SOCIAL CHAT

The week socially has been almost entirely given over to bridge parties and luncheons, with the exception of one or two weddings and dancing parties. Lent as usual has been felt in the decrease of social functions, but the coming of Easter will see a decided brightening up.

CHORUS GIRL STUDIES FOR THE BAR.

Nan J. Brennan, playing a minor part with "The White Hen" company in New York, is an aspirant for honors in the legal profession and has already made such advances that her theatrical associates know her as "Judge Brennan." Miss Brennan is not yet 20 years old and is a graduate of the New York public schools. She has played small parts in Mrs. Leslie Carter's company in "Zaza," "Adrea" and "Du Barry," and has created a very favorable impression. Behind the scenes and at her home she always has a law book in her hand and says that when she has been admitted to the bar she intends to devote herself to redressing the wrongs of chorus girls wherever they are in need of legal aid.

Bathsheba Smith, Mrs. E. B. Wells, Mrs. A. E. Hyde, founder of the society, and several members of the press.

Mrs. Hugh Anderson was hostess at a bridge tea on Thursday given in honor of Mrs. W. G. Sharp, Miss Block and Miss Winn, the rooms being decorated in American Beauty roses and potted plants, and tulips in various shades. The prize winners were Mrs. John A. Marshall, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. W. S. McCormick and Miss Nason. Assisting were Mrs. Lee Charles Miller, who poured tea, and Miss Ida Hanauer, coffee, and assisting them were Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mrs. Frank Jennings, Miss Helen Crawford, Miss Margaret Park and Miss Edith Shearman.

About 40 guests were entertained at a bridge tea Thursday by Miss Edith Shearman in honor of Miss Leslie Kerr, the rooms being beautifully decorated in pink roses and carnations, and prizes awarded each table. Assisting were Miss Lella Stingley, Miss Eloise Sadler and a number of young girls, and prizes were won by Mrs. Wallace Bransford, Mrs. Banner X. Smith, Mrs. Sam Porter, Mrs. W. D. Donohoe, Miss Allen Maclean, Miss Emma-Budd Geddes, Miss Minette Jaeger, Miss Eloise Sadler and Miss Jessie Anderson.

Mrs. R. H. Keyes was one of Thursday's hostesses, her function being a bridge tea given in honor of Mrs. R. B. Turner, and the guests including a number of people from the fort. The rooms were beautifully decorated in American Beauty roses and prizes were awarded Mrs. U. S. Worrlow of Fort Douglas, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Frank McGurran and Mrs. George H. Smith.

Tonight at the Lion House the younger members of the L. D. S. U. faculty will give a St. Patrick's ball, a feature of the affair to be a wishing well and charity raffle, with a fortune teller to read the fates of all present.

Mrs. R. G. Legg entertained at a theater party this afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Dickenson of Denver, about 15 being present.

Mrs. Jay Ross entertained her Sewing club yesterday.

On Wednesday evening, in the Twenty-sixth ward hall Pioneer stake, a farewell party was tendered to Bishop and Mrs. Frank Stanley, who are about to leave the ward. A fine program was given and highly appreciated by a large number of friends, who had assembled to do honor to them. Bishop Stanley was presented with a fine chair. Mrs. Stanley, who has filled the office of president of the Relief society, was given a beautiful parasol.

EDNA MAY WILL BE MARRIED IN JUNE.

Edna May, the American actress now playing in London and whose engagement to Oscar Lewisohn has been announced, has planned to be married in the British capital in June. This will be the second matrimonial venture of Miss May, who was divorced from Fred Titus, a professional bicycle rider. She is a daughter of a letter-carrier of Syracuse, N. Y., and, following her American theatrical successes, made a great hit on the London stage. Oscar Lewisohn is a son of the late Leonard Lewisohn, who made a large fortune in copper. There are, besides Oscar, three other sons, Jesse, Walter and Fred, and one daughter, Mrs. C. S. Henry, whose husband is a member of the British parliament. Oscar Lewisohn inherited several millions of dollars from the estate of his father and has never engaged in business. The portraits of the couple are the first of Mr. Lewisohn and the latest of Miss May to be published.

Refreshments were served and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

A large card party was given this week by the Woman's Republican club at Auerbach's hall, prizes being awarded and a delightful social time spent.

Mrs. J. C. Daly entertained her card club on Wednesday.

Mrs. E. S. Perry entertained informally at luncheon on Tuesday in honor of Miss Hetta Hamilton.

Great interest is taken in the dancing party to be given at the university gymnasium by the T. J. C. girls on March 22.

Mrs. Lee Charles Miller has issued invitations for a musical on Thursday afternoon, March 21, given in honor of Miss Bailey.

Miss Helen Bees gave a party at the Orpheum this afternoon.
