UTAH DAIRYMEN

HON, J. R. MURDOCK'S ADDRESS

Annual Speech of the President Proved To be a Very Interesting Paper-W. S. Hansen Talks.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Utah, Feb. 17 .- The Utah Dairymen's convention convened at 10 o'clock a. m. today. A representative body of dairymen and farmers from Cache, Bear Lake, Boxelder, Weber, Wasatch, Davis, Juab and Salt Lake countles, and southern Idaho, met to participate in the program. President Joseph R. Murdock of Heber City presided. After invocation and music, Mayor E. W. Robinson delivered an address of welcome, in which he extended the members and visitors the freedom of the city. He alluded to the importance of the dairy interests of our state, comparing them to that of min-ing, showing that while the latter produced great wealth for a comparative few, the dairy produced a steady monthly income for the many. He urged the exclusion of dogs from the dairy herd, and advised the raising of Shetland ponies, instead of race horses for boys to drive rows on. Hon. Abram Hatch of Heber City responded for the visitors in a brief but felicitous speech, thanking the mayor, and facetiously asking for the "keys of the entire city."

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Hon. J. R. Murdock followed with the "President's Annual Address," which was as follows:

Gentlemen and Members of the Utah "Gentlemen and Members of the Utah Dairyman's association: I ain gratified indeed to meet with you on this oc-casion. Since the organization of this association, all the meetings but one have been held in Sait Lake City. This large audience indicates the good judg-ment of our secretary, Prof. R. W. Clark of the Utah Agricultural college, who suggested Logan as the place for this meeting, and he must also have who suggested Logan as the place for this meeting, and he must also have credit for making practically all the arrangements for this meeting, includ-ing the gathering of premiums amount-ing to about $150, to be distributed among the competitors for the best quality of butter and cheese exhibited on this occasion on this occasion on this occasion. "The Utah Dairyman's association was organized in the year 1894, at which time nearly all the leading dairymen of "The Utah Dairyman's association was organized in the year 1894, at which time nearly all the leading dairymen of the state joined, together with a number of leading commission men who were in the dairy business A number of leading commission the dairy business. A number of in-teresting meetings were held in the beginning and valuable instructions were given on each occasion, and prominently among the papers read were those submitted by Prof. Linfield then of our state Agricultural college, who might well be regarded as the father of the dairy industry in our great stale. A those meetings fine exhibits of butte At and cheese were made, and although the creamery industry in this state was but in its infancy at that time, the quality of butter and cheese exhibited was very creditable. Prior to the organization of this association, the laws of our state were practically a dead letter on the dairy practically a dead letter on the dairy question, and eleomargarine and skimmed milk cheese were sold with-out hindrance or restraint for the gen-uine article, the result of which was that the dairy industry was nearly cheed out of existence. This skimmed milk cheese was so perfect an imitation of the full cream cheese that its in milk cheese was so perfect an imitation of the full cream cheese that the dif-ference could scarcely be detected, and it was imported into the state by the car load and sold to jobbers at from 7c to 8c per pound. Oleomargarine was also made to imitate butter so closely that but few people could detect the difference. difference. difference. "Through the efforts of the Dairy-man's association, a bill regulating the sale of oleomargarine and skimmed milk cheese was passed by the first state Legislature and received the approval of Governor Wells. Since that time no more has been heard of skimmed milk cheese, and oleomargarine has completely changed its color, and but little of it has been sold in this state until quite recently. "Through the efforts of this association a dairy and food inspector has been provided for by legislation, who is looking after violators of the law pertaining to pure food. To my mind the Dairyman's association has been a great factor for good not only in obtaining needed legislation but in promoting, in connection with that worthy institution-our Agricul-tural college, a knowledge of dairying throughout the whole state, until today this industry stands as one of the foremost in the state. "The amount of capital invested now proper questions to be discussed, looking to the production and also commercial end of the dairy business. "Another important matter for our consideration is the adoption of methods to aid the food inspector and oth-er officials to detect and punish those guilty of offering to the public adulter-ated or counterieit products. "It is impossible for a legitimate bus-in the creamery business is estimated at about $500,000. The annual sales of its products will run into the millions, from a total of about 55,000 cows, These at an average value of $49 per head give us an investment for cows alone of $2,200,000.

Dairying is not only a rich man's business, but one in which the poor widow may also join in seiling milk from a single cow. Where the end of this, one of the most honorable occupations that men can follow, will be I can-not say; but I am informed that in this lovely valley of the north, like many others in our state, where the pure water melts down from the snow-capped hills, making beautiful pastures and fields, you have erected two magnificent milk condensers whose product will no doubt reach the uttermost parts of the earth

'It is safe to judge the future somewhat by the past, and as Curbe valley has taken the lead in dairying in the past, who can say that other valleys in this mountin region may not follow your progressive ideas of handling milk. until Utah shall become known over the wide world as the Switzerland of America.

