

REVIEW OF PREVAILING ATHLETIC SPORTS

WHO'S WHO ON THE UNIVERSITY TEAM

Coach Maddock is Ticked Over
The Array of Football Talent This Year.

GOSSIP ON THE BIG CAMPUS.

Outlook for Series of Strenuous Games
This Season is Distinctly Good
All Along the Line.

From the amount of material to pick from, the University ought to put a champion team on the gridiron this fall. Thirty-five candidates are trying out for the positions on the team. Coach Maddock emphatically says the prospects of a successful year, look much more favorable than they did at this time last season.

The one drawback to the team is the lack of heavy weights on the line. In fact there is not a real heavy man on the team, the average weight being 164 pounds. Fullback who is fullback stripping to 130 pounds is the heaviest man on the squad. As has been the case in years previous, the team will make up in speed what it lacks in avoirdupois. This year's bunch show more than usual swiftness. A fast, snappy game has always been Maddock's successful play, and he feels very much elated with the team's possibilities.

SEVEN OF LAST YEAR.

Only seven of last year's men have shown up for practice as yet. Dad Coyle, the center, and all the rest demonstrated his worth as a football player last year and was elected captain in class of his first year in the team. Fred Snow and Charles Houston ends who are playing their last year on the varsity team and are recognized the best men for the positions. "Tillie" Olsen tackle. Benter Grant, the plucky, clear headed little quarter back, who won his position last year in his first appearance on the team, and "Tiny" Home, tackle, another progeny of the Salt Lake High school.

Henry Richardson has registered at the University but has not yet been out for practice. He made a great hit at right half back last year and is considered one of the greatest ground gainers that ever played in the Utah eleven. Dick Bryant has not yet shown up but is expected at any time. As Coach Maddock says, a strengthening addition to the team.

AMONG THE NEW MEN.

From the numbers of new men many are making a very promising showing. Rob Gardner who has played center on the second team for two years, will be sure to make a position on the line. Edgar Mills who played with Colorado college two years ago is a very strong player and will be a good addition to the team. Dez Bennion, brother of the famous Fred Bennion, is making a strong showing at left end, and is no bad effect, and no students would have regretted his strength and looks good for the team. Tidd played for the University of Missouri last year, and is working out well as quarter back. He is sure on catching punts and forward passes and handles the team like a pro. He is well liked by all. Desha, Walker is another second team man. He has had little experience except in interclass games but he plays sure and fast, and shows clear head and good resource. Wilkinson from Cedar City, Jim Carlson, brother of the great guard, Oscar Carlson, Willard Richards, another second team man, Dutch Richardson, brother of the great center, and half on Salt Lake High school last year, and Mark Brown who played at center against Denver university last year, are all doing good work.

TRAINING HARD.

Since the squad returned from La-Plata, they have been in most vigorous training. Three meals a day are served at the training table while in previous years they only served two meals a day.

Most of the boys have sustained slight injuries from their strenuous work. Wilkinson has been suffering some time with a sprained ankle. Tidd was accidentally kicked on the hand Thursday which resulted in a broken finger.

RUSSELL MAY ASSIST.

Owing to the large number of men out, Maddock has more than he can do in the coaching line. Assistant Coach Milne is not in the football business, but there is a plan on foot to get Cuddy Russell, last year's captain, to assist Maddock the rest of the season. No better man could be secured in the state.

The eligibility committee consisting of Prof. Cummings, Dr. Ebaugh and Prof. Beckstrand, have adopted some new regulations. The one year rule goes into effect, and no student who has represented any other college or university in athletics the immediately preceding year, can represent the University of Utah in athletics until he has been a student of the university for at least one college year. The four year law must be strictly observed by all colleges wishing to compete with the university.

GAME SCHEDULES.

The first game of the year is with the Pocatello Athletic club. It is scheduled for Saturday next at Cummings field. It is rumored that the team from Pocatello consists of a bunch of old college stars, and the U boys expect to begin the season with the hardest game.

The university is scheduled for the following games:

Sept. 25—Pocatello Athletic club, at Cummings field.

Oct. 3—Ogden High school, at Ogden.

