RUBBER, RUBBER - SHOES.

What a Local Dealer Has to Say on Cheap and Good "Gums."

An odd lot of poor arctics may be put on sale at less than a dollar, when the price of the reliable article is $1.25 and $1.50; and people on noticing this, will growl at the dealers for charging them reasonable prices for genuine article. They seem to k that all arctics should be put link iown to the "make sale at any price poods thrown out on boards and front if the stores. One East Temple street storekeeper said today, that his wife had worn a pair of pure gum shoes for bree winters. Purchasers do not ap here winters.
