EDITORIAL NOTES.

The excursion to San Francisco is a fixed fact. Arrangements have been made. A great saving will be effected thereby in all the expenses incident to such a trip. The party will start on the 25th inst. Tickets can be obtained of Mr. W. H. Cole.

Through the courtesy of Hon. Levi F. Luckey, Secretary of Utah, we have a copy of the Laws, Memorials and Resolutions passed at the last session of the Legislative Assembly. The book is now ready for issue, and attention is directed to the Secretary's notice, to be found in another column.

It is expected that the work of revision of the Bible now in process by English and American committees, will be completed in three years. So far, the committees of both countries have agreed on the changes to be made, and they will be principally confined to words, the old meaning of which was different to that now attached to them.

All the "old folks" who participated in the excursion to Ogden, last Tuesday, feel highly elated with their pleasant trip, and Bros. George Goddard and C. R. Savage, the working men of the committee, receive the blessings and praises of the aged people for their indefatigable labors and thoughtful care. Not an unpleasant incident occurred on the day of the party, and nothing but good has resulted from it.

We have received a copy of the first number of the San Juan (Cal.) Sunday Republic, a new journalistic venture, in the pleasant and genial little town where roses bloom in winter, and gardens wear a perpetual smile. It is edited and published by A. B. and H. H. McNeil; is Republican in politics, is new and bright, is printed in beautiful Scotch type and presents a handsome and well-to-do appearance in its eight well filled pages. Success.

Craft's New Overland Tourist is a most volume of 322 pages, bound in cloth and profusely illustrated with fine engravings of the magnificent scenery of the Missouri river. It contains information of great value to the traveler concerning all the chief points of the journey from the Missouri river to the Pacific Ocean, comprising condensed histories of more than twelve hundred towns and cities, descriptions of all the best places of resort, statistics of population, business, etc., guides and time tables for all the railroad and stage lines. It is a comprehensive and useful work, and is published by the Overland Publishing Company, Chicago.

The Pearl of Great Price has been out of print for some time and calls for it have been very numerous. A new edition is now in the press and will be issued the early part of next week. Several important additions have been made to the work, giving it increased value to the Latter-day Saints. It contains precious gems of truth and revelations of things made known in the earliest ages, but which were lost to the world until the keys of the Holy Priesthood were restored to the Prophet and Seer Joseph Smith. Orders for The Pearl of Great Price should be sent to this office at once.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE IMMIGRANTS.

THE season's immigration has commenced. A company has already arrived and more will soon follow. The gathering of the Saints from the "four corners of the earth" is one of the essential features of the latter-day dispensation. It must be gathered. But a serious question arises after the people arrive here; that is, What shall be done with them. A few find friends waiting to receive them; others choose to go to distant places where they have relations or acquaintances; but a great proportion gravitate to the larger cities, and some feel the depth of that sadness which often settles upon those who find themselves strangers in the midst of a multitude. There is no solitude so depressing as that which is felt in a large city where no familiar face greets the searching eye.

Then there are many who find no employment of any kind to which they have been accustomed, and the ways and customs and money and many other things are different to those of their experience, and a natural consequence is that some of them become discouraged.

But the greatest drawback to the new comer is the inability to find any means of making a livelihood. Times have been dull here for a considerable period. Not a few willing hands have been idle. Unless some new movement in the way of business should be made, the prospect will still be dull. What shall the new comers do? Here is our answer. Get away as quickly as possible into the country settlements.

It is a great mistake for the bulk of the immigrants to settle in the large towns. Friends, the quickest route to independence is by the newly settled districts. North, south, east and west there are opportunities to make a start and grow up with the country. Never mind about inexperience of country life. You can learn, as others have done. Mechanics will find better openings in their own callings, as a general thing, in the country than in town. It is very pleasant to settle in a place like

Salt Lake City, with its varied attractions and the opportunities it affords of instruction from the general authorities of the Church. But most of those who settle here make up their minds to live "from hand to mouth," for some time to come, if they are fortunate enough to obtain employment in any way; while if they push out into the country, ways and means will develop themselves in which to achieve independence by honest industry, ordinary skill and steady perseverance.

Those who come here now, find the path much smoother than did their predecessors of a few years ago. Their journey is quicker, easier and pleasanter than was possible in the early times. And the condition of affairs here has been so wonderfully improved, that all the improvements to be seen here are the result of hard work, and that though much of the land is occupied and labor is not in such demand as at former times, there are still abundant opportunities for men and women of energy, faith and determination, who do not wish to depend upon the toil of others.

There are people who continue to struggle along in this city in comparative poverty, but who, if they were to strike out into the country would, in a few years, be comfortably situated. Yet they cry out about the scarcity of work and the hardness of the times and murmur against their more prosperous friends, and thus bring upon themselves the darkness and unbelief that rise out of discontent.

We strongly advise those who find no avenues open in the city for remunerative employment, to seek for openings in other places. Help will come when needed to effect their removal. Courage and a firm reliance on God will buoy them up, and they will find land on which they can raise food, build up homes and win independence, and meanwhile work can be had to "keep the wolf from the door." Harvest is approaching, hands will be wanted to gather it in; with the gathering of the crops come demands for improvements of various kinds which furnish work for the mechanic as well as the common laborer, and notwithstanding the change in our affairs in this Territory, it will be found that those who scatter abroad into the growing villages and towns of Utah, will have no need to complain that the state of the towns that they "find no work to do."

We hope the new comers will meet with that kindly feeling, sympathy and help that their circumstances may require, and we believe that the best assistance that can be rendered many of them is to find out the places in the country where new settlers are needed, and show them how to get there.

reeling that the post route bill, returned to the Senate, as previous to these amendments were in the nature of a revenue bill. Among the objectionable items are the Brazilian steamship subsidy, a provision for carrying books through the mails under the postal union treaty, free of duty, and other matters.