Oct. 10—Denver university, at Denver.

Oct. 17—Colorado college, at Colorado Springs.

Nov. 3—Agricultural college, at Logan.

Nov. 14—University of Colorado, at Cummings field.

Nov. 25—University of Idaho, at Cummings field.

One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the marked increase in activity on the part of motor clubs throughout the country. Everywhere they are foremost in putting a stop to the excessive speeding, scorching, boosting good roads and setting an example which is bound to have effect on public sentiment and lawmakers.

GREATEST SEASON EVER

Coach Staggs Points Out What He Sees Different in This and Other Years.

The football season of 1908 will reach a level of public interest and perfection of play far above that of any previous year. This is the prediction made by Coach A. A. Staggs of the University of Chicago in a review of the outlook for the coming gridiron period. The Midway director believes the strides to be taken this season will far outstrip anything in football annals.

The increased popular demand for sports of all kinds, the added public confidence in the framers of the football rules and the decrease in the number of football injuries are the chief reasons for the revival outlined by the Chicago leader. The result will be a financially and "artistically" prosperous football season, according to Staggs.

Staggs is of the opinion that football has outgrown the bad effects of the purity regime and that no attempts will be made this fall to change the present reading of the conference statutes.

INTEREST IN GAME.

"Football will be at its highest point this year," said Coach Staggs. "The people all over the country are more interested in athletics and exhibitions of all kinds than they have ever been before. Not only in football but in many other forms of sport we have seen a surprising revival of interest this year."

Football is particularly affected in this great interest of the public, because it has come to be the great American college game, and as such is generally a leader. The possibility of injuries has long been a source of opposition on the part of many people, and now it is in a way to be done away with for good.

DISPOSES OF LUCK.

"On the side of the actual playing rules the game will be greatly increased in its scientific and popular interest. The new forward pass rules effectively dispose of the 'luck of the scramble,' which was such a bad feature of the game last year. The best team ought to win each week, and during his experience, Wilkinson has been working at the McCarty pavilion almost two years, and during that time has boxed about 300 days. He never boxes less than four to six rounds. In all of these scrums he has fought more than 500 punts, ranging from 115-pound bantams to 200-pound heavyweights, at all distances from one to six rounds. In all of these scrums he has never been knocked out, yet, and modestly asserts that the only pugs he tried to put away were some negro kids who endeavored to floor him. Guess this is a bad record!"

While Paige is the watchman at the fight house, the greater part of the money he makes comes from his efforts with the pugs. He rubs them, trains them, and boxes with them and has had so many bouts that he now calls himself "Professor." On the assumption that he professes to know what to do with an aspiring pug or

MATCH AN EYE OPENER

Travis and Travers Play Game With Scarcely a Mistake, Travers
Getting Lead.

Garden City, Sept. 15.—Play in the United States Golf association's tournament for the national amateur championship today progressed to the final stage. With the close of the day's work on the links here only two of the original starters survived. These are Jerome D. Travers, Montclair, N. J., and Max Behr, of the Morris Country club, in the same state. The two Jersoyites will meet in a 36-hole final match round tomorrow.

The match between Travers and Travis was an eye-opener for today's big gallery, from start to finish.

In the first eighteen holes there was scarcely a mistake made by either player, and only three strokes were made with clock-like regularity. There was no hesitation by either man when his turn to play came around, and at the end of the first half of the match Travis had the champion one down on the eighteenth green.

The afternoon play was for the greater part in favor of Travis, but when the young champion reached the thirty-second hole and finishing up with 3 to 5 on the match he played all the golf of which he is capable.

He simply moved down the veteran's lead, taking the last four holes in grand style and finishing up with 3 to 5 on the match. Behr, winning the additional hole by 3 to 4, and the match by one up.

Summary:

Jerome D. Travers, Montclair, N. J., beat Walter Travis, Garden City, 3 up; Max H. Behr, Morris Country, N. J., beat Fred Herreshoff, Manchester, N. H., 1 up (37 holes).

Following are the cards of today's matches:

SOCKER FOOTBALL.

