Ran Away With Married Man, for Whom She Confessed to Crime to Shield Him from the Law.

That Louise Schwartz, a wife of the juvenile court, is mentally deficient is the opinion of Dr. W. Brovne Ewing, a specialist on mental and nervous disorders. Such a verdict was rendered after a visit by the physician to the home of the girl's parents, 1123 south Eighth West. He was accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Young of the juvenile court, and the examination was made by request of Mr. Schwartz. The father believed that his daughter was under some hypnotic spell, cast upon her by Adolph Spizenberger, the man who was thought to have abducted her.

After listening to what Dr. Ewing had to say of the case, Mr. Schwartz implored the physician to prescribe for her, but he was told that medicine would be in no way effectual in bringing her to a sane mind.

The parents of Miss Schwartz are happy to have their daughter home again. She was missing from early in August until a few days ago. Yesterday the father stroked her face lovingly and exclaimed, "Oh, we are so pleased to have our girl with us again," and she answered as a mere child would have replied, "I am glad to be home, and I am going to stay with you." The girl is only 16, but she has had an experience that not usually falls to the lot of anyone.

The girl left home in the company of Spenzenberger in August of this year. In a letter left by her she said: "I am going to California to join Adolph. I cannot live without him and he cannot live without me. I have plenty of money, and you will hear from me no more."

CHILD IS FOUND.
Instead of going west, the couple were caught. They remained over one night at Green River and for short periods at other places. Then they went to Denver. The parents mortgaged their home to raise money to find their daughter, but not a penny came to them concerning her whereabouts. A short time ago there appeared in the Denver papers the pictures of a man and woman accused of robbery and shoplifting, and the prototype of the man concerned was said to be Louis Ing Louise Schwartz. The father hastened to Denver and brought his daughter home, while Spenzenberger is in jail in the Colorado metropolis.

The detection of the pair came about in a very singular manner. A few weeks ago a child was born to Louise Schwartz, and the infant died when a few weeks old. Instead of burying the child, the mother very secretly wrapped it in a shawl, placed it in a cracker box and buried it secretly. The facts became known to the woman from whom the couple rented rooms, and she, fearing that the mother might have been murdered, she reported the information she had to the authorities. When officers went to the rooms to interview the child's mother they found conditions that excited their suspicions. The mother refused to give an account of the child's death, and her reaction. They were convinced that the baby had died a natural death, but the house was stored with stolen plunder. Confessions on the part of Louise Schwartz were forthcoming and aroused against herself and Spetzberger followed.

MAN IS MARRIED.

Miss Schwartz strenuously denied that she told all the stories attributed to her by the Denver paper. She, however, took upon herself much more than she was really guilty of to shield the man Spetznbecker. The latter is a married man, his wife being in Germany. These facts were known to Louise Schmaurtz before she ran away with him. She was remonstrated

BY HARRIETTE META.

Trouble, worry and ill-health brought me deep lines and wrinkles. I realized that they were not going to gradually disappear, and I began to look much older, but that they would greatly interfere with my success, because a woman's appearance is so much financially dependent very largely on her appearance. The homely woman, with deep lines and wrinkles, is managed in the most unusual battle with her younger and better-looking sister.

I, therefore, bought various brands of cold cream, but they did not improve my face with most constant regularity, my face with most constant regularity, hoping to regain its former beauty, but I was disappointed. My skin would not get so. On the contrary, they seemed to get deeper. Next I went to a beautician, and she told me that I could easily rid me of my wrinkles. I paid my money and took the treatment.

But after expending all the money, I could afford for such treatment, I found still and my wrinkles. So I put up in my coffin and I was to carry them to my grave. One day a friend of mine who was versed in chemistry made a suggestion, and this was that I should make a solution and go to work making experiments and studying everything I could get hold of on the subject. After several days and much trouble, I met with success and discouragements I finally discovered a process which produced most astounding results on my wrinkles in a single day. I tried the treatment again, and lo and behold! my wrinkles were practically gone.

