

PLAYED PIANO IN THE TENDERLOIN.

Temporary Profession of Jack Shockley, the Murderer, While Residing in Ogden.

LED A RIOTOUS LIFE THERE.

Gang Was Broken Up by Police and Part of Them Came Here—Sleeps And Eats Pretty Well.

The police have learned more of "Jack" Shockley's visit in Ogden, including the fact that the young murderer passed himself off as a piano professor in the Tenderloin of that city. When he first arrived in Ogden, accompanied by Prothero and the missing "Duffy" Walsh, a room was engaged in a notorious quarter known as Electric alley and it sheltered the trio. The police kept them under secret surveillance as they took to all strangers of that class, and soon discovered Shockley playing a piano in a nearby house for $2 a night, although, according to his own statement, he doesn't know the principle of music. He simply bluffed his way along, spending every cent he made for wine and beer, and thus retaining his "stand" in the town. Sometimes, when under the influence of liquor, he and his companions would talk loudly of their achievements, and one of them, at least, declared that they had turned several tricks between Seattle and Ogden, which is hardly likely.

GANG BROKEN UP.

The men became too conspicuous after a while and Detective Pender arrested one of them, presumably Walsh. He was not held for any length of time, but it put a quietus on the trio. In fact they all disappeared. Shockley and Prothero coming here. The street Temple street hold-up followed. Some attraction, or else the fear of arrest in Salt Lake, took them to Ogden again the day following. It was said that they had come there to get possession of the jewels worn by a certain landlady, and the Ogden police were vigilant. For one whole night they lay in wait for Shockley and Prothero to return to their room, thinking possibly they could connect the men with the street car hold-up in this city. But the men did not appear. They had returned to Salt Lake that evening—the night of the double-murder.

SHOCKLEY'S ARRAIGNMENT.

County Attorney Westervelt says he cannot state the exact time when Shockley will be arraigned. The plea will be entered probably at a special session of court at the state prison. "I want to wait," said the county attorney, "until all this talk about lynching the man has died out. It would not do to hold the arraignment in open court while the street car men are in danger. I haven't much fear now and there is a possibility that after the arraignment we will have Shockley confined in the county jail."

RESTS FAIRLY WELL.

Meanwhile, in the state prison, the murderer is gradually regaining his spirits. He shows well and is regularly something he says he has not done since leaving home—and talks incessantly to the guards and others who come within earshot. There is no doubt, though, that the prisoner lives in mortal terror of death. He fears the hereafter as greatly as ever. "But if I break down," he says, "it will not be because of a lack of nerve. It will be from my heart, which is affected by cigarettes."

CAIR MEN WANT PROTECTION.

The street car men have opened a

WRITES A LETTER ABOUT VINOL.

How Pale Women May Get Strength, Rich, Red Blood and the Bloom of Health in Their Faces.

A pale, bloodless face indicates trouble; it is a sign of weakness, and as we see so many right here in Salt Lake City the following letter will interest many of our readers.

Mrs. E. H. Dunakin, State Chairman of Correspondence, Woman's Literary Union of Pennsylvania, writes:

I suffered for over a year with general debility and weakness; I had severe backaches, headaches, and was pale and nervous. My physician prescribed different remedies, but they did not seem to help me at all. A club associate recommended Vinol, as it had cured her of a severe stomach trouble. I tried it, and soon felt greatly improved. After taking four bottles I can say I am free from all my troubles, and it has made me well once more. Several of my friends are using it with beneficial results for lung and stomach troubles and to restore lost strength.

MRS. E. H. DUNAKIN.

Druehl & Franken and Smith Drug Co., our well known druggists say: "There is absolutely no need for people to drag around weak, pale, nervous, run-down and debilitated, for they guarantee that Vinol will in a natural manner build up the weak, give strength to the aged, restore color to pale faces, cure stomach troubles, nervousness, hard colds, hacking coughs, and make rich, red blood. Confining as it does all the vitalizing principles of cod liver oil, without any oil to upset the stomach, Vinol is the most wonderful restorer of health and a potent medicine; it is absolutely free from all harmful drugs."