The Salt Lake soccer football club, winner of the state championship and the Daynes trophy, will open the season's campaign with a practice match on Wednesday evening. This is called for 5 o'clock sharp, on the Tower grounds. The club has acquired some new talent, which will greatly strengthen the team, which promises to repeat last season's trick of carrying off the state title.

A meeting is called for Saturday night at 8 o'clock at First South street, at 8:30 o'clock practice will be held. The soccer football is invited. Practice nights will be Wednesday and Saturdays on the Tower grounds.

"Try-Out" Kid Has Champion Record.

It is all right to live in Los Angeles like Jim Jeffries and be champion of the world, even if you have to go home to ma finally because every fellow had been thrashed, but if you like this kind of fame, wouldn't you rather take the record of having fought 500 fights in 300 days, with anything from paperweights to 200-pound giants, and still be good for 500 more? asks the Los Angeles Times.

Of course you would, and while thousands of aspiring men and boys would like to be Jim Jeffries, there is a boy in this town that has him beaten ten to one. He is a kid named Roy, and he is none other than Roy Paige, caretaker and watchman down at Tom McCarty's Naud Junction fight pavilion.

Of course these were not prize matches that were recorded as knockouts or decisions, but they were battles just the same, for either contestants had a chance to get the bout must be called a fight.

Paige is the original try-out kid. He was once a newsboy, and is 15 years old. He has been working at the McCarty pavilion almost two years, and during that time has boxed about 300 days. He never boxes less than four to six rounds. In all of these scrums he has fought more than 500 punts, ranging from 115-pound bantams to 200-pound heavyweights, at all distances from one to six rounds. In all of these scrums he has never been knocked out, yet, and modestly asserts that the only pugs he tried to put away were some negro kids who endeavored to floor him. Guess this is a bad record!

While Paige is the watchman at the fight house, the greater part of the money he makes comes from his efforts with the pugs. He rubs them, trains them, and boxes with them and has had so many bouts that he now calls himself "Professor." On the assumption that he professes to know what to do with an aspiring pug or one that has the disease seriously. From being considered as a dub once upon a time, Paige has developed into a very fair fighter, and can box, duck, swing, side-step and clinch with the best of them. He is naturally in condition all the time and yet never trains for a regular fight. The question of being in condition got him the only two knockouts he has had in his boxing, for on about five minutes' notice he went on in preliminary rounds with Van Horn and the Turk and was knocked out by both, about a year ago.

Roy is a popular boy with all the pugs and he must necessarily be a "good fellow" to take all the punches that he has had to stand for from 500 scrappers of all colors and all degrees of strength and wildness. Three hundred days in which there was nothing but a rainstorm of swats, leads, jabs, clinches, swings, uppercuts and crosses would make an ordinary man pray for the weather to clear up so he could see the sun, but Roy accepts the climatic conditions as philosophically as any citizen can who is continually waiting for the expected moment when some dub will land a haymaker swing on the place where the whiskers ought to be.

And there is never an end to these overdue haymakers, and the watchman of the fight house is easily entitled to the name of the Try-Out Kid. Nine-tenths of the sports who attend prizefights sometimes wonder where a manager gets all his preliminary fighters, and if they are made to order of some factory. As a matter of fact they are, and the factory is the Naud Junction pavilion, where George Hancock, an Oregon man who is a general freight agent, and Prof. Roy Paige, chief baggage smasher.

Open the door, let in the air. The winds are sweet, the flowers are fair. Joy is abroad in the world for me. Since taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—Godbe-Pitts Drug Co.

SENSATIONAL ALLEGATIONS

New York Paper Has Wire Blaming
Ketchell's Defeat
To Opioid.

PROSPERITY WAS TOO MUCH

Coming Wonder Said He Traveled "The Pace That Kills"
And It "Killed Him."

