying at the same time a quarter's dues in advance it will be highly appreciated, as we have more immediate need of the money now than we shall have after Congress adjourns in March.

O. J. H.

Preserved Fresh Flowers.—"E. S. F." writes us as follows on the above subject: "I called on Brother G. G. Perry, at No. 311 E. Fifth South Street, and saw some very fine work in preserved fresh flowers of various kinds. One is a beautiful wreath with a photograph in the center, another a fine cluster. There are several others, but his latest production is some flowers furnished by Brother John Reading, that were used at the funeral of Miss C. Jones, of the Fifteenth Ward, and given to Mr. Perry to be preserved; it is in the form of an anchor and heart combined, composed of double white chrysanthemums of various kinds, also double and single sweet alyssums, verbenas, hydrangeas with smilax ferns and other sprays of evergreens, all very tastefully arranged and looking as natural as when in real life in color, form and beauty."

Court Business.—The following cases on the law and motion calendars are set for hearing in the Third District Court this week, to come up in the order named:

P. L. Williams, etc. vs. Wm. M. Stewart, etc.

The People vs. A. J. Peacock; motion to relax costs.

Samuel Levy vs. Salt Lake City; motion to relax costs.

George A. Meears vs. John A. Greenstock; motion to amend complaint.

Salt Lake Foundry and Machine Company vs. Pleasant Valley Coal Company.

Salt Lake City vs. Peter Tomney; motion for new trial.

In the matter of the estate of Aurilla Hood, etc.

P. C. Thurston et al. vs. H. Hill et al.; security for costs.

James Splitter vs. Salt Lake County; demurrer to complaint.

Early Birds But No Worms.—U. S. Marshal Dyer, with Deputy Greenman and other called at the residence of A. H. Raleigh, in the 19th Ward, this morning at 8 a. m., and searched the premises for Bro. Raleigh, but not finding them after a diligent search, they subpoenaed Mrs. Emily Raleigh and the older members of the family. After having finished their work thus far, they adjourned to the residence of J. R. Matthews, at 4 o'clock in the morning, and demanded admittance, alleging as a reason for their presence that they had reason to believe that Brother Raleigh was staying there. They were admitted by Brother Matthews, who treated them kindly and answered their questions, among which was one as to whether Miss Kate Chase, of Kentville, had not married Mr. Raleigh, etc., and wanted to serve process on her, as they had heard she was in the city on Sunday last. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews were subpoenaed as witnesses in the case, to appear before the grand jury on the 12th of February next. They then withdrew.

Six hundred dollars damages have been recovered from the Southern Pacific Company at Phoenix, A. T., by H. A. Tread, who was refused passage on a special train when the regular train was delayed by a washout.

THE MURDERER THOMPSON.

He is indicted for manslaughter.

The Coroner's Jury Charge Fatal.

ous Killings.

The Second District grand jury have found an indictment charging manslaughter against Wm. Thompson, Jr., the murderer of Edward M. Dalton, of Parowan, as is shown by the following dispatch received from Deputy Pratt by Marshal Dyer last evening:

"After a thorough examination of seventeen witnesses, the grand jury indicted Wm. Thompson, Jr., for manslaughter. I subpoenaed all the witnesses who knew anything about the case."

On Saturday evening we published a dispatch from Assistant District Attorney Chas. W. Zane, at Beaver, to Marshal Dyer, as follows:

"The Judge was opposed to it, but the Sheriff of Iron County and his friends wished the matter submitted to this grand jury, and I requested the court to do so."

The charge of Judge Boreman to the grand jury fully contradicts Mr. Zane's assertion. What object the prosecutor had in misrepresenting the facts, unless it was to shield the murderer, is not apparent. He says that the Sheriff of Iron County and his friends wished the matter submitted to this grand jury. Judge Boreman says:

"When we heard of this occurrence at Parowan, we concluded to hold the grand jury in session on this matter. He then goes on to administer a mild rebuke to the majority of the jury who were so anxious about Thompson's welfare as to go to Parowan to meet him, and then states:

"I told the sheriff to inquire, and if it would not do—if there was any feeling about the matter—I would not submit it to this grand jury. He reports to me that he thinks it would be right to submit it to this grand jury, and let them investigate it thoroughly; and under these circumstances, feeling that we want justice done all round and nothing improper, and they agreeing to this, raising no objection to it, I have concluded to submit it to this grand jury."

The Judge probably did what he thought proper under the circumstances, but the effort to make it appear that the friends of the murdered man "wished" a grand jury chosen by Thompson to investigate his case is very low business.