If it fails to give satisfaction money is refunded without question, and it will pay every weak or ailing person in Salt Lake City to try it on our guarantee. Druehl & Franken, and Smith Drug Co.

There is no specific for consumption. The nearest approach to a cure is right living and Scott's Emulsion. No matter what the treatment may be Scott's Emulsion will prove a valuable addition. It has often turned the scale of health the right way. Because Scott's Emulsion contains the pure cod liver oil it furnishes heat and fat. The hypophosphites provide tissue-food, blood-food and marrow-food. The combination of the two represents a wonderful form of nourishment and one that can be readily taken and retained at any stage of the disease. Scott's Emulsion gives best results when used most regularly. Made a part of the consumptive's regular diet it will invariably afford relief. Occasional use of Scott's Emulsion is a test unfair to the Emulsion and the patient.

convulsion for better police protection. They want patrolmen, or special officers, at the ends of the car lines and they want a more general representation of the police department throughout the residence district.

Having this in view, a committee composed of George Phillips, W. F. Smith, James Lamont, J. R. Whitebeck, J. M. Lyon and H. Massey, drew up the following petition for circulation among patrons of the car lines:

"To the Mayor and City Council of Salt Lake City:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Salt Lake City respectfully request that police protection be provided for the residence portion of the city, and especially near the terminals of the street car lines for the following reasons:

"Such protection is necessary for both those who work and travel on the street cars, as well as for our citizens generally. The frequent robberies and hold-ups in various portions of the residence districts of the city demonstrate that nothing but adequate police protection will check the crime and lawlessness which for some time have been terrifying our citizens and making life and property insecure in Salt Lake City."

Every conductor at work this morning was furnished with a copy of the petition to present for signatures among the passengers.

LIGHTNING HITS FAR UNDERGROUND.

Manager Will J. Lawrence has received news of a peculiar accident that occurred in the Scottish Chief mine at Park City during the electrical storm of last Sunday. Two miners at work 500 feet underground were knocked down by the force of a thunderbolt which struck the underground track at the mouth of the tunnel and followed the rails into the depths of the mine. The men had no idea what had occurred, being too far from the surface to either see or hear the effects of the storm. They concluded that an explosion had occurred. Neither was hurt aside from the bruises that resulted from being knocked down.

THE UTAH LAKE RESERVOIR SCHEME.

North Jordan Irrigation Company Draws Up Resolutions Favoring the Proposition.

WILL BE PASSED UPON MONDAY

Copy of the Resolutions to be Submitted to Chief Newell of the Reclamation Service.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the North Jordan Irrigation company held yesterday the following resolutions concerning the use of Utah lake as a government reservoir were introduced. The resolutions will be further considered and probably adopted at an adjourned meeting of the stockholders which will be held at Taylorsville on Monday next at 11 a. m.

Whereas, The United States government has done the preliminary work of ascertaining the feasibility of making Utah lake a government reservoir, and Whereas, The government has determined that the project is feasible, and

Whereas, Under the present irrigation laws the government will proceed to advance the money to defray the expense of making Utah lake a reservoir without interest, if the owners of the land to be affected want it done, and Whereas, It is necessary for the owners of said land to express a willingness to enter into a contract to reimburse the government for its outlay, now therefore, be it

Resolved, By the stockholders of the North Jordan Canal company, a corporation, owning water rights in Utah lake, in meeting assembled, that it is the sense of the stockholders of this corporation that the making of Utah lake a reservoir for the storage of irrigation waters is a most important project for the people of Salt Lake county. Be it further

Resolved, That we, as stockholders invite the United States government to commence such work, urge upon it the importance of commencing the work in the near future and pledge our support as individuals and as a corporate body in aid of the government enterprise. Be it further

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the board of directors of this corporation to act as a committee of the corporation in corresponding with the government officers in charge of this project. Be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this corporation and a copy thereof be transmitted to Mr. Newell, head of the government reclamation service.