Last Sunday's New York World printed a sensational "special" under a San Francisco dateline regarding Stanley Ketchell's defeat at the hands of Papke, the Illinois "thunderbolt." This special, unless true, is ample grounds for a big libel suit against somebody, and if it is true, thousands of prize-fighting fans will be shocked at its extremely severe claims. The story as printed in the World, follows:

"Men who are authorities on things pugilistic here are declaring that the defeat of Stanley Ketchell by Bill Papke in their battle at Los Angeles on Labor day was due indirectly to the almost constant use of the opioid pipe and the fast life that he lived since his arrival in this city. Ketchell's rise in fight circles was probably more spectacular than that of any other man who has gained a reputation in the sport. The sensational Michigan middleweight was battered down and out in twelve rounds by Papke, the greatest pugilistic surprise since the days of John L. Sullivan by Jim Corbett was sprung."

CALLS "HOP HEAD."

"For several months past the denizens of the local tenderloin were wont to refer to the speedy fighter as 'a hop head.' Though he and his manager and his friends denied this the rumors were closely watched, and the members of the sporting fraternity took it for granted that Ketchell was against the hop."

"Many times in the past Ketchell's behavior has been watched, as it were, on him and shot 'speed capsules' into him in order to give him the necessary courage to wade in and fight fast."

"Ketchell is a very nervous man and utterly unlike the ordinary fighter, who never seems to be disturbed over order of things. At times, even when in training, Ketchell used to present a peculiar looking appearance suggesting the opium smoker. The question of being in condition got him the only two knockouts he has had in his boxing, for on about five minutes' notice he went on in preliminary rounds with Van Horn and the Turk and was knocked out by both, about a year ago."

MADE MISTAKE.

"A man who is influential in fight circles in this city made the following characteristic statement today: 'Ketchell had the greatest future before him of any fighter in the world before Papke laid him low. It was practically arranged for him to fight Burns here upon the latter's return from Australia. But a bone-headed manager took the great meat ticket to Los Angeles, allowed Jeffries and Papke's manager to talk him into a weight proposition, and then blew his chance to become the greatest star in the pugilistic firmament and his 'cut' out of the fight was only about $3,000.'

WHAT PAPKE SAYS.

"I will give Ketchell another fight here if he wants it," said Papke, when approached by local promoters today. "I beat him once decisively, and I will repeat. Any time a good purse is offered and Ketchell comes to my terms he can get a return match. The next time, however, I will beat him inside of 10 rounds. I have the Indian sign on him now and there is nothing to it."

Burns is my dish. I am going after him at the first opportunity. I will not think that I will ever try to make weight again. Burns must fight me and I will show him up. I am trying to make some arrangement with him and Promoter Jim Coffroth now, and if

AMERICAN TEAMS WIN

In Doubles of International Tennis
Tourney United States Pairs
Are Invincible.

Boston, Sept. 15.—The United States lawn tennis players forged ahead of their British visitors in the international match in doubles at the Longwood cricket club today, Harold H. Hackett and F. B. Alexander, the national champions, disposing of M. G. Ritchie and John G. Parke, three sets to one. The scores were 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Except for a nine-game slump, which began in the second set and extended into the third, the American team showed the steady, resourceful play which has been the feature of their work since they first met the British team a few years ago. The visitors, while considerably handicapped by lack of team play, showed excellent generalship and a strong team game. The first set was quickly played despite the long rallies, for there were but three deuce games; in fact, in all four sets there were only five deuce games, and in only one of these was deuce called twice.

The American team's machinery seemed to remain in the working order until the fourth game in the second set when Alexander lost his service. He then started a series of errors, continuing through the set, which the British players took advantage of. After three games into the third set before Alexander pulled himself together and won back his own service. The fifth game in this set was the critical period of the match, but the visitors, with Ritchie serving, experienced a reaction, driving into the net and out of court.

The Americans took the next game and the match was even. Errors on both sides of the net carried the set to five games in all, but the Americans won the next two easily as against a firm hole on the match. The fourth and last set was quickly played, for Alexander once more carried off the brilliant services of his partner, and at the net while Hackett scored a couple of service aces. The British players scored but 10 points in the last set, and won but a single game.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—Chicago was beaten here today in a pitcher's battle, which was not decided until the tenth inning. The visitors secured a run in the third inning on Kling's double. Overall's sacrifice and Slagle's single. The home team's lead was blown away by the errors by Zimmerman and Tinker, and singles by Grant and Titus tied the score in the tenth inning. Chicago filled the bases with one out, but Zimmerman fanned and Tinker was put out trying to steal home. Knabe tripped and scored on Titus' sacrifice fly to Slagle.

