AT THAT ALL ARE WINNERS.

Judge Bestows Coveted Prizes in the Way of Decrees on All That Come Under the Wire.

Elias Wolf, formerly a school teacher of some ability, now a junk peddler by choice, and the father of 10 children, ruled his household with an iron rod until yesterday when his wife, Lena Wolf, secured a divorce from him on the ground of cruelty. With it Judge Pense granted her the custody of the 10 children and $50 a month alimony.

From all appearances, Wolf can meet this expense more easily picking rags and gathering up tin cans than by teaching school. In the summer time he earns $30 a week and in the winter time $25 a week.

Their marital troubles began some time ago over the custody of the children and soon grew into a discord. This resulted in a pitched battle between Wolf with a chair and Mrs. Wolf with a broom. On another occasion he chased her out of the house with a knife and whipped his children on several occasions. It was on these charges, which were corroborated by Mrs. Wolf's daughter, that the decree was granted. They were married in Russia in May, 1880, and lived together for 29 years, when he came to this country he engaged in the same occupation in Russian colonies. Since Wolf became a junk man he has accumulated some money, but Mrs. Wolf does not know how much. They have lived in Salt Lake for three years.

MARTHUR A DESERTER.

Deserted three months after her marriage, Mrs. Bertha McArthur secured a divorce yesterday from C. D. McArthur. They were married on Nov. 2, 1904. They have one child, Francis, 3 years old, who was given over to the custody of the mother. McArthur's whereabouts are unknown and no alimony was asked.

BLACK FACE ARTIST DESERTS.

Through several letters introduced in court, Mrs. Jennie E. Dunklee was granted a divorce from Allen C. Dunklee, an actor, who is now doing a "black face" stunt in the state of Kansas, on Feb. 27, 1907. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Bingham Canyon where Holden worked as a teamster. About six months ago, Mrs. Dunklee learned that he does not know where he is now.

REX HOLDEN WAS CRUEL.

Mary Holden, whose husband, Rex Holden, threw a glass of beer in her face last Fourth of July because she would not drink with him, secured a divorce on the charge of cruelty and desertion. They were married in Butte, Montana, on Feb. 27, 1907. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Bingham Canyon where Holden worked as a teamster. About six months ago, Mrs. Holden learned that he does not know where he is now.

MAUD HUNT DESERTED.

Mrs. Maud Hunt, a trained nurse, was granted a divorce from L. A. Hunt on the charge of desertion. The court gave her the custody of their minor child and ordered Hunt to pay $15 alimony each month for his support. Hunt is now engaged in business in Salt Lake. They were married here in April 1901.

SOFIELD ALSO CRUEL.

After being deserted eight years, Mrs. Francis Sofield, late of New York City, was granted a divorce from Alfred Sofield. He was also cruel to her during their married life. They were married in New York on Aug. 5, 1898. He deserted her there in 1901. Since that time Mrs. Sofield has supported herself. About a year ago she came to Salt Lake where she has relatives and has been employed here. Her maiden name, Francis Reint, was restored.

DESBTERBY BY CLUBMAN.

Mrs. Clara Evans, wife of Monroe S. Evans, a prominent racehorse man at Emeryville, California and a clubman of San Francisco, secured a divorce yesterday on the ground of desertion. Evans left his wife three years ago, and there were in his wake a number of bills. Mrs. Evans paid them when she was able to get employment. Her maiden name, Clara Wilson, was restored to her. They were married here on Jan. 26, 1901.

FOUR YEARS OF LONLINESS.

Lillian Taggart, who was deserted by her husband four years ago in Buena Vista, Col., was given a decree of divorce from Joseph Taggart. They were married there in March, 12, 1903. After living together two years Taggart went away and she knew nothing about him. She came here a year ago and supported herself with the assistance of relatives.

FLOATER VANISHES.

After Abraham Jones, a chronic wife beater, was given a divorce out of Salt Lake by the police about a year ago, Mrs. Millie Jones, his wife, has seen nothing of him or received any support from him. She has since obtained a divorce. They were married in Salt Lake Nov. 6, 1897. During their married life of less than a year Jones was arrested several times by the police for beating his wife. Mr. Jones has gained a living since her husband left her by working as a waitress.

PRETTY WOMAN LEFT ALONE.