Stewed Tongue.

Place a fresh tongue in cold water, add three pounds of lean beef. Boil together gently for four hours. At the end of this time add carrots, potatoes and dried turnips. Brown sufficient flour to thicken the required amount of gravy and before adding the flour to the liquid place in it a dozen cloves, salt and pepper to taste and half a glass of wine. Strain the gravy to free it from all the bones, carefully peel the tongue, return it to the gravy, bring to the boil and serve on platter without the beef, garnished with crests. The beef can be used for brown hash.

Stewed Beef Kidney.

Remove from two beef kidneys the fatty substance from the middle, then cut them in slices. Wash carefully in salt and water, then in fresh water. Drain thoroughly and season with salt and pepper, saute in boiling fat until slightly browned, shaking the saucepan all the time. Drain free from all butter and place the kidneys on a plate. Pour a scant pint of Espagnole sauce in a saucepan with two wine glasses of sherry. Boil until quite thick. Add some sliced mushrooms, the kidneys, four ounces of butter cut in small pieces, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and a little lemon juice. Mix well with oil boiling. Add nutmeg seasoning if necessary.

Ox-Tail Stew with Turnips.

Cut three ox tails at the joints, wash them thoroughly and allow them to stand in cold water one hour. Place them in enough boiling water to cover and boil fifteen minutes, drain off all the water, put in one pint of good stock and place the saucepan where the contents will simmer. Put three tablespoonsful of butter in a frying pan, add three tablespoonsful of chopped onion, two tablespoonsful of chopped carrots, two of chopped celery and two turnips, cook slowly for ten minutes, then rapidly for two minutes longer stirring constantly. Draw the cooked vegetables to one side of the pan and press out all the butter, then add them to the stew. The add four tablespoonsful of flour to the butter and cook until brown; add this mixture to the meat and vegetables in the stewpan and stir thoroughly; add one level tablespoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper, cover the saucepan closely and simmer for three hours. Serve on hot platter garnished with parsley and toast points.

Oyster Stew.

Take one pint of select oysters, being careful to have half a pint of their liquor. Boil together half a pint of perfectly sweet milk with the half pint of oyster liquor, remove the scum, throw in the oysters and let them pump only, adding two tablespoonsful of butter at the same time and pepper and salt to taste. Serve with the stew, dressed celery and crackers.

today by Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution:

"I was greatly shocked and grieved at the report of Gen. Gordon's death. I had the honor to number him among my personal friends and to have entertained him at my house. A more gallant, generous and fearless gentleman and soldier has not been seen by our country."

GOLD TURNED OVER.

Express Messenger Roberts Surrenders His Stealings.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 12.—At an early hour this morning Express Messenger Frank Roberts, who confessed to robbing packages containing money belonging to the Northern Pacific Express company, accompanied by Sheriff Potter of Red Lodge, and Detective Goddard of the Northern Pacific railway, drove to a point in the mountains four miles east of Billings, for the purpose of locating the remainder of the missing money which Roberts claimed he had cached for future use.

Although search the money was finally located behind a rock. The sack containing nearly $4,000 in gold was turned over to the express company.

Roberts is subject to indictment under four separate counts, as he confessed he opened three other money packages before securing the $5,000 consignment. His peculations now amount to $10,000.

pled against him by two editors of Boise newspapers. The charges were brought to the president's attention and as they were of such a nature and from such a source to demand consideration he directed the treasury department to institute an investigation of them. That investigation was completed today. A brief was made of the case by the treasury officers and presented to the president. It is understood that the brief does not contain a specific recommendation. It practically sustains the charges made against Woolley. No action will be taken by the president in the case except that of a negative character. This will be in the nature of sending the nomination to the senate of another man for the assayer'ship at Boise City.