The friends of Thompson say that Mr. Dalton put his child off his horse when he was riding, and then started away, when he was shot at and killed. Other witnesses, one of whom was about six feet from the murdered man at the time he was struck, declare positively that the call to halt and the shot were almost simultaneous; one, a non-"Mormon," says it was about three seconds from the call to the time of firing, and that the victim had no opportunity to resist, surrender or flee. A coroner's jury held an inquest, and from the evidence adduced gave the following verdict:

TERRITORY OF UTAH,
COUNTY OF IRON, ss.

An inquisition holden at Edward Dalton's residence in the County of Iron, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1886, before F. W. Pennington, coroner of said County, upon the body of Edward M. Dalton, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed, the said jurors upon their oaths do say that deceased came to his death on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1886, from a gunshot wound inflicted by a ball or slug fired from a gun by one William Thompson, and that said killing was feloniously done. In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day and year first above written.

(Signed) WILLIAM HOLYOAK,
HARVEY F. MONTGOMERY,
WILLIAM W. PENNINGTON, Jurors.

(Attest) F. W. PENNINGTON,
Coroner of Iron County.

BISHOP BASSETT ARRESTED.
HE HAS BEEN INDICTED FOR POLYGAMY.

This afternoon Deputy Cannon arrested Bishop Wm. E. Bassett, of the Twentieth Ward, on a warrant issued by Judge H. P. Henderson, from Ogden. The warrant sets forth that on the 20th of November the grand jury of the First District indicted the accused for the offense of polygamy, and the bail was fixed at $10,000.

Mr. Dickson required three sureties for this amount, John H. White, W. C. Staines and F. A. Mitchell becoming bondsmen.

Mr. Moyle asked that the former bonds, fixed by Commissioner McKay, be dissolved, but Mr. Dickson objected. Mr. Moyle then suggested the absurdity of requiring two bonds for one offense, and of holding the defendant for $20,000 when the Court had said $10,000. The District Attorney saw the point and said he would consent to the release of the former bonds of $10,000.

Bishop Bassett was then notified that he would be required to go to Ogden on Thursday to plead to the charge made against him.

Death of John Kelley.—Many readers of the News will remember John Kelley, the violinist and vocalist, who came to Utah some sixteen years ago, who made had not attained the degree of perfection it occupies at the present day, and with no assistance but a little Indian boy, he delighted large audiences and made a "bushel of money."

We learn from the Victoria (Texas) Advocate, that Kelley died there on December 24th instant, at the advanced age of 74. The career of the dead musician has been a long and varied one. A native of Ireland, he came to America over fifty years ago, and at once became prominent as a violinist. In 1844 he accompanied the celebrated Ole Bull on his first American tour, and was with that distinguished artist in all the principal cities of the United States. He was one of the earliest city musicians of California, and for many years spent the greater part of his time in that State. His mastery of the violin, and his, together with his genial disposition, soon won for him a host of friends among the people of the Pacific Coast, and there are many aged Californians still alive who during the early settlement of that now giant commonwealth found in the magic of his wizard bow a solace for the looking at sunset homes and absent loved ones.

Police Court.—To-day, Frank Fitzgerald pleaded guilty to battery on James Lewis. He also admitted having been drunk and profane. The total of fines assessed was $30.

Charles Johnson, for stealing a pair of shoes from Mr. Isaac, was sentenced to 40 days in jail.

Henry Gleiding was convicted of vagrancy. Sentence in his case was suspended pending good behavior.

James M. Hays, under arrest for obtaining money under false pretenses, was notified to be ready for trial at 11 a. m. to-morrow.

Thomas McGrath, for creating a disturbance in Peacock's saloon and battering another man named Mosher, was fined $20.

Joe H. Stay was arrested for being drunk and disturbing the peace. Last night he made things very lively around his home in the Seventh Ward, and battered some of those who came to avenge to pacify him. He was taken to the city jail, where to-day he made a futile attempt to start a conflagration, using his mattress for kindling.

SLANDERS REFUTED.

THE MEMORY OF THE DEAD VICTIM VINDICATED.

The villainous attempts to palliate the murder of a peaceful citizen and save the assassin from the consequences of his crime, by slandering the dead and the living have drawn forth the following refutation:

PAROWAN, Dec. 20, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

The statements made against Dalton and his father are false. The father was not with the Mountain Meadow massacre. Dalton himself did not knock down the city marshal of Parowan (R. H. Benson) who had him in charge when he made his escape. He was not a desperate character. He was followed to his grave by nearly six hundred people. This number from a community of only one thousand people speaks for itself.