My face, eyes and hair had been so badly treated by the use of all the various wrinkles and lines of my face as smooth as ever. I have been using the "Gladys Desmond" for my immediate friends, who used it with surprising results, and I have now decided to use it myself. Gladys Desmond, of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes that it made her wrinkles disappear.

Mrs. M. W. Graves, of Bridgeport, Conn., writes: "I have used your ointment for a few days, and I feel better; in fact, my friends say I look 20 years younger. I consider your treatment a great improvement over the old-fashioned Bares, of Central City, S. D. writes: 'The change is so great that it seems almost like a new man.'

I will send further particulars to anyone who will apply for them. I am in charge. I use no cream, facial massage, face steaming or so-called skin treatments. I use only the "Gladys Desmond" to remove wrinkles. It is an emulsion of olive oil and glycerine, and is so simple that you can use it without the knowledge of your most intimate friends. It will appear the treatment of a night and go to bed, in the morning, to the wonderful transformation. People after using it will be surprised to find it to be true. Well, the test will tell you. I have been in the business of selling Harriet Mota, Suite 1446, Syracuse, N. Y., and will send you full particulars.

Since bringing his daughter back to Salt Lake, Mr. Schwartz has received letters from Spatzberger that a source of much worry to the family. The man writes that there is constant friction between himself and Louise that he remains in prison or other unfortunate conditions surround him, they will both commit suicide.

STATE CASES CALLED.
There were three state cases disposed of in Judge C. B. Diehl's court yesterday, and from now on there will be five or more cases each session.

he two or more cases each morning so that the docket will, if possible, be cleaned up before Judge Diehl leaves the bench which he has occupied for about nine years.

The first case was that of Richard Voss, charged with burglary in the second degree. Voss, a man named George Norman, broke into a carpenter shop and stole tools and other property valued at more than $100. Norman pleaded guilty and was bound over to the district court. The only feature of the offense that was conclusively shown in the testimony that he was a party to the crime was that he was a party to the crime. He confessed to Detective Sheets. His testimony was ordered held to await the testimony of the other witnesses. He was held at the county jail in default of bail in the sum of $400.

DECREE FOR HUSBAND.

Judge Morze granted a divorce yesterday afternoon to John B. Armstrong, the defendant being Elsie Lindley Armstrong. The decree was obtained on the grounds of desertion, the plaintiff proving to the satisfaction of the court that his wife left him in May, 1907. She is now living in Los Angeles. For the support of the three-year-old son, who is with his mother, the father agrees to pay as follows: Until the child is six years old, $20 per month; the amount to be increased $5 a month for each three years until he is 16 years old.

PAID OFF IN RECEIVING

Proceeds From State Cases for the Year Were $10.00.

The records in Judge Diehl's court show a most amazing state of affairs in the matter of receipts, for a period of 11 months this year as compared with the receipts of last year for the same period. Of course there has been a falling off in receipts in city cases because of the crusade started by Sheriff

Gmery against the denizens of the underworld. When he began arresting the women, putting them in jail and ordering others out of town, the women stopped paying their "fines." The income per month used to be about $1.40—now it is practically nothing. But the most surprising feature is in the receipts for state cases. In 1957 from Jan. 1 to Dec. 1, the amount was $1,329.27. This was for state cases. For the same period this year he receipts are just and only $10! This remarkable sum came from the case of the state vs Peter Fellin, who was arrested on the charge of assault with a

Heard, weenon and who, on April 12, was permitted by Assistant County Attorney Meyers to plead guilty to assault and battery and be fined $10. The fine was imposed and paid. During all the other months, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 1, not another cent was received in the court for state cases.

amount for the 11 months this year amounts to $14,322.15. Last year the total receipts for the same length of time were $20,245.65.

If the records are correct there can be no doubt that Clerk George M. Smith occupied that position for more than three years and during that time has installed an accurate and reliable system. The special auditors who examined his books and his statements did not vary so much as a cent.

But why the falling off in receipts from state cases? The state records will show that a great majority of the cases were taken before the grand jury of the county attorney or one of his assistants. The cases were dismissed by Judge Diehl upon application because of the failure of the prosecution to be represented, and in justice to prisoners who had been kept in the county jail for days, weeks and even months without a hearing.