Mrs. Ethel Lay, a young and pretty woman, obtained a divorce from Philip R. Lay on the charge of desertion. They were married in Beaver City on May 3, 1905. They have one child which the court turned over to the custody of the mother. Lay left Salt Lake in January, 1907.

HAD A WIFE FOR A WEEK.

Samuel Easthope lived with his wife just a week and then was given a divorce. Without any apparent cause she packed up her things and left. Since that time Easthope says that he has learned that she abandoned him for another man. Her name was Martha Stella Easthope, and they were married here on June 23, 1907.

TWELVE YEARS ENOUGH.

Dr. F. A. Olsen, a dentist, was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. May G. Olsen on the charge of desertion. They were married here on Dec. 6, 1894. After they had lived together for 12 years, she deserted him without any cause or reason. On one occasion he attempted to speak to her on the street, but he could not persuade her to come back. He lives at 50 north First West street, where he has an office.

GRAHAM A DRUNKARD.

Lidia Graham, the mother of three small children, was given a decree of divorce from John Graham, who went to Wyoming about a year ago and left her in destitute circumstances. She testified that he was an habitual drunkard. He would take his pay check to a saloon and never have a check until he had squandered the biggest part of it. They were married on Sept. 6, 1901.

ONLY GAVE HER $3.

Mrs. Mable Pence, whose husband, Don Edward Pence, was advance agent for "East Lynne," was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion. During their married life, Pence only contributed $3 to her support. She was granted the custody of their minor child, $15 a month alimony and $50 attorney fees. They were married here on Sept. 28, 1908.

SHE WAITED PATIENTLY.

For twenty-two months, Mrs. Sarah Heffner waited patiently for her husband, Frank P. Heffner, to send her transportation to Sacramento, Cal. He not only failed to send the transportation but also to support her so she was granted a divorce yesterday and the custody of their child. They were married in Salt Lake on Feb. 14, 1905.

FIFTY DOLLARS ALL SHE GOT.

Mrs. Priscilla Collins obtained a divorce on the ground of non-support from M. Collins. They were married in Salt Lake on Nov. 27, 1908, and lived together three months. During this time Collins gave her $50.

CASE NOT OVER YET.

On account of the lack of evidence C. J. Torkelson was denied a divorce on the grounds of cruelty from Caroline Torkelson. They were married in Ogden on Sept. 28, 1908, and his wife accused him of marrying her for her money. She also called him a dishonest man and about two weeks ago packed her things and went to California. The testimony was not fully corroborated and it went over for further testimony.

EUGENE WILL FIGHT.

Ella Barton, who filed suit a few days ago against Eugene Barton, a miner, for divorce on the ground of desertion, was awarded $25 a month alimony until the hearing of the case. Barton will fight the case, it is understood.

for its initial performance at Whitney Hall on an early date. Her arrangements are now under way to transfer it to the Bungalow theater subsequently. The production has been named "The Sub," and the story deals with college life and athletics in the east. The music is both catchy and good, and the young composer has been fortunate in securing an excellent cast.

MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUBS.

District Convention Held at Provo Was an Interesting Affair.

The Salt Lake women who attended the District club meeting at Provo on Thursday returned with enthusiastic accounts of the convention itself and of the Provo club women who managed it, and so royally entertained their guests. The affair was in every way so successful that it was unanimously voted to make the district institution permanent, and Springfield club women invited the others to meet next year with them. Mrs. Byron Cummings, president of the State Federation, is most enthusiastic in her praise of the program and its attendant details. The convention was held at the Provo Commercial club, opening with prayer by Josephine Kellogg, the audience afterward singing "America." An address of welcome was made by Mrs. Wilbur of Heber City. Then followed an address by Mrs. Cummings who had for her subject the relation of the State Federation to that of individual clubs, and this was divided into four topics. Her interesting address was followed by a duet by Mrs. Irvine and Mrs. Lund, and a talk on "Forestry" by general federation director, Mrs. George R. Hancock, and a general important discussion on "Public Health," which closed the session. The guests were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Roberts.

The afternoon session opened with a solo by Miss Looze followed by a paper on "Child Culture" by Miss Binzel, "Woman, A Conservator of High Ideals" was the subject of paper by Miss Reynolds. A solo by Miss Hindley and readings by Miss Storrs were next, the entire program being most enjoyable.