W. C. MCGUIRE,
Probate Judge.

PAROWAN, Dec. 20, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

I had Edward M. Dalton in charge when he escaped some time since. We were standing in the street at dark when he suddenly bade me good night and at once made his escape. He did not knock me down nor offer any violence. Benson, City Marshal of Parowan at that time.

THE JURY PROTECTS THE ASSASSIN.

The following was received to-day: BEAVER, December 21, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

Fourteen Parowan witnesses were examined before the grand jury in the murder case. Their testimony strongly points to a willful murder, but Thompson is indicted for manslaughter. The bonds are unchanged. Orton was discharged, as the grand jury dismissed the case against him.

Court Notes.—The following business was transacted in the Third District Court to-day:

Utah and Wyoming Implement Company vs. Thomas Layton; motion for order for defendant to render account overruled; exception.

Frisco consolidated Mining Company vs. D. N. Swan; motion for new trial overruled.

Daniel Eyer vs. Daniel R. Bateman; same order.

D. DeKruice vs. C. M. Giberson; dismissed.

The People vs. James Casey; selling liquor without a license; defendant arraigned and plead not guilty.

Henry Cohn et al. vs. A. M. Smith; on trial before court.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence.—The sale of seats will begin to-morrow morning at the Salt Lake Theatre for Mr. and Mrs. Florence's engagement of three nights and a matinee commencing Thursday evening with the comedy of "The Mighty Dollar." It will be presented for one night only, and will be followed by "Our Governor, or, His Little Hatched" on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence recently completed a highly successful engagement at the Baldwin Theatre, San Francisco, and the Chronicle, commenting upon their performance of "The Mighty Dollar" has the following:

"A very large and fashionable audience was present last night when 'The Mighty Dollar' was presented. First time in seven years. The characters of 'Bardwell Note' and 'Mrs. General Gildroy' have long ago been fixed in the dramatic gallery, and those of the rising generation who have attained to the position of actors and actresses are to be remembered and talked about for many years to come."

Bardwell Note is one of those happy and complete characters which exhaust the subject, and the typical rough Congressman of the last changing period will be remembered as the member from the Bohemian district in "The Mighty Dollar." Many attempts have been made to give different reproductions of the type, but the comparison forever falls to Florence, and it is settled that the character cannot be better put before the public. In the most artistic way the actor never gave such an artistic performance as he does now. In such a character it was natural to try exaggeration to the farthest point, for it is the laugh all the time. To-day Mr. Florence plays with a sincerity that makes 'Note' very real, so much so as to practically remove him from the realm of satire. Mrs. Florence is 'Mrs. General Gildroy.' The part is hers, she made it, and nobody can imitate her or take it away from her. She is always delightful, and the years do not seem to affect her charm in the amusing character."

The Howard Athenaeum Co.—The News has no fault to find with the performance last evening. When it is understood that we say exactly what we mean, the measure of the compliment will be more readily comprehended when we say that the Howard Athenaeum Spically Company is infinitely superior to anything of its class that has ever visited Salt Lake. There is not a dull performer nor a slow act in the whole entertainment, which occupies two hours and a half and during which the curtain does not descend. One striking feature and a very taking one in this age when sated appetites always demand something new and exciting, is the fact that everything done by this company is original and nearly all novel.

The Palusi Brothers, as contortionists, have few if any equals. Conroy and Dempsey, the Irish comedians, as a difficult feat in creating something new out of such material, but they succeeded. Below, the human opiodian, is entitled to his name, for certainly if there were a vertebrateless human, he is one; the knots, ties and wads into which he converted himself bordered closely on the marvelous, and were vastly more to be desired than any past or present competitor. We have heard of better and worse banjo playing than that of Carroll, but he sang his own songs and gave us some new "raggs," securing two or three encores. The language of the Irishman and Miss Ten Brock, Miss Tilly's singing of "Some Day," the splendid acting of the American Four, the wonderful gymnastic feats of Leona and Wilton, and Hoey's "I've an Awful Cold," made up a budget of entertaining features so judiciously arranged that nothing could be wanting or find a place, one would think, until Chevalier and Mrs. Paine appeared; then we understood that to have left them out would have been to miss a startling albeit charming number of the score; they are both endowed with wonderful nerve and he with unerring accuracy as well.

There was a large audience, and the applause was unstinted.

All Medical Authorities Agree that catarrh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passage. Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affections of the head and throat, whether chronic or acute, are cured by the use of Dr. J. C. M. I. Drug Store's Catarrh Cure. It is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician will do so.
