THE REAPER.

The reapers bend their dusty backs;
The sounding sickles sway;
At every stroke the golden sea
Recedes to give them way;
The heavy cars fall blowing down,
And nestle at their feet,
Such will, such work as theirs perforce,
Must win—must homage meet.

So careless of fatigue they go,
So just, so steadily,
The admiring traveler on the road,
With marvel of the soon-fallen breadth,
The lounging gossips tell;
But the reapers labor for us all;
'Tis need they should work well.

Ere the great sun that burns above
Shall crimson in the west,
And the children's poppy nose gay fade,
And they lie down to rest,
Each golden spear that upward points
Shall fall upon the field,
And the farmer drain a sparkling glass,
Rejoicing o'er the field.

Ply, bonny men, your sickles bright,
And give the people bread!
At every conquering stride you take,
On want and woe you tread.
The products of our mother earth
You gather from this plain,
That man may rise refreshed and firm
And do great things again.

God bless the hands, all hard and brown,
That guide the cleaving plow,
That cast abroad the shining seed,
And build the wealthy mow;
They rear the bread our children eat;
'Tis by their toil we live.
Hurrah! give them the loudest cheer
That grateful hearts can give!

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 10.—The Senate resumed the unfinished business, Morton's resolution to print the Hamburg documents.

Sherman continued his speech, answering Davis and others concerning the Government expenses, denying the accuracy of their figures. He referred to the last clause in the St. Louis platform, and the concession to the soft money men of a double meaning differently construed for Indiana and New York. The statutes of New York show that Governor Tilden himself approved the action of the State legislature in providing for a return to specie payment in 1879. He spoke of Hendricks as an inflationist.

McDonald denied that Hendricks ever advocated inflation, and challenged proof.

Sherman said he was certainly considered as on that side. Tilden's plan for resumption favored the hoarding of gold and silver.

McDonald supported the resolution of his colleague that people might have light let in on this subject. True, the democrats were ex parte in their character, but with all that they were much more fair and less partisan than the comments on that Hamburg affair by a partisan press and senators here. He denounced lawless outrage wherever committed, and read from documents to show that Merriwether (white) was killed before the negroes were hurt. This had been concealed in the discussion. The collisions began with the republican construction, and became gradually less as the democrats gained the ascendancy. The republicans were loath to give up their power in the south, and were grieved that the negro did not become plaster in their hands. He read from the Richmond Dispatch a card from a colored man, to show that the negroes, urged by white republicans, exercised terrorism over their own race to prevent them voting the democratic ticket. He urged adherence to the constitution in every case. He asked could the republican party stand the ordeal of a trial before the bar of public opinion.

Boutwell presented a long table and message from the Treasury Department, showing how the discrepancy of $421,000 was explainable. He also presented a table of the losses on each thousand dollars collected and expended, arranged by the administration since the formation of the government, showing that the loss on each thousand dollars received during the administration of Grant was 89 cents, and on each thousand dollars expended 34 cents.

Windom called up the House bill to provide temporarily for the expenditures of the government; passed.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 10.—Clymer moved to send the resolution to the Judiciary committee.

Lord was pressed by the republicans to call the previous question; this he did. There was great confusion on the democratic side of the House, and it was apparent that not any had been consulted by Lord. On the seconding of the demand the democrats began filibustering, and nearly all abstained from voting to prevent the vote of a quorum. The vote stood, 79 ayes to 19 nays—not a quorum.

The republicans then demanded a call of the House, and were strong enough to carry their point. During the call a large number of democrats gathered about Lord's desk, among the number Cox, Regan, Landers, Morrison, Clymer, Bright and Sayler, and held a consultation. The call showed 173 members present. The question then recurred upon seconding the demand for the previous question. On being taken by tellers, it resulted in yeas 84, nays 21, the democrats, with a few exceptions, voting in the negative or abstaining from voting. Another call of the House was ordered.

Lord asked unanimous consent to make a statement, but objection was made by Hereford. Finally the resolution passed—yeas 174, nays 2.