The idea of the district convention is to keep the interest of club women alive between sessions of the general federations, inviting officers of the latter to confer with them on these semi-annual affairs. They are planned on the same principal as the annual councils of the general body, to discuss matters of importance arising between the regular sessions, and, to arouse the interest of the club women in current civic and other events. GRAND ARMY RECEIVES GIFT FROM CEMETERY

Grant of Approximately $10,000 is Made by Mr. Olivet Association.

At the annual meeting of the Mt. Olivet Cemetery association it was decided to grant the G. A. R. a deed with perpetual care of eight lots now occupied by the order and add to that 10 more lots and reserve 20 lots from sale for future occupancy by the G. A. R. As each lot is valued at $25, this is practically a gift of slightly over $10,000.

In the matter of the request of Judge Le Grande Young for the purchase of the extreme southeast corner of the newly awarded reservation land for use in locating a new curve for his Emigration Canyon project, the directors of the association said they wanted to be only too glad to accommodate the judge, but the terms of transfer from the government to the cemetery were very stringent, requiring the retransfer to the government of the ceded territory in case any part of it should be used or disposed of for any other than burial purposes. So the directors feared that, if they sold even the small corner asked for by the railroad, the courts might rule that the terms of the grant had been violated, and the whole 52 acres then reverted to the government. The old officers will hold over without change. It was also decided to add two sections of three acres each to the working properties of the association, and run a boulevard through the center of the cemetery to the south boundary, over which carriages may drive, with trees lining each side of the road.

LIVED 152 YEARS.

William Parr—England's oldest man married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till he lived to 152 years. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright of Spurluck, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." "Bitter" is a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown or old people. Try them, 50c at Z. C. M. I., 112-114 south Main street, Salt Lake City.

BODY OF JUDGE HALL TO BE BURIED HERE

Well Known Jurist Dies While Fighting to Regain His Health in California.

The body of Judge William C. Hall, who passed away at the sanitarium at Long Beach, Cal., yesterday, as the result of a complication of troubles, is expected to arrive in this city for interment tomorrow. Judge Hall had been sick for two months, and during the latter part of March he went to southern California with the hope that the warmer weather and lower altitude would benefit him. He was stricken with apoplexy while at the sanitarium and did not recover.

Judge Hall had resided in Salt Lake for 37 years. He was born in Pendleton county, Kentucky, in 1842. When the Civil war broke out he joined the 10th Missouri Cavalry, became a member of the cavalry division of General John Morgan. He participated with Morgan in his celebrated trip through the north, and when Morgan was captured, Judge Hall joined General "Joe" Wheeler's corps, remaining with him until the close of the war.

Returning to his Kentucky home, Judge Hall began the study of law in the office of John W. Stephenson, who later became governor and United States senator from these hills. Grass state. In the year 1888 Judge Hall opened a law office in Lexington, Ky., and four years later he moved to Salt Lake City.

After coming to Utah, Judge Hall at once sprang into prominence as a lawyer. He made a specialty of mining law, and became widely known as a capable attorney. He formed a partnership with John A. Marshall, now United States district judge, under the name of Marshall & Hall, and was a member of the territorial legislature for several terms, and when Grover Cleveland was elected president Judge Hall was appointed secretary of the territory. He was twice elected city attorney for Salt Lake City.

In the fall of 1900 Judge Hall was elected to the Utah supreme court, taking his seat on Jan. 2, 1901. He served with distinction in the equity division for four years, and was named a re-nomination at the expiration of his term.

Relatives of Judge Hall are living in Kentucky and Virginia. His father, Thomas G. Hall, served in the war of 1812, fighting both the British and the Indians. He was in the battle of Lake Erie in 1813, in which Chief Tecumseh was killed in the hand-to-hand encounter with Col. Richard Henry Johnson.

Judge Hall was married to Miss Marion T. Thornton, of Mississippi, in 1890. Mrs. Hall, with three children, William T., aged 18, Marion C., 17, and James A. Hall, 11, survive him.

You're to be the Judge; we leave it to you to decide; all we want is your verdict—Will Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea make you well and keep you well? That's fair. Tea, or Tablets, 35 cents.—Godde-Pitts Drug Co.
