What is the best oil baking powder in the world? Dr. Price's, as Tea does many pairs.

DIDN'T KILL UTAH SHEEP.

Dr. Gemmill, the Colorado State Veterinarian, Magnanimously Proves It.

Under a caption the first line of which reads "slaughter of sheep yesterday," the Denver Republican of yesterday says:

State Veterinarian Gemmill returned yesterday from Grand Junction, where he went to look into a prospective sheep quite mess. The result of his trip was that trouble was averted. About ten days ago a letter was received by the Secretary of the Stock Sanitary Board, purporting to come from Utah sheepmen, stating that 7,000 sheep from Utah had been driven to Price Creek for the purpose of grazing on the Uncompahgre reservation. The letter stated that the sheep were infected with scab, and that the Utah sheepmen would not be responsible for any damage that might be done to the sheep of Colorado stockmen. Governor Routt, upon receiving the letter, directed Dr. Gemmill to go to Grand Junction and investigate the matter. Dr. Gemmill left for Grand Junction on the 9th inst., and returned yesterday morning. He found that the sheep had been driven to Price Creek from Utah, but that they were not infected with scab. The Utah sheepmen had been notified that they would not be allowed to graze their sheep on the reservation, and they had moved them to Price Creek. Dr. Gemmill says that the sheep are in fine condition, and that there is no danger of their carrying scab. The Utah sheepmen have been notified that they will be allowed to graze their sheep on the reservation.

with the understanding that they would go right back into Utah without a day's delay. This side the line. The commissioner went on to say that in writing to the Secretary of the Interior to Utah the flock had been stopped by a would-be sheep man that no stay was in a court in the time it was supposed we were going to Utah. The only sheep that were known were in the state quarantine, the specific point of the drive. For this reason the herds applied to and permission to cross the Colorado and reach the ranges by a short cut.

Dr. Gemmell went to Grand Junction to investigate. It would have taken eighteen days in which to have made the drive the herders said, so their own guessing their sheep would reach in twelve days. Upon learning facts, it would be impossible to drive at all, and another slaughter would assuredly have resulted. The veterinarian refused admission to the state sheep, but, on the strength of assurance that they did not arrive at the feeding ground. The feeding between sheep and cattle here in the West and Northwest is very keen. The cattle men are fighting sheep in Utah, and make no secret of want to believe a sheepher every herd that crosses the state range.

It is further reported that not a herd has been driven to Price Utah for months, and before Governor Routt left for Denver he was informed by the Secretary, says Dr. Gemmell, and there will be no trouble.