CALIFORNIA CLUBS

QUARREL OVER CHASE

Though it has not been officially decided that Hal Chase shall belong to the Los Angeles club, there is little doubt that the former Highlander will cast his lot with the Los Angeles club. Chase, former manager of the San Jose club, who had a hold on Chase, gave Moreing permission over the phone to talk business with the New York first baseman, hence practically relinquishing his claims on Chase by so doing. Chase, however, has been forgotten to mention this conversation when he sold out his interests in the San Jose club, hence the dispute.

The directors of the league would much rather see Chase go to San Jose than to Stockton, as it would make the first set of the league. Chase, however, has been forgotten to mention this conversation when he sold out his interests in the San Jose club, hence the dispute.

He will likely be established in business by Moreing and take up his home in Stockton as soon as arrangements can be made.

DETROIT WHITE WINGS BY GENEROUS SCORE, RUN UP DURING CONSTANT AND STRENUOUS SWAT.

Both teams, especially the Salt Lakeers, promise a better exhibition of baseball this afternoon. The game between the Occidentals and White Wings yesterday was full of slugging, three three-baggers and a home run. The White Wings, however, were not in the middle of the game, and the team looked stronger after the move.

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—Cleveland defeated Boston, 2 to 1. Rhoades pitched a no-hit game. Batteries—Rhoades, Evers; Evers, Evers. Cleveland—Overall and Kling; McQuillin and Jacklisch. Umpires—Johnstone and Emslie.

MANY STATES IN FOOTBALL LIST

Utah Meets Idaho: Who Plays
Northwest Stars for Territory Title.

LOCALS MAY CLIMB HIGH

Maddock's Pets to Have Opportunity
Of Lining Up Against Half Dozen Famous Teams.

What begins to look like a battle of colleges in the west and northwest for the title of a vast area appears to be shaping up already this season. Utah has a hand in it.

Negotiations have been pending all summer between the universities of Idaho and Washington and at last it is almost safe to say a game will be played between the university elevens of these two states during the season. The time and place have been mentioned as Oct. 24 at Recreation park, Spokane, but these details are not certain. Representatives of both states have been corresponding all summer to get this game arranged, the trouble being a meeting place satisfactory to both colleges. Washington has refused to play at Moscow and Idaho refused to play in Seattle. Washington holds the Idaho game as a big money maker and wants it played on the home grounds where good crowds are certain. Idaho does not look at the money phase but refuses to make the 1,000-mile trip to Washington, especially to a wet region and a lower altitude. But now a neutral ground has been offered and the game, as explained, is practically a certainty.

Idaho has games scheduled with other state universities; it meets the Montana school of mines at some place still unchosen, Oct. 10, the University of Oregon, Oct. 31, Washington state at Pullman, Nov. 25, and the University of Utah in Salt Lake City, Thanksgiving day. A game between Idaho and Boise college state at Boise, Nov. 28. It will be seen that Idaho university is prominent in the northwestern schedule and Utah, in meeting the Idahoans, will have an opportunity of being compared with the best and biggest schools in the northwest. In addition to meeting the Wyoming and Colorado elevens Utah will be able to point to a victory (at least all "U" rooters feel certain it will be a victory) over the Idahoans, who will have met the stars of the northwest.

Utah's schedule is not complete yet, but a few games have been set. These include a game with the Pocatello Athletic club, Sept. 25—less than two weeks off; a game with the Ogden high school at Ogden, Oct. 3; a meet with the Denver University at Denver, Oct. 10; a game with the Colorado College at Colorado Springs, Oct. 27; a game with either the University of Montana or the University of Wyoming in Salt Lake City, Oct. 24; a meet with the Aggies at Logan, Nov. 3; a game here with the University of Colorado, Nov. 14, and the Thanksgiving day game at Salt Lake. Idaho university. Utah will meet the star elevens of at least five states during the coming season and should the outsiders come laden with laurels, the "U" gridiron record will be among those of a dozen states—Utah's percentage will be at the top.