The vote on the preamble resulted—124 yeas, 34 nays.

Beebe, from the navy committee, presented a majority report with resolutions.

Springer overruled a point of order made by Hale that this was not a privileged report under the rule recently adopted. The majority report is that Isaiah Hanscom, Chief of the Construction Bureau of the Navy Department, is unworthy and incompetent to hold that position, and should be removed; that the negligence of Secretary Robeson, and his order to pay Fenton, Wheelwright & Co. the sums presented by them on January 14th, Government was defrauded of that sum, $32,019. The resolutions are to be laid before the President with the notice of the action of the House.

The majority report, by Baker, affirms there is no evidence of collusion between the officers of the Government with the firm named to defraud the Government in the final adjustment.

EASTERN.

A Courier Attacked and Pursued by Indians Twenty Miles.

CHEYENNE, 10.—The government courier, who left Fort Laramie for Red Cloud agency on Monday, was attacked before daylight on Tuesday morning, near Running Water, by six Indians, who fired from a distance of fifty yards, drove him into the sandhills and chased him twenty miles, when his horse being wounded, he left him and hid in a gulch all day, and at night returned to Fort Laramie.

Company E, 4th cavalry, arrived at that post to-day, and will leave for Camp Robinson to-morrow.

Rescued from a Piece of Floating Wreck.

PHILADELPHIA, 10. — The bark O. E. Sims has arrived here, and brings the second officer and three of the crew of the ship L. W. Belethel, of Yarmouth, N. S., from Baltimore for London. They were rescued from a piece of floating wreck, and report that the ship capsized in a hurricane, on July 31. They had been fifty-six hours without food or drink.

A Soldier Accidentally Shoots Himself.

FORT HALL, Idaho, 10.—A sad occurrence happened here yesterday. Private Frederick Lutz, of company A, Fourteenth Infantry, while out hunting, accidentally shot himself and died from the effect of his wounds last night. He was a good soldier and beloved by his comrades.

The First Wires Strung over the Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, 10.—The first wires were strung over the eastern tower of the Brooklyn Bridge to-day. They will be brought into position early next week, when a temporary foot bridge will be completed as soon as possible, some think in a month. The immense ship Three Brothers, formerly the steamer Vanderbilt, yesterday passed the East River, when observations taken showed her topmasts at least ten feet under the lowest part of the projected bridge, thus dispelling the idea that the bridge will disturb navigation.

The Unemployed Workmen.

At the workingmen's demonstration, to-day, about two hundred men were in the procession. When they arrived at the City Hall they sent the committee into Mayor Wickham, who presented the address, asking for work, and relating their distress. The Mayor said the city was now doing all that was possible in the way of supplying labor. He sympathized with them, but held out no hopes. The committee then returned and reported to the full body, after which speeches were made denunciatory of the Aldermen and the officials, and one man, who had a broom in his hands, declared he had come down to sweep the Mayor and other officials out. The crowd then dispersed, evincing no disposition to create any trouble.

$35,000 Fire.

MILWAUKEE, 10. — Wahl's glue factory was burned to-day; loss $35,000, insurance $25,000.

Strike of Brakemen.

CINCINNATI, 10. — From sixty-five to seventy brakemen on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad have struck, and hold the freight trains along the road by uncoupling the cars and throwing away the pins.

WESTERN.

San Francisco Items.

SAN FRANCISCO, 10. — William O'Connell, charged with having committed an assault with intent to kill, in Missouri, was arrested to-day, on a requisition from the governor of that state.

The schooner Banner, which left this port last March on a fishing and trading voyage, was wrecked among the Japan Islands. The crew were all saved with the exception of Captain McClellan, who died from exposure.

Berry, Wolfskill & Co., prominent members of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, suspended to-day. Many other brokers, it is rumored, are in a shaky condition.

Ex-Governor Pacheco was nominated for Congress in the fourth district.