Cannon asked the House to adopt his resolution, vindicate its right, and send the bill back to the Senate, with the information that that body has not yet taken up the question of the bill.

After discussion the resolution was adopted—yeas 68, nays 68, and the bill was sent back to the Senate.

Burchard moved to suspend the rules and send the bill to the Senate, and the 44th Congress, in joint meeting, declared R. B. Hayes and Wm. A. Wheeler, respectively, elected President and Vice President, and declaring that no subsequent House of Congress has the power to revise that action, and that any attempt to amend the constitution by such action is unconstitutional.

The conference on the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill, reported their failure to agree on a difference of opinion on the claim of the Senate to fix the compensation of its own employees, the rates being considerably higher than those of the House.

Strakosch Arrested for Breach of Promise.

NEW YORK, 14.—Max Strakosch was arrested, yesterday, by a deputy sheriff, on a charge of breach of promise and seduction, preferred against him by Miss Clementine Smiley, of Chicago. The damages are said to be $10,000. Strakosch was held in $5,000 bail, and promptly furnished. He pronounced the prosecution an attempt at blackmail. He said, last evening, to a World reporter: "This is a blacklisting affair. I met Miss Smiley some four years ago in Chicago. She came to me to put her on the stage and get her a musical education. I told her if she came to New York I would do what I could for her. She came here and I got her a teacher, but I soon discovered that she had no ability or talent; besides, she was in ill-health, and I gave her money to go back home. She has frequently annoyed me since, and I have frequently given her money for charity, that is all. Her story is simply absurd. I never promised to marry her, never agreed about it. I will give her by right means, and there she is right, so she fancied she can get more by foul means, and there she will find she is wrong."

Mr. Jackson.

The World's Washington special, speaking of Mrs. Jackson, a lawyer, after listening to her for a few moments, quietly said she is one of those over smart women who would be sure to break down on a cross-examination.

Funeral of Wm. Cullen Bryant.

The funeral services over the remains of Wm. Cullen Bryant took place today, in All Souls' Church, which was crowded with distinguished citizens and members of the several arts and professions. The services lasted about one hour and a half, and were conducted by Rev. Henry W. Bellows, who also delivered the address. In the eulogy, he said, "The whole country is bending with us, their favored representatives over the bier that holds the dust of Bryant." At the conclusion of the services an opportunity was given to view the face of the honored dead, and at half past 1 o'clock the body of Mr. Bryant was removed to Rosely, Long Island, and placed by the side of his wife, as he had wished.

Fatal Accident.

While workmen on the Brooklyn bridge were lowering into place one of the large cables, the tackling at the anchorages on the East side parted, and Thomas Blake and Henry Supple were killed, and Peter Arbough and James McGrath dangerously wounded.

The Electoral Vote—Resolution.

The House Judiciary committee, to-day, adopted a report prepared by Representative Hastings, and in support of the following resolution:

Resolved, that the two houses of the 44th Congress, having counted the votes cast for President and Vice President of the United States, and having declared Rutherford B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler duly elected President and Vice President, there is no power in any subsequent Congress to reverse that declaration, nor can any such power be exercised by the courts of the United States or by any other tribunal that Congress can create under the constitution.

Representatives Knott and Butler will submit separate resolutions to their views dissenting from the conclusions and argument of the majority.

Representatives Frye, Conger, and Lapham, republicans, agree to the majority report except that portion which justifies and commends the Potter investigation.

The vote of the committee on the main question is, therefore, unanimous, with the exception of Knott and Butler, and of Lynde, who is at present absent. His position is not yet ascertained.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Congress—Personal Solution Anticipated.

LONDON, 14.—A Berlin correspondent says: Bismarck, replying to Andrusky at the congress, expressed his belief in the success of the congress, and particularly desired to see harmony established. The correspondent adds: Bismarck says he hopes to go to Klessinger in two weeks. The Austrian ministers also anticipate an early solution of the questions at issue. It seems probable that an attempt will be made to improve upon the declaration of Paris with regard to the seizure of private property abroad.

Monday's sitting of the congress will be the most important. Prince Bismarck will read the memorandum. The first subject of discussion will be the limits of Bulgaria.

Cannots Surrender.

A correspondent at Vienna says: The Turks have informed the Russians that they cannot surrender Shumla in face of the present popular feeling at Constantinople. The excuse is apparently well founded.

Trains Expected.

Trouble is expected in Serbia in consequence of the late execution. At the funeral of one of the victims, a large band of armed men threatened revenge. The Skupstchina will be held in Belgrade, a state of siege has been declared in the various places.

Not True.

The Press Association is assured, on good authority, that it is untrue that the government will decide upon an early dissolution of Parliament, but it is understood, in parliamentary circles, that the proposition has been seriously discussed.

The Striking Operatives.

At Barnley, 2,500 looms, employing 1,000 operatives, have resumed work within the past two days. At Blackburn, the mediation committee of operatives interviewed the head of the textile Association, who promised to re-open the mills immediately if half the operatives would resume work at the reduction.

At a large meeting of weavers at Blackburn it was unanimously resolved to resume work at ten per cent reduction. It was also agreed to hold meetings of the employees at various mills throughout Lancashire on Monday, to ascertain the general feeling on the subject.

The Agreement.

The full text of the agreement between Great Britain and Russia, signed on the 18th of May, is published, and confirms the correctness of the synopsis given in our dispatches, that the text of the agreement reserves to Russia and England the right to raise and discuss in the congress all the questions not included in its stipulations.