"The secretary of agriculture, the Hon. J. M. Wilson, in his visit to our state during the last irrigation congress at Ogden, was very favorably impress. ed with our state as a dary district, and on his return to Washington im-mediately sent out Maj. Lang, the superintendent of the dairy division of the darawington of the department of the dairy division of the department of agriculture, who arrived in this city Oct. 5, 1903, for the purpose of receiving and encourag-ing the maintenance of the State Dulryman's association. By a nice co-Daryman's association. By a nice co-incidence the state fair was in full ex-hibition and a very creditable display of dairy products was in place though not entirely what they should have been. The major was delighted with the interest the creamery men have taken in the matter of developing the dairy interests of the state. He met with the officers of the association and urged them to continue to maintain the dairy interests of the state. iness to compete with one dealing in the spurious and counterfeit. "In regard to the recent activity of the oleomargarine trade, I fear that the dairymen are somewhat to blame. When butter was scarce last December, we saw the opportunity to advance the price, making it cost the consumer 35 cents per pound, which for the average wage earner is so high that he is com-pelled either to find a substitute or go without. The result was that oleomar gerine, with its pale face, was invited into our markets, and to some extent it took the place of the wholesome, genuine article that all classes of our people prefer. "The old saying: "'Vice, the monster; how hideous its face; "'At first we abhor, then pity, and then embrace.' "And so it seems to be with Oleo at present time. In many markets of the state the consumer seems to have

"In closing permit me to say that I feel that the dairy interests of this state as represented by this association, are worthy of the best thought and consideration of the leading men in our communities, and I should like to see more of them interest themselves in it. And I feel that with a resident of this enterprising valley as the president of this association, assisted by Prof. Clark, who is the logical secretary for the association, our continued success will be assured."

WILLARD S. HANSEN.

"Fifteen years' experience in grow-"Fifteen years' experience in grow-ing lucern on dry and irrigated farms" was treated in an interesting paper by Hon, Willard S. Hansen of Boxelder county, His experience had shown that in the past much lucern seed had been wasted by farmers sowing 15 to 20 pounds per acre. He had secured fine stands with 2 to 6 pounds of recleaned lucern seed per acre. He ndvised fail ucern seed per acre. He advised fail and fairly early spring sowing with drills adjusted to cover the seed one half inch to one inch in depth. He advised the cultivating each spring of lucern fields with a sharp arrow or a disc harrow, as early as practicable, whether irrigated or dry lands. For a mixture with lucern, he advised English rye grass, sown 6 pounds per acre with 6 pounds of luern seed, first sowing lucern, and fol-owing crosswise with the rye grass. Prof. Melvin J. Ballard delighted the convention with a vocal solo.

GOOD WOMAN GOES HENCE.

Mrs. Rosa G. Meyer, Sister of the Auer bach Bros., Passes Away.

Death this morning claimed Mrs. Rosa G. Meyer, sister of Sam and the late Fred H. Auerbach. While her physical condition had not been the best for some time and while her illness was known to her friends it was not expected that her demise was so near at hand. Coming with the suddenness it. did the news of the event will cast a gloom over many hearts; for Mrs. Meyer was a good and true womanone who will be greatly missed in the sphere in which she moved.

Mrs. Meyer was in the seventy-fourth year of her age. She was a native of Prussia and came direct from there to Salt Lake City in 1884, at the request of her brother Fred, who, unmarried and somewhat advanced in years, de sired a comfortable home in which to spend the remainder of his days. Over that home she presided with the tact and love of a splendid woman up to the time of her death, several years after her brother Fred had laid down the the great silent majority. In it she had set an example for good unto all her sex. The needy knew and loved her, for unto them she dispensed with a hand that was ever charitably ex-tended. Those who did not need maerial things found in her a companion friend and adviser. In her duties of wife she was loyalty personified and her devotion as a mother knew no bounds. While she had basked in the sunshine of much that was pleasant in life, she had also been made to taste of its sorrows and sufferings. Alternately and together she had sipped of the sweet and the bitter. Meanwhile a beautiful character was being formed and that was the crowning triumph of her simple and unpretentious career. The deceased was in the 74th year of ter age and during the last six years she Gustav

CLEAR AND WARMER.

A cold wave swept over the northern part of the state early this morning, and the mercury fell to 18 degrees above zero; but it moderated greatly by noon, and the prediction for tonight and tomorrow is clear weather and warmer. The very severe weather is moderating in the north, and the lowest thermometer was only 6 below zero. The sun is so far north now that no more really cold spells are expected, and a steady disappearance of the snow is looked for. ANTI-GAMBLING LAW.

mitting search of nearly seven weeks, during which she has walked day and during which she has walked day and night on the Bowery, spent hours in unsavory resorts and exhausted every resource of a skilled detective, Mrs. Katle Duffy of Brooklyn today caused the arrest of a man who is accused of being her husband's murderer. Richard Duffy, her husband, was fatally stabbed on the night of Jan. 1 in front of a Bowery resort, and before his death said that the wounds had been inflicted by Charles Devuno. The police used every effort to capture Devuno, but in spite of a full description given by Duffy were unable to do so. His wife, however, undiscouraged kept up the search without remission.