United States detective Finnegass, to-day, arrested here C. F. Mohrig for manufacturing and uttering counterfeit gold dollars. He seized several thousand blank pieces, five hundred finished gold dollars, and a lot of dies and stamps. Parties in eastern and western states have been passing these pieces. Joseph H. Prince alias Gus Williams, now awaiting trial for passing counterfeit coin, was supplied by Mohrig. The prisoner gave bail in $3,000.

The Great Northern Telegraph Line Again in Working Order.

LONDON, 10.—The great northern telegraph line to China and Japan, interrupted on July 31st, is now working and in communication with the east again. Communication is also complete with Australia and New Zealand, the cable between Java and Australia, which broke six months ago, having been repaired.

$1,000,000 Fire.

The extensive establishment of Grant & Co., lithographers and publishers, was burned to-night; the loss was estimated at a million dollars.

FRANCE.

The Sultan Better.

PARIS, 10.—A dispatch to the Liberal says the Sultan is better, and his recovery is nearly certain.

"Please send me one broom, and see that the handle is stronger than the last one was," wrote a woman to her husband, in a hand full of character.

The Indian Problem.

That under certain circumstances, and with certain tribes, habits of industry and thrift may be cultivated, Mr. Lewis Morgan, in a letter to the New York Nation, has just given convincing evidence, in the case of an American citizen who has established an Indian settlement of six hundred persons on a small island near the Sault St. Marie. This adventurer commenced the experiment some twenty years ago, teaching the Indians to preserve and put up wild raspberries, which grew in profusion in the neighborhood. Then he taught them to make hickory boat-knees, and encouraged them in the manufacture of toys, fans, carved knick-knacks, and other fancy articles in general request. By degrees the Indians acquired steady habits and learned to appreciate the rewards of industry. The white man acted as their factor, and supplied all their needs from a store which he kept. Whiskey was rigorously excluded from the settlement, and as a rule the Indians took their pay in goods instead of money. In the course of time the village grew to resemble an ordinary white hamlet. The Indians built themselves neat cottages, which they furnished in a civilized fashion with tables and chairs and beds. They learned to eat their meals off the tables, and to use knives and forks. Their children were sent to school; there was no crime among them; and perhaps the only points of difference between this and ordinary villages was that it had no whiskey shops, and no jail. According to Mr. Morgan this Indian settlement is still flourishing, and, so far as that little community is concerned, the problem of Indian civilization may be regarded as solved.

If we can be said to have had any Indian policy at all in the past, it has been a barbaric, dim sort of expectation that the native tribes would be speedily extinguished, and that so the problem would solve itself. Certainly we have done what in us lay to fulfil this expectation, and perhaps the Indian would have been extinct before this had not our choicest thieves contrived to keep him alive for the perennial plunder he afforded. It is to be hoped, however, that a new leaf is to be turned over as soon as the present Sioux war is brought to a termination, and that for the first time a serious and organized effort will be made to help the Indians to civilization. Most thinking men long since came to the conclusion that it would be much cheaper to teach than to fight them, and we expect that this conviction will be forced upon the country generally before the Sioux are driven from the war path.—Sacramento Record-Union.

WHY WON'T ENGLISHMEN EAT CORN MEAL?—The enormous import of wheat from the United States into this country, and the probability that it will increase rather than diminish in time to come, leads us to reflect how it happens that Indian corn, which is so largely consumed in various forms by all classes in America, fails to find favor with Englishmen at home. It some way maize is certainly to be preferred to wheat; and those who have once acquired the taste for it on the other side of the Atlantic certainly miss the Indian corn on their return. We suppose, however, that there is little hope that our working classes will ever take to this cheap, wholesome and nutritious food. The mere fact that it is cheap operates in some measure against its adoption. There is nothing perhaps in an Englishman's nature so stupid as his dislike to have it supposed that he is content with cheap food. And Indian corn is very cheap. It is maintained by those who ought to be well informed that it pays to grow maize on the plains at a shilling a bushel, and that if there were sufficient demand it could be profitably exported thence and sold in our manufacturing cities at three shillings a bushel, or twenty-four shillings a quarter—about half the price of wheat.—Pall Mall Gazette
